SURVEY OF INDIA.

NOTIFICATION.

SURVEYOR-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Calcutta, the 21st August 1907.

THE following Rules and Regulations relating to the Mathematical Instrument Office are published for the information and guidance of public officers. They have retrospective effect from the 1st July 1907.

J. M. FLEMING, Lieut.-Colonel, I.A.,
for Surveyor-General of India.

[Approved by the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (Land Surveys), in No. 1061—52—5, dated the 8th July 1907.]

SURVEY OF INDIA.

RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE MATHEMATICAL INSTRUMENT OFFICE, 15, WOOD STREET, CALCUTTA.

1. The Mathematical Instrument Office is a Depôt for the supply, repair, and adjustment of mathematical and other instruments, etc., employed in various Government Departments and Offices. The instruments issued may be new or second-hand at the discretion of the Officer in charge. As a rule, new instruments are not supplied if serviceable second-hand ones of the class required are available. Instruments, when no longer required, are also taken into store, from Government Departments and authorised offices, at a valuation which is given for each instrument returned.

2. All transactions between the Mathematical Instrument Office and other Government Departments and Offices are adjusted by "book transfer."

3. Instruments, etc., when they can be conveniently spared, may be issued on "cash payment," to District Boards and Municipalities, Native States, and individual officers of Government for their official use. With the approval of the Officer in charge, instruments may also be sent to the Mathematical Instrument Office "for repairs" on similar terms. Instruments, etc., cannot be issued to, nor repaired for, private firms or individuals.

4. Instruments, etc., will be issued at their book value to, and repairs will be executed at cost price for, Public Service Departments of Government, but 25 per cent. will be added to the book value of issues to, and 10 per cent. will be added to the cost price of repairs executed for, quasi-Commercial Departments of Government or on "cash payment."

5. The Mathematical Instrument Office cannot undertake the supply or repair of any description of electrical or telegraphic instrument, nor does it issue type, stationery or drawing materials.

6. All correspondence and all instruments sent to the Mathematical Instrument Office should be addressed to the Officer in charge, Mathematical Instrument Office, 15, Wood Street, Calcutta. Telegrams should be addressed to "Surveys, Inst.," Calcutta.

7. All indents for instruments, etc., should be submitted on the annexed Form A and every indent for instruments, etc., required on "book transfer" must be duly approved, and countersigned, in accordance with the instructions printed on the back of the form, before the indent can be complied with. An indent sent by telegram should be subsequently confirmed by the submission by post of the usual countersigned indent, with a note on the form intimating that the instruments have already been indented for by telegram.

8. The nomenclature and price of the different instruments, etc., generally kept in stock are given in a price-list. The prices are the approximate prices of new instruments, etc. An indenting officer should enter the approximate price of each description of instrument required in the column of the indent allotted for that purpose, so as to enable the officer who countersigns and finally passes the indent to know the probable expense it involves, and also to guide the Mathematical Instrument Office in selecting instruments to meet the demand. If the prices entered in an indent are not to be exceeded, this fact should be clearly stated.

9. In order to prevent misunderstandings, indenting officers should invariably state in their indents, the size and class of the instrument required, and when ordering a scale, particular care should be taken to note its length, how divided, and the purpose for which it is required.

10. All instruments sent to the Mathematical Instrument Office for repair or adjustment should be despatched freight prepaid, and at the same time, under separate cover, a requisition "for repairs" should be sent on the annexed Form B. No instrument will be repaired unless the Officer in charge considers it worth the cost of the work.

11. Indents should be submitted as early as possible to enable arrangements to be made to meet the demand in case the articles are not in stock, and all instruments requiring repairs should be forwarded to the Mathematical Instrument Office as soon as they are available. It is particularly requested that when a large supply of instruments is likely to be wanted for railway surveys or other large projects, the Mathematical Instrument Office should receive as long prior notice as possible of the probable number and description of articles required.

12. The mode of transit and address to which instruments, etc., are to be consigned by the Mathematical Instrument Office, as well as the address to which correspondence regarding the case is to be sent, must invariably be specified in full on the indent or requisition form; when instruments, etc., are to be despatched by post the name of the Post Office, as well as of the district in which it is situated, should be given, and when by railway the nearest Railway Station should be distinctly stated.

13. When issuing instruments, etc., which are required on "book transfer" or despatching them after repair, the Mathematical Instrument Office sends an "invoice" in triplicate showing the amount due; one copy should be signed and returned without delay as it is required, for submission with the monthly accounts of the Mathematical Instrument Office, for adjustment by the Comptroller, India Treasuries; the other copies should be dealt with as laid down in Article 96, Volume I, Civil Account Code (7th Edition). In the case of instruments, etc., issued or repaired on "cash payment" pre-payment is necessary, and, whenever it is possible, they, or the railway receipt for them, will be sent by V.-P. P.

14. All Government instruments, when no longer required, should be at once despatched to the Mathematical Instrument Office, freight prepaid, and at the same time, under separate cover, a list of the instruments deposited as no "longer required" should be sent on the annexed Form C. It is particularly requested that surplus instruments may not be retained in any Government Office, as they only deteriorate and become obsolete, while, if despatched as soon as they are no longer required to the Mathematical Instrument Office, they can be overhauled, put into serviceable condition, and made available for issue to other officers requiring them. The Mathematical Instrument Office is, as a rule, unable to receive instruments for deposit as "no longer required" from Departments or officers who are not entitled to deal by means of "book transfer," and it is essential before sending such instruments to enquire if it will be convenient to receive them.

15. When Government instruments are received by the Mathematical Instrument Office for deposit as "no longer required" they are valued according to their condition, and a "valuation statement" is then sent to the officer depositing them; the amount of this valuation is credited to his department or office in the monthly accounts of the Mathematical Instrument Office, for adjustment by "book transfer" through the Comptroller, India Treasuries.

16. When an officer considers that Government instruments are unserviceable and that their transit charges may nearly equal or exceed their actual value as material, a survey should be held on them by a committee of Government Officers, whose report in duplicate should be forwarded to the Officer in charge, Mathematical Instrument Office, who will return one copy with instructions entered on it as to which of the instruments should be forwarded to the Mathematical Instrument Office. Unserviceable chains, staves, tapes, etc., are seldom worth their transit charges.

17. As indents, requisitions "for repairs," and lists of instruments "no longer required" are dealt with in separate sections in the Mathematical Instrument Office, they should be kept quite distinct and should not be mixed up on the same form. In all cases reference should be made to any previous correspondence on the subject dealt with, and, when instruments are forwarded to the Mathematical Instrument Office, it should be clearly stated whether they are "for repairs" or "no longer required." The forms are not required in duplicate, and should not be accompanied by forwarding letters unless more explanation is necessary than can be given on the face of the forms.

18. The carriage of instruments, etc., is not paid by the Mathematical Instrument Office; consequently all consignments sent to it must be prepaid by the officers sending them, and the freight, etc., on those despatched by the Mathematical Instrument Office must be paid by the officers receiving them. Incidental charges for packing cases, etc., are included in the "invoices" or "bills."

19. Owing to the very rough treatment which boxes, etc., often receive in transit, particular attention is drawn to the importance of packing all instruments with great care; delicate instruments should, if possible, be despatched insured. Each package of a consignment of instruments despatched to the Mathematical Instrument Office should bear the address of the consignor with a distinctive mark and also a serial number, which should be given to each package of such consignment; this information should be recorded on railway receipts or bills of lading. Every package should contain a packing note giving a full list of contents and the address of the consignor.

20. The accounts kept by the Mathematical Instrument Office do not permit of "loans" or "exchanges," and instruments cannot be sent "on approval." When instruments are required on "Government Service" for a limited time, however short, two distinct "book transfer" transactions are necessary; the instruments must be properly indented for and, when finished with, they must be returned as "no longer required."

21. In all dealings with the Mathematical Instrument Office the official forms in use in that Office should be used, but military officers should submit indents and requisitions "for repairs" on I. A. Forms Z 2117 and Z 2118, respectively. The Mathematical Instrument Office is conducted under Civil rules, and all references to Army Regulations, Equipment Tables, etc., should therefore invariably be supplemented by a clear statement of what is required.

22. These rules and regulations, the price-list and Forms A, B, and C can be obtained gratis on application from the Officer in charge, Mathematical Instrument Office.

4. It is particularly requested that the sizes and sorts of instruments, lengths of scales, how divided, and purpose for which required, and generally any information which will guide the Mathematical Instrument Office in knowing, without further reference, the exact wants of the indenting officer, be entered, as far as possible, in columns 1 and 4 instead of in a covering letter. 5. Especial attention is requested to the filling up correctly of columns 5 and 7.

6. An indenting officer should enter in column 6 the approximate price of each description of instrument required, so as to enable the officer who countersigns and finally passes the indent to know the probable expense it involves, and also to guide the Mathematical Instrument Office in selecting instruments to meet the demand. ## III.—Emission of Smoke.

Method of determining density of smoke.

21. The density of smoke emitted from a furnace shall be determined by reference to Ringelmann's Smoke Gauge according to the scales described below:—

Ringelmann's Smoke Gauge consists of six squares, corresponding to scales, upon a white background—

Scale 1—Consists of a white square which has no black lines across it and which is all white.

Scale 2—Consists of a white square with black lines drawn across the white background, vertically and horizontally 1 mm. in width and 9 mm. apart.

Scale 3—Consists of a white square with black lines, similarly drawn, 2·3 mm. in width and 7·7 mm. apart.

Scale 4—Consists of a white square with black lines similarly drawn, 3·7 mm. in width and 6·3 mm. apart.

Scale 5—Consists of a white square with black lines similarly drawn, 5·5 mm. in width and 4·5 mm. apart.

Scale 6—The square is entirely black.

The squares described in this scale, if held at a distance of from 30 to 40 paces from the observer, present the appearance of blacks and greys of varying density, with which the colour of the smoke emitted from a furnace may be compared.

Observation of density.

22. The smoke emitted from a furnace or furnaces shall be held to be the smoke emitted from the chimney connected therewith, and its density for the purpose of the rules shall be observed at its exit from the chimney.

Limits beyond which emission of smoke becomes an offence.

23. (1) Smoke of the scales of density Nos. 1, 2 and 3 as determined in accordance with rule 21 may be emitted from furnaces for any time.

(2) Smoke of the scales of density Nos. 4, 5 and 6, as determined in accordance with the said rule, may be emitted from furnaces for the times prescribed in respect of each such scale in the following table.

(3) Smoke of density varying from the scale of density No. 4 to the scale of density No. 6 may be emitted for times rateably reduced in accordance with the explanation to this rule and not in excess of the times entered in column 5 of the table, provided that smoke of the scale of density No. 6 shall in no case be emitted for times in excess of those entered in column 2.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Smoke may be emitted from a chimney serving | In the case of density scale 6. | In the case of density scale 5. | In the case of density scale 4. | In the case of densities scales 6, 5 and 4 together. |
| | For minutes per hour. | For minutes per hour. | For minutes per hour. | For minutes per hour (rateably reduced in accordance with the explanation below). |
| One or two furnaces ... | 1 | 2 | 3 | 3·21 |
| Three or four furnaces ... | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5·13 |
| Five or six furnaces ... | 3 | 4 | 6 | 7·05 |
| Seven, eight or nine furnaces. | 4 | 5 | 6 | 8·97 |
| Ten or more furnaces ... | 5 | 6 | 7 | 10·89 |

Explanation—For the purposes of sub-clause (3) of this rule, the time during which smoke of the scale of densities Nos. 4 and 5 is emitted shall be reduced, in the case of smoke of the scale of density No. 4 in the ratio of 0·37 to 1 and in the case of smoke of the scale of density No. 5 in the ratio of 0·55 to 1.

Example.

Smoke of density scale 6 is emitted from a chimney serving ten furnaces for 5 minutes per hour, of density scale 5 for 6 minutes, and of density scale 4 for 7 minutes. The total time during which smoke of these densities is emitted is, when rateably reduced, $5 \times 1 + 6 \times 0·55 + 7 \times 0·37$ or 10·89 minutes.

Extension of time in case of original lighting or stoking of furnaces.

24. In lighting up fires in furnaces, or in stoking furnaces to raise steam, for the purpose of commencing the work of the factory, double the time prescribed in the above table shall be allowed during the first two hours, once a day.

Furnaces of ocean-going steamers.

25. The furnaces of the main boilers of ocean-going steamers shall not be held to be furnaces within the meaning of the Bengal Smoke Nuisances Act, 1905, for a period of two hours previous to leaving moorings.

Altitude of chimneys from which smoke may be emitted.

26. Smoke shall not be emitted from a furnace at a lower altitude than 100 feet:

Provided that this rule shall not apply in the following cases:—

(1) Existing chimneys that are, in the opinion of the Commission, of sufficient height for the purpose of the Act.

(2) Furnaces in portable or travelling engines.

(3) Furnaces of engines which, in the opinion of the Commission, are intended for temporary purposes.
(4) Furnaces in steam-vessels.
(5) Any other furnace especially exempted by the Commission.

Issue of warning by Inspectors.

27. When it appears to an Inspector that an offence has been committed under the Act in respect of any furnace, he may serve the owner of such furnace with a written warning by registered post. Such warning shall inform the owner of the furnace of the time and date of such offence, and shall be accompanied by a copy of the record of the observation taken, and it shall inform the owner that if the offence is again committed after the expiry of a period, which shall not be less than ten days, he will be liable to prosecution under the Act:

(i) Provided that if, in the opinion of the Inspector, material alterations in the furnace are necessary or appliances require to be fitted to the furnace, the period of warning may be extended to four months, or a longer period, if in the opinion of the Commission, it is necessary.
(ii) Provided also that no warning need be given in the case of any steam-ship, locomotive or portable engine, before a prosecution is instituted.

Record of observations.

28. Records shall be kept by the Commission of the observations of the smoke from furnaces under the signature of the Inspector who has made the observations.

Numbering of chimneys.

29. A number shall be given to each chimney, and the number of each chimney, from which smoke is emitted in greater density or for a longer period than is allowed by these rules, shall be reported to the Commission.

Dounai or Saigon River—Shoals in approach.

No. 394 (first publication).—The British Admiralty has given Notice (No. 1007 of 1907) containing the following information respecting the shoals in the approach to Donnai or Saigon river:—

River Soirap. A narrow sandy shoal upon which there are depths of from 3 to 3½ fathoms at low-water springs has formed in the entrance to the Soirap river; it is situated between the bearings of N. 2° W., through north, and N. 27° E. of Dong tranh light-house. Vessels are recommended to pass to the eastward of it where a depth of 3½ fathoms will be found.

Approximate position, Dong tranh light, lat. 10° 23′ N., long. 106° 52¾′ E.

Cape St. James. A survey of Ranza bank shows that the least depth over it is 4¼ fathoms, but it extends to the westward as far as the line of the Cocoanut bay leading lights on which there is a depth of 5½ fathoms.

A shoal, with a depth of 3½ fathoms over it at low-water, is situated at a distance of 3$\frac{1}{10}$ mils S. 47° W. from cape St. James light-house, but the 2½ fathoms patch shown on the chart 2 cables to the westward of this position does not exist. This shoal extends to the westward as far as the line of the Cocoanut leading lights, there being a depth of 4¾ fathoms on that line at a distance of 3$\frac{1}{10}$ miles from the pier head light.

Depths of 2 fathoms and 2½ fathoms exist at distances of 8$\frac{3}{10}$ miles S. 53° W. and 9½ miles S. 69° W., respectively, from cape St. James light-house, these depths respectively are on the south-eastern and north-western extremities of the shoal shown on the chart. There is a depth of 2¾ fathoms at 7½ cables to the westward of the 2 fathoms head on the south-eastern extremity of this shoal. On this shoal the least depth is 1¾ fathoms situated at a distance of 9 miles S. 66° W. from cape St. James light-house. There is also another head on this shoal of 2½ fathoms situated at a distance of 8$\frac{8}{10}$ miles S. 61° W. from the light-house.

Ganh rai bay. In Kua Kangio, northward of Kangio red light, in the fairway between it and the village, the depth has shoaled to 4 fathoms at low-water. Vessels of heavy draught should not therefore attempt this passage at low water.

Cape St. James to cape Ti wan. The least depth on Formosa bank is 1¼ fathoms at low-water springs, situated on the western edge of the bank, at a distance of 11$\frac{8}{10}$ cables S. 48° E. from cape St. James light-house.

The least depth on the 4¾ fathoms patch shown on the chart about 5¼ miles south-eastward from cape St, James is 4¼ fathoms, which is situated at a distance of 5$\frac{8}{10}$ miles S. 72° E. from cape St. James light-house. This shoal, as delineated by the 5 fathoms contour, extends about 4 cables in an easterly direction, and 11 cables in a N. 75° W. direction from the 4¼ fathoms patch, and is about 2 cables broad.

Pernambuco rock. This rock was found and is correctly placed on the charts, but a shoal, with a least depth of 4½ fathoms over it, exists at a distance of 6½ cables N. 62° W. from the rock. This shoal extends in an easterly and westerly direction.

Approximate position, cape St. James light-house, lat. 10° 19¾′ N., long. 107° 5′ E.

No. 380 (third publication).—The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 942 of 1907) of the existence of a shoal, named Williams rocks, off Good Hope cape, in the approach to port Swatau. This shoal, which consists of boulders lying on a muddy bottom, has three heads, with depths of 4, 4½, and 5 fathoms over them at low water; the 4-fathom head is situated in a position from which Good Hope cape light-house bears West, distant 4½ cables, and Green island summit N. 43° W.

CHINA, EAST COAST—Yang tse Kiang.

Wusung River Bar—Regulations for crossing.

No. 381 (third publication).—The British Admiralty has given Notice (No. 945 of 1907) that, in order to prevent accidents to vessels crossing the inner and outer bars of the Wusung river, the following regulations were put into force July 1906, and must be strictly adhered to by Mariners:—

(1) A careful look-out is to be kept on approaching the Wusung bars by inward-bound vessels when about a mile below the outer bar, and by outward-bound vessels when abreast of the southern end of Gough island:—

(a) Vessels having the tide against them must wait for vessels having a fair tide.

(b) Overtaking vessels must regulate their speed to allow overtaken vessels to clear the bars first.

(2) Captains and pilots are not to attempt to cross either bar when the signals at Wusung indicate less water than their vessels are drawing. Sometimes, however, a greater depth can be obtained by not following the bar-leading marks. Captains and pilots desiring to avail themselves of this information should apply to the Harbour Master's Officer at Shanghai, or to the Berthing Officer at Wusung shortly before they wish to cross the bar.

(3) Vessels anchoring outside Wusung must take up a berth well clear of leading marks over the outer bar in order to avoid all risk of collision with vessels crossing the bar.

Approximate position Wusung, lat. 31° 23′ N., long. 121° 29′ E.

This Notice affects the following Admiralty Chart:—Wusung river, No. 1601: also China Sea Directory, vol. III, 1904, pages 413, 415.

Lighted Fairway buoy—Position.

No. 382 (third publication).—The Principal Port Officer, Burma, has given notice (Channel Circular No. 99 of 1907) that the Lighted Fairway buoy recently placed on the station has been laid about 400 feet to the northward of the old buoy, which has been removed.

---

Lowly Point Light—Alteration intended.

No. 383 (third publication).—The President, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given notice (No. 5 of 1907) that it is intended to alter the Lowly Point light so that its range of visibility may be increased by one and-a-half miles.

Operations will be commenced on or about the 1st October next, and for a period of about one month therefrom it is probable that the revolution of the light will be somewhat irregular.

A further notice will be issued when the improvements are effected.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF THE PURI LODGING-HOUSE ACT DURING 1906-07.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

RESOLUTION No. 910T.—SAN.

THE Act was extended during the year to the following areas within the Jajpur subdivision of the district of Cuttack, namely, to the Barandai village, to Ruriya village, to both sides of the Jajpur-Kuakhia Road (from distributary No. I to the Gakhima Road), and to both sides of the Jajpur-Binjharpur Road (from the limit of the Municipality up to one mile towards Binjharpur). Elsewhere the Act was in force in the same towns and areas as in the preceding year.

2. The number of lodging-houses licensed was practically the same as in 1905-1906, but the number of persons for whom accommodation was provided increased from 60,630 to 66,322. In the town of Puri, although the number of licensed lodging-houses fell from 730 to 694 and licenses were temporarily suspended on the recommendation of the Health Officer in 127 cases, the number of persons accommodated rose from 20,098 to 23,186. In 1902-1903 the number of licensed lodging-houses in the town of Puri was 1,827, and the decrease which has occurred in past years is very noticeable. It is probably largely due to the fact that many more pilgrims now visit the town by rail and return home at once. The Car festival was attended by about 70,000 people.

3. The income of the lodging-house funds, excluding the opening balance, increased from Rs. 80,740 in 1905-1906 to Rs. 83,524, while the expenditure fell from Rs. 82,456 to Rs. 44,218. The reduction in expenditure is most noticeable in the towns of Gaya and Puri. In the former the decrease amounted to Rs. 22,632, and is due to the fact that all surplus funds are at present reserved for contribution towards the cost of the Gaya water-works scheme, as it is considered that the chief need of pilgrims visiting Gaya is a good and plentiful supply of drinking-water. In Puri the decrease, amounting to Rs. 15,978, was due to the fact that less expenditure was incurred under the heads Original Works and Contributions. The accumulated balance at the credit of the Puri fund will, it is hoped, be available as a contribution to the drainage and water-works projects which it is proposed to carry out in that town. The closing balance for all the funds amounts to Rs. 68,470, and includes the unexpended loan of Rs. 8,000 made by Government during the year to the [illegible] Lodging-House Committee, and the sum set apart by the Gaya Lodging-House Committee for the water-works scheme.

4. Two hundred and sixty-seven persons were convicted of offences under the Act as compared with 447 in 1905-1906, and the amount of fines realized fell from Rs. 9,194-8 to Rs. 4,461. The decrease is general, and is doubtless to some extent due to the fact that lodging-house-keepers are becomming more familiar with the provisions of the rules and are more ready to observe them.

5. The health of the pilgrims was generally good throughout the year, though outbreaks of cholera occurred at Gaya and Puri; in Gaya the number of deaths reported from this cause was 228 against 121 in 1905-1906, and the total mortality among pilgrims from all causes rose from 133 to 239; in Puri the number of deaths from cholera rose from 91 in 1905-1906 to 400, the total mortality being 723 as against 443 in 1905-1906. Fever and dysentery contributed largely to the total mortality, while in Puri 30 persons died of small-pox. The sanitary arrangements of the lodging-houses were on the whole satisfactory, and the water-supply was good and sufficient.

6. The Act has worked well during the year, and the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to the local officers responsible for its administration.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department, and that copies be forwarded to the Commissioners of the Burdwan, Presidency, Patna, Bhagalpur and Orissa Divisions for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be communicated to the Sanitary Commissioner and to the Sanitary Board, Bengal, for information, and that it be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

H. J. McINTOSH,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 4451B., dated Calcutta, the 30th July 1907.

From—Pandit Rama Ballabha Misra, m.a., Offg. Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

Member in charge:
The Hon'ble Mr. W. C. Macpherson, c.s.i.

I am directed to submit the accompanying report, received from the Commissioner of Salt, Bengal, on the administration of the Salt Department in the year 1906-1907.

* * * *

2. Administrative changes—Paragraph 9 of the Report.—The most important administrative change which was brought into effect during the year was the abolition of the system of passes en route known as the rawana system. In consequence of this measure, it has been necessary to adopt additional safeguards to prevent the smuggling of salt from shipboard in the port of Calcutta; and revised rules to regulate the clearance and delivery of salt have been approved in Government Order No. 221T.—S.R., dated the 2nd July 1907, and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 10th idem. Necessary amendments will shortly be made in other rules in the Salt Manual.

In consequence of the abolition of the rawana system, some of the provisions of the Bengal Salt Act of 1864 are no longer applicable. The question of the repeal of this Act, and the extension to Bengal of the Indian Salt Act of 1882 with certain modifications, is under the consideration of Government.

5. Introduction of a credit system for payment of duty—Paragraph 12 of the Report.—It is hoped that a credit system of payment of duty on salt will be introduced in this Province as soon as requirements have been fully considered. A draft form of agreement which it is proposed to prescribe for execution by persons availing themselves of the system has been recently submitted to Government.

6. Imports—Paragraphs 13—15 of the Report.—There was a considerable increase in the quantity of salt imported into Bengal by sea during the year as compared with the previous year; and also a large increase in the imports of Madras salt by land into Orissa. The transactions in salt in the Sulkea and Kidderpore golas were the highest on record with the result that the balance in the golas at the close of the year 1906-07 was much smaller than the balance at the close of the preceding two years. The tendency of low stocks is probably to raise wholesale prices in Calcutta, which in their turn affect retail prices throughout the Province.

7. Consumption—Paragraph 23 of the Report.—The consumption of salt in the Province is calculated by adding to the total quantity cleared on payment of duty the imports from outside the Province and deducting the exports. So calculated, the quantity of salt which passed into consumption in the Province during the year 1906-07 amounted to 78,94,200 maunds. The consumption in 1905-06 was erroneously shown in the report for that year as 94,93,618 maunds. This mistaken figure resulted from an oversight by which deduction was not made of the net exports to the transferred districts. Including the net exports to the transferred districts, the total exports in 1905-06 amounted to 35,37,255 maunds as against 5,80,292 maunds shown in that year's Report. The net consumption therefore in 1905-06 may be taken as 65,36,655 maunds.

* * * * * * *

8. Paragraph 27 of the Report.—The duty on salt was reduced from Rs. 2 to Re. 1-8 a maund, with effect from the 22nd March 1905. This was followed by a decrease of 6 annas 6 pies in the provincial average of the wholesale prices per maund at district head-quarters in the year 1905-06, and there has been a further fall of 1 anna 6 pies in the price during the year under review. The aggregate reduction of prices in the two years thus exactly corresponds with the reduction of duty in March 1905. The Commissioner of Salt considers that the small additional decrease in the year 1906-07 was principally due to the abolition of the rawana system.

The effect of the reduction of duty to Re. 1 a maund, which came into force on 20th March 1907, will be noticed in the report for 1907-08.

9. Paragraphs 28—30 of the Report.—There was a large increase in the number of seizures of illicit salt and the number of prosecutions under the Salt Laws during the year, as compared with the previous year. In the district of the 24-Parganas the number of cases under section 9 of Act XII of 1882 rose from 21 to 139. It is reported that the increase occurred in the area of recent scarcity in the district.

10. Receipts and Charges—Paragraphs [illegible] and 34 of the Report.—The large increase in the receipts from import duty on salt was consequent upon the larger clearances made. According to the figures furnished by the Accountant-General, Bengal, there was a decrease of Rs. 33,807 in the charges on account of the Salt Preventive Department under the control of the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal.

No. 3938., dated Calcutta, the 4th July 1907.

From—E. GEAKE, ESQ., I.C.S., Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following consolidated report on the administration of the Salt Department in Bengal for the year 1906-07.

* * * * * * *

CHAPTER I.—PRELIMINARY.

Control of the Salt Department in districts.

3. There was no change in the administration of the Salt Department in any district. The control of preventive operations in the districts of Noakhali and Chittagong in the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam was exercised by Bengal authorities through the District officers.

* * * * * * *

Rate of duty.

6. The rate of duty on salt manufactured in, or imported by land into, British India was reduced from Re. 1-8 to Re. 1 a maund (140 pounds, avoirdupois, in case of salt manufactured in Aden and 82⅙ pounds in case of salt manufactured in any part of British India other than Aden) with effect from the 20th March 1907 under Supreme Government Notification No. 1748Exc., dated the 20th March 1907.

* * * * * * *

General effects of the abolition of the Rawana system.

9. The abolition of the Rawana system has rendered it impossible to compile statistics of salt consumption for the saliferous portions of the districts where the system was in force. The Collectors, however, generally agree in thinking that the trade in salt has received a decided impetus by being set free from the artificial restrictions which formerly hampered the free movement of salt, and that open competition has been encouraged. It is reported from the 24-Parganas that the effect is already seen in the large number of retail shops that are springing up everywhere. The beneficial effect of this free competition on the retail prices of salt will be noticed later on.

Proposed removal of Khidderpore Dock Salt Golas.

10. During the year a proposal was made by the Port Commissioners for the relinquishment of the northernmost of the four blocks of salt golas in the Khidderpore Docks in order that the construction of one out of the four permanent produce berths sanctioned by Government and urgently required by the export trade may be taken in hand. Certain sites were suggested as suitable where accommodation might be provided for salt, and the Collector of Customs was asked by the Board to report on the suitability of any one of the sites suggested, and on the cost of acquisition and necessary buildings. The matter is pending the receipt of a report from the Collector of Customs.

Reclamation of the foreshore at the Sulkea Salt Golas, construction of an additional pontoon, and the extension of the south Jetty platform.

11. The reclamation proposed by the Collector of Customs of the foreshore at the Sulkea Salt golas at an estimated cost of Rs. 19,000, in order to remove the difficulty experienced by boats in loading and unloading at low water, was sanctioned by Government after the close of the year in its order No. 397S.R., dated the 4th April 1907. The construction of an additional pontoon and the extension of the south Jetty platform at an estimated cost of Rs. 28,000 were also sanctioned by Government during the year in its order No. 713 S.R., dated the 9th August 1906.

Credit system for payment of duty on salt.

12. The introduction into Bengal of a credit system for payment of duty on salt, such as obtains in Madras and Bombay, in accordance with the recommendation of the Salt Committee appointed under the Resolution of the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 4844S.R., dated the 11th August 1903, was sanctioned by the Supreme Government in their order No. 5184Ex , dated the 15th September 1905. Necessary legislation to provide for the introduction of the system in view of the provisions of section 89 of the Sea Customs Act is under the consideration of Government.

CHAPTER II.—STOCKS, IMPORTS AND CLEARANCES.

The stocks of salt in all golas, both public and private, at the beginning of the year were less than on the 1st April 1905 by more than $5\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs of maunds. The imports showed an increase of over $8\frac{1}{4}$ lakhs of maunds. The clearances were also larger than in the previous year by more than $8\frac{1}{4}$ lakhs. In addition to the closing balance, there were at the close of the year 3,54,668 maunds of salt lying afloat in the port of Calcutta, against 3,43,950 maunds at the end of 1905-06.

The percentage of the total importation bonded in the Sulkea and Kidderpore golas during the year was 74, the same* as in the previous year. There was a large increase in importations during the year, and the quantity bonded was in excess of that bonded in any of the last five years.

Imports.

14. * * The importations into Calcutta during the year show an increase of 7·7 per cent., for which the United Kingdom, Hamburg and Bremen, Port Said, Spain and Turkey in Asia were mainly responsible. The increase of nearly 10 lakhs of maunds from the United Kingdom indicates that the popularity of Liverpool salt is well maintained. A new salt from Turkey came into the market at the close of the year. This salt first appeared on the market in 1892, and has now again been imported in the year under report. The imports from Salif fell off by over 11 lakhs of maunds. Aden, Muscat and Persian Gulf salts also show a decrease. Bombay salt more or less held its position in the market, while Madras salt very materially decreased.

* Revised figures furnished by the Collector of Customs, Calcutta.

15. * * There was an increase of 8·7 per cent. in the sales of imported salt; 19 per cent. being sold from ship-board and 81 per cent. from bond, against 18 per cent. and 82 per cent., respectively, in the preceding year. In Calcutta the sales from the importing vessels direct and from bond increased by 11·5 and 7·6 per cent., respectively. Of the vessels carrying salt into Calcutta during the year, 93 per cent. were steamers.

16. The total salt transactions at the Sulkea and Kidderpore golas for the last five years are shown below :—

| Years. | | | | | Maunds. |
| 1902-03 | ... | ... | ... | ... | 1,54,83,932 |
| 1903-04 | ... | ... | ... | ... | 1,50,05,754 |
| 1904-05 | ... | ... | ... | ... | 1,62,70,908 |
| 1905-06 | ... | ... | ... | ... | 1,67,67,724 |
| 1906-07 | ... | ... | ... | ... | 1,77,57,526 |

The quantity of salt handled at Sulkea was 1,11,59,238 maunds, against 99,29,028 maunds in the preceding year; and at Kidderpore [illegible] maunds against 68,38 696.

The Collector of Customs, Calcutta, reports that the transactions of the past year are the highest on record, but there was no difficulty in providing bonding space, as the turnover in the trade was brisk and consignments remained only a short time in bond before passing into consumption.

The Kidderpore salt golas received 38 per cent. of the total quantity bonded, against 40 per cent. in the previous year. the slight decrease being attributed to the abandonment of a block of golas towards the end of the year. Several improvements have been made at the Sulkea salt golas. The new railway siding is now finished, as well as a new stocking shed on more modern principles than the former one. Eleven new golas, with a capacity of 36 000 maunds each, were completed and brought into use.

Two new pontoons are under construction, and the reclamation of the remainder of the foreshore is being taken in hand. These improvements are expected to remove the labour difficulties against which the golas have to contend.

* * * * * * *

18. As stated in paragraph 15 of the previous year's report, there are only two bonded warehouses in the Province, both being situated at Chandbali, in the district of Balasore, and owned by Messrs. Turner, Morrison & Co. The quantity of salt despatched to these two warehouses as well as to those transferred to the new Province was 13,22,300 maunds (943,164 maunds from ship-board and 379,136 maunds from the golas in Calcutta), against 12,90,791 maunds (9,23,310 maunds from ship-board and 3,67,481 maunds from the golas in Calcutta) in 1905-06, showing an increase of 2 per cent. The quantity of salt sent to the warehouses at Chandbali alone amounted to 72,568 maunds (66,484 maunds from ship-board and 6,084 maunds from the golas in Calcutta), against 64,100 maunds (28,400 maunds from ship-board and 35,700 maunds from the golas in Calcutta), exhibiting an increase of 13 per cent.

21. The quantity of Madras karkatch and refined salt imported into Orissa by land during the year was 947,102 maunds, against 765, 252 maunds in the previous year, showing an increase of 181,850 maunds or 23·8 per cent. The increase is due to better outturn at the factories, and to removal of the restrictions imposed in 1905-06 on the sales of salt in the Ganjam, Naupada and other factories owing to failure of manufacture. * * * *

Imports of Madras salt into Orissa by land.

22. The figures given below show the consumption of Bombay salt in Sambalpur and the Tributary States during the last four years. The salt is imported by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway:—

Imports of Bombay salt.

| | | 1903-04. | 1904-05. | 1905-06. | 1906-07. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | Mds. | Mds. | Mds. | Mds. |
| Jharsaguda | ... | 287 | ... | 7,404 | 26,336 |
| Sambalpur | ... | 1,722 | 5,141 | 32,354 | 43,370 |
| Total | ... | 2,009 | 5,141 | 39,758 | 69,706 |

There was an increase of 29,948 maunds in consumption during the year as compared with the previous year, which more than compensated for the decrease of 5,932 maunds in the imports of Madras salt into the Tributary States.

CHAPTER III.—CONSUMPTION AND PRICES.

23. The total quantity of salt which passed into consumption in the Province during the year under review was 78,94,200 maunds. This is exclusive of 30,15,371 maunds, the net export by land, but inclusive of 19,576 maunds educed from saltpetre. Of the total quantity, the saliferous distuicts of this Province took 22,44,894 maunds or 28·4 per cent., and the rest of the Province 56,49,306 maunds or 71·6 per cent. The resulting rate of consumption per head in the saliferous districts was 6 seers 9 chittaks or 13·5 lbs., and in the rest of the Province 5 seers 7 chittaks or 11·2 lbs.

Consumption in Bengal.

The rates of consumption per head of population in the Bombay and Madras Presidencies during 1905-1906 were 11·05 lbs. and 17·6 lbs., respectively.

* * * * * * *

27. * * There is a slight decrease of 1 anna 6 pies in the average wholesale price per maund, principally due to the abolition of the Rawana system. The retail prices too show a slight fall, and range from 1 anna to 1 anna 6 pies per seer, against 1 anna to 1 anna 9 pies per seer in the previous year. The effect of the further reduction in the rate of duty from Re. 1-8 to Re. 1 a maund with effect from the 20th March 1907 was not felt during the year.

Prices of salt in Bengal generally.

Exclusive of duty, the average wholesale price of Liverpool salt per hundred maunds as sold from the ship's side in the port of Calcutta was Rs. 48-10-2 during the year against Rs. 50-11-9 in 1905-06.

CHAPTER IV.—PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

28. Illicit salt was attached, released and confiscated in 387, 3 and 414 * cases respectively, against 177, 1 and 140 cases in the previous year, to the extent of 18 maunds, 1 seer and 55 maunds, against 105 maunds, 30 seers and 69 maunds during the year 1905-06. There was thus a decrease of 87 maunds, or 82·8 per cent. in the quantity attached.

Attachments, releases and confiscations in the saliferous districts, including Orissa.

29. The number of seizures and unsuccessful house-searches was 387 and 5 against 152 and 1 in the previous year, the percentage of such searches to seizures being 1·3 against ·66 in the previous year. The small increase in the percentage is due to an untimely search made in Midnapore, which resulted in three unsuccessful house-searches. It is said that the information

Number of seizures and unsuccessful house-searches.

* Inclusive of cases pending at the close of 1905-06.

Number of cases instituted under Acts VII (B.C.) of 1864 and XII of 1882.

30. * * There were 175 prosecutions against 145 in the previous year. Out of 217 persons arrested and brought to trial 198 were convicted, the percentage of convictions being 91·2. The number of cases under section 9 of Act XII of 1882 was 174, against 81 in the year previous. There has been a large increase of crime in the Diamond Harbour circle of the 24-Parganas, the number of cases being 110, against 8 in the previous year. The Assistant Commissioner reports that the area of increase corresponds to the area of recent scarcity in the district. The outbreak of crime was also in some measure due to an impression that obtained to the effect that the abolition of the Rawana system was accompanied by permission to prepare salt for domestic consumption. This erroneous impression was sedulously disseminated by agitators in their mofussal meetings. The petty amount of salt seized in each case bears out this view, and shows that home manufacture on a small scale was widespread. The slight increase in Balasore and Puri hardly requires explanation. Scarcity and high prices were sufficient inducements for such illicit manufacture as took place. There was a decrease in the number of cases in Midnapore, Howrah, Khulna, Noakhali and Cuttack, which is attributed to the systematic patrolling of salt officers, to the abolition of the Rawana system and the cheapening of licit salt. There was no case under Act VII (B.C.) of 1864. There was, however, in Chittagong, one important case of illicit manufacture of salt on a large scale, in which certain villagers of Ramu were concerned. About 30 maunds of salt ashes and 1 maund of manufactured salt were seized in the case, and the four men accused were convicted under section 9 of Act XII of 1882 and fined Rs. 105 in all. No cases were reported by the Police under Act XII of 1882. Some 20 cases were lost in the Diamond Harbour circle, owing to the failure of the special Police Head Constables to attend house-searches. The matter was duly reported to the Magistrate and suitable action taken. Twenty Opium cases were detected by Salt officers against 33 in the previous year. One Siddhi case was detected by a Salt petty officer and 9 cases of illicit distillation of country liquor were also reported in the 24-Parganas, of which 6 were detected in co-operation with the local Excise staff and the remaining 3 cases with the aid of the special Salt Police Head Constable. In the six cases referred to above, fines of Rs. 435 in the aggregate were imposed. In the 24-Parganas, Howrah, Khulna and Chittagong, general assistance was rendered to the Excise Department in detection and inspection work.

Fines, forfeitures and rewards.

31. Fines and forfeitures realized and rewards disbursed were Rs. 1,416 and Rs. 1,434 respectively, against Rs. 1,191 and Rs. 807 in the previous year. The increase is attributed to a larger number of cases as well as to heavier fines being imposed and special rewards sanctioned in certain cases of substantive imprisonment.

* * * * * * *

CHAPTER V.—FINANCIAL RESULTS.

Receipts and charges.

33. * * The results of the year as compared with those in 1905-06 show an increase of Rs. 7,12,163, or 4·6 per cent. in the receipts, and a decrease of Rs. 15,935, or 3·7 per cent. in the charges, yielding a net revenue of Rs. 1,56,75,376, which exceeds that of the previous year by Rs. 7,28,098, or 4·8 per cent. The charges do not, as usual, include a proportionate share of the cost of the Customs Preventive Service which is largely employed in safeguarding the salt revenue. The increase in receipts occurs mainly under the head "Import duty on salt" and "Rent of warehouses," and is due to the importation of a larger quantity of salt.

Charges.

34. According to the figures furnished by the Accountant-General, Bengal, the charges during the year amounted to Rs. 4,11,101, against Rs. 4,27,036 in 1905-06, showing a decrease of Rs. 15,935 or 3·7 per cent. * * *

CHAPTER VI.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Trade in saltpetre in Bengal.

36. The quantity of salt educed in the manufacture of saltpetre during the year and removed on payment of duty from all the refineries in the Province was 19,576 maunds, against 16,262 maunds in the previous year, showing an increase of 3,314 maunds. The increase was due to ordinary fluctuations in the trade.

Saltpetre refineries in Calcutta and its environs.

37. As in the previous year, there were two licensed saltpetre refineries—at Soorah and Kakurgachi. The latter is said to have worked very spasmodically and to be doing very little business. At Soorah alone salt is educed, but it is not sold, as the licensee prefers to destroy the bye-products.

Work done in the Calcutta refineries.

38. The quantity of refined saltpetre produced in the two refineries was 11,283 maunds against 16,438 maunds; the quantity of salt educed was 1,569 maunds against 1,887 maunds; and the quantity of sitta or impure salt left in course of refinement was 1,497 maunds, against 1,954 maunds in the previous year. The decrease is due to the progressive decline in the trade that has been noticeable for some years past. No educed salt was sold, and consequently there was no receipt from duty during the year. The receipts from license fees were Rs. 100 as in the previous year.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1907-1908.

No. 4746B., dated Calcutta, the 10th August 1907.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

THE HON'BLE MR. W. C. MACPHERSON, C.S.I.

I AM directed to submit the following report on the state of the salt market for the first quarter of the year 1907-1908, comprising the months of April, May, and June 1907.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter amounted to 32,21,915 maunds, as compared with 28,00,087 maunds in the previous quarter, and 33,10,896 maunds in the corresponding quarter of the previous year. The net amount of duty levied thereon was Rs. 28,93,923, as against Rs. 35,47,980 in the previous quarter, and Rs. 45,57,288 in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

3. The subjoined Table I shows in detail the importations into the port of Calcutta and the total clearances of sea-imported salt during the quarter, as compared with the figures of the corresponding quarters of the two previous years:—

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE SUGARCANE CROP OF BENGAL, 1907.

THE following note is published for general information.

E. A. GAIT,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 23rd August 1907.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE SUGARCANE CROP OF BENGAL. 1907.

[On an average of the five years ending 1905-06, the area under sugar-cane in the territory to which this forecast relates has represented some 18·9 per cent. of the total area under this crop in British India.]

Character of the season.—The weather has been generally favourable for the sugarcane crop in all parts of the Province. Planting generally commenced at the normal time. In a few districts want of rain was felt during the period of early growth, and in a few cases the District Officers have reported that damage was done by heavy rain and high wind in June; but so far the season has been on the whole an unusually good one.

Area planted.—Since the publication of last year's final report on this crop, the District Officers of Burdwan, Hooghly, Gaya, Shahabad and Balasore have revised their estimates of the normal area and, in consequence, the provincial total now stands at 438,900 acres against 429,500 acres as shown in 1906. The area planted with sugarcane this year is reported to have been 431,700 acres against 423,500 acres as reported last year (since revised to 424,500 acres). The area under cane has extended slightly in North Bihar, in consequence of the establishment of several sugar factories. The increase in area elsewhere has been due to a favourable season.

Outturn.—From the Appendix it will be seen that the Sonthal Parganas estimates a bumper crop of 119 per cent. Thirteen districts show a normal crop. In nine districts the outturn estimated by the local officers varies from 90 to 99 per cent. Four districts expect a crop from 80 to 85 per cent., and in the remaining six the crop is estimated at 73 to 78 per cent.

According to the estimates of District Officers, the outturn for the Province as a whole works out to 93 per cent. of the normal against 90 per cent. estimated last year. In some cases the local officers have given no reason for the low estimates returned, and in several cases the remarks in column 14 of the returns indicate that a normal outturn may be expected. The estimates have therefore been raised as stated in column 15 of the Appendix. I am of opinion that taking the Province as a whole a normal crop may be expected.

Other sources of gur.—The total quantity of raw sugar prepared from the juice of the date palm is expected to be approximately 1,458,117 cwts., and that from the palmyra palm 58,743 cwts. The chief centre of the preparation of date palm gur is Jessore, but a good deal is also made in Khulna, Nadia, and the 24-Parganas.

The expected outturn is slightly below normal on account of want of rain at the time of planting and owing to the recent heavy rain and storm which slightly damaged the crop in some places. The date of planting was about normal and the present condition of the crop is fair. | |
| | Birbhum ... | 1,121,280 | 776,800 | 9,000 | 8,900 | 8,900 | 75 | (a)75 | 45,571 | 1889 to 1891 and 1906. | 164 | Middle of April. | The area in column 10 has been increased by 7,322 acres on account of the Survey and Settlement of Mowgram, Kendgoria Dubrajpur and Kismat Dubrajpur. There has been want of rain and the outturn is therefore expected to be low. | (a) Probably an underestimate. |
| | Bankura ... | 1,677,440 | 642,800 | 15,000 | 13,800 | 13,600 | 80 | 75 | 14,879 | 1889 to 1902 and 1906. | ... | 20th April | The sugarcane plants suffered for want of rain during May and the first half of June, and again some damage was done to the crops owing to the heavy rains during the second half of June. Hence the outturn is estimated at 75 per cent. The date of planting was normal. | |

Owing to the heavy rainfall during the latter part of June the outturn is not likely to exceed 78 per cent. The date of sowing was normal. In Tamluk a certain area last year under sugarcane has been brought under jute this year. Hence a decrease in the area under cultivation this year. | (a) Possibly an underestimate. |
| | Hooghly ... | 760,960 | 445,940 | 7,200 | 10,600 | 7,000 | 96 | 100 | Not cadastrally surveyed. | | | Middle of February. | On account of timely rainfall a good crop is expected. Some injury has been caused in the Arambagh subdivision by floods. The reduction in the area sown with the crop this year is probably due to the expansion of the area under jute. | |
| | Howrah ... | 336,400 | 250,600 | 8,500 | 8,300 | 8,300 | 97 | (b)97 | ... | ... | ... | 15th November. | The normal area has been raised. The weather has been favourable and the general condition of the crop is good. The date of planting was normal. The area in column 4 has been revised. | (b) 100 will be taken clearly, a normal crop is indicated. |
| PRESIDENCY | 24-Parganas... | 3,160,160 | 1,079,700 | 4,900 | 4,400 | 3,700 | 92 | 80 | ... | ... | ... | | The weather was good for the crop, but the recent cyclone and rain have done some damage; hence the decrease in the outturn as compared with that shewn in last year's forecast. The Subdivisional Officer of Barasat explains that owing to sugarcane proving comparatively less profitable than jute last year, a smaller area, viz., only 800 acres as against 1,500 acres in the past year has been planted this year. Hence the reduction in the area planted with sugarcane this year as compared with last year. The date of planting was normal. | |

Weather seasonable. Condition of the crop so far good. The date of planting was normal. | (a) In view of what the District Officer reports in column 14, a normal crop, or 100 per cent. will be estimated. |
| | Murshidabad | 1,871,520 | 985,500 | 14,700 | 13,600 | 11,500 | 83 | (b)73 | ... | ... | ... | 15th February | The weather has been favourable to the crop. Planting began at the usual time. The decrease in the area sown is apparently due to an extension of the cultivation of rice owing to the higher price commanded by the latter crop. | (b) No reason is given for expecting less than a normal crop; 100 per cent. will therefore be estimated. |
| | Jessore ... | 1,373,000 | 1,191,000 | 15,000 | 10,500 | 9,300 | 74 | 100 | ... | ... | ... | February to March. | The weather was favourable. The condition of the crop is favourable. The outturn is expected to be normal on the whole. Planting was normal. The area cultivated this year is a little less than that of the previous year, as some sugarcane lands have been converted into jute lands. | |

The planting this year was at the normal time. There was insufficient moisture at the time of germination. | (c) Possibly an underestimate. |

General condition good. Planting commenced on the 15th January, which is the normal date.The Subdivisional Officer, Aurangabad has put down 85 per cent. as the estimated outturn of the crop owing to slight damage for want of early rain. This is a low figure. I would put the outturn at 100 per cent.The normal area has been revised. | |

The date of sowing was normal. The figure in column 7 (viz., 39,900 acres) is based on returns which have been collected by police agency. They are un-reliable in that the increase of area under cultivation over last year's area is a matter of public comment, whereas this figure shows a decrease. | * The District Officer will be requested to correct the figures. ## SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL AND IN EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM FOR THE MONTH OF JULY 1907.

The month under report was remarkable for the entire absence of cyclonic storms in the Bay, of which at least two are usually to be expected. Under these circumstances the monthly summary is of a somewhat uninteresting character, and becomes little more than a chronicle of rainfall and temperature. From the 1st to the 4th of the month rain fell over the greater part of the reporting area, while skies were moderately to heavily clouded and temperature was nearly normal. During the week ending on the 11th rain was confined mainly to Eastern Bengal and Assam, except on the last two days, when it became fairly general. Excluding Cherapoonjee, the principal falls recorded during 24 hours were—Jessore 5·67, Bogra 4 and Narayanganj 3·35. During the week ending on the 18th, rainfall was confined chiefly to the northern districts, although precipitation was widespread on the 12th. Cloud was moderate to heavy, and on the first two days weather was cooler than usual in the central districts, but during the rest of the period temperature was nearly normal. Jalpaiguri reported 8·6 inches on the 17th and 9·03 inches on the 18th, but no very heavy falls were recorded elsewhere.

From the 19th to the 25th rain fell in all parts of the area under report, and was particularly heavy on the 19th and 20th in the Rajshahi Division and in South Behar, Dinajpur reporting 5·75 and 3·80 inches on the 19th and 20th and Purnea 5·44 and 2·53 inches on the same days. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded, and temperature was normal except on the 19th and 20th when it was somewhat lower than usual in the north.

During the last week of the month rainfall was very light, but was fairly general on the 28th. A depression commenced to form off the Orissa Coast, but had not developed sufficiently to influence the weather over the Provinces materially before the end of the month.

Summary of Temperature.—Mean temperature was about 2° above normal in Chota Nagpur, about 1° in defect in Assam, and 1° in excess in Orissa. Elsewhere it was not far from normal. The highest temperature recorded was 102·4, and this was reported from Dehri. The lowest was 66·2, and this was reported from Bogra.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Provinces of Bengal and of Eastern Bengal and Assam for the month of July 1907:—

Summary of Rainfall.—The rainfall work of the Province has been placed in the hands of the Director of Agriculture, Bengal, and the usual data regarding the actual and normal rainfall during the month are published by that officer. A short table, however, is attached to this report, giving the rainfall recorded during the month at the head-quarters of the various districts of the Province.

Rainfall was 19 per cent. above normal in Eastern Bengal and Assam and 32 per cent. in defect in Bengal. The largest defects occurred in Orissa (57 per cent.) and Chota Nagpur (41 per cent.).

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; < lightning; K, thunderstorm; g, dark, gloomy; Ꙍ, lunar corona.

(1) The occulting light every ten seconds established in an iron framework tower, 63 feet high, erected on the head of a coral pier on the northern side of the entrance to the harbour, situated at a distance of 410 yards S. 63° E. from the White tomb, shows the following sectors:—red from the bearing of S. 8° W., through west, to N. 85° W. over Wingate reef, white in the fairway from N. 85° W. to N. 55° W., and red over Towartit reef from N. 55° W., through north, to N. 82° E.

CAPE ST. JAMES. A survey of Rams bank shows that the least depth over it is 4¼ fathoms, but it extends to the westward as far as the line of the Cocoanut bay leading lights on which there is a depth of 5¼ fathoms.

A shoal, with a depth of 3½ fathoms over it at low-water, is situated at a distance of 3$\frac{1}{10}$ mils S. 47° W. from cape St. James light-house, but the 2½ fathoms patch shown on the chart 2 cables to the westward of this position does not exist. This shoal extends to the westward as far as the line of the Cocoanut leading lights, there being a depth of 4¾ fathoms on that line at a distance of 3$\frac{1}{10}$ miles from the pier head light.

Depths of 2 fathoms and 2½ fathoms exist at distances of 8$\frac{3}{10}$ miles S. 53° W. and 9½ miles S. 69° W., respectively, from cape St. James light-house, these depths respectively are on the south-eastern and north-western extremities of the shoal shown on the chart. The least depth on the 4¾ fathoms patch shown on the chart about 5¼ miles south-eastward from cape St, James is 4¼ fathoms, which is situated at a distance of 5$\frac{8}{10}$ miles S. 72° E. from cape St. James light-house. This shoal, as delineated by the 5 fathoms contour, extends about 4 cables in an easterly direction, and 11 cables in a N. 75° W. direction from the 4¼ fathoms patch, and is about 2 cables broad.

PERNAMBUCO ROCK. This rock was found and is correctly placed on the charts, but a shoal, with a least depth of 4½ fathoms over it, exists at a distance of 6¼ cables N. 62° W. from the rock. This shoal extends in an easterly and westerly direction.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; g, dark, gloomy; t, thunder; < lightning.

(a) The increases marked (a) under revenue heads of the year 1906-1907 are of a permanent nature.
(1) Construction of a settling tank and purchase of galvanized iron pipes. The object of the present loan is to cover all capital outlay that may be necessary, and this item is likely to cease altogether.
(2) Increase due to purchase of steam coal at a higher rate and in greater quantity. There will be a permanent saving of some Rs. 8,000 annually as soon as the engines for which this loan is being taken are set up.
(3) Plague charges (fluctuating). It is probable that these will decrease.
(b) and (c) Include special grants of Rs. 40,000 and Rs. 10,000 towards improvement of water-works and purchase of centrifugal pumps, etc., respectively.
(4) Figures for 1906-1907 include very low expenditure on road repairs, the average annual cost being Rs. 13,000.
(5) The debenture loan of Rs. 23,000 will be paid off this year, and hence there will be a saving of Rs. 1,320 per annum from 1908-1909.
(6) The debenture loan of Rs. 22,000 will be discharged this year and so payments of Rs. 2,000 into Sinking Funds will cease from 1908-1909.
The total permanent savings available from 1908-1909, vide above, are—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The Council met in the Council Chamber on Saturday, the 7th September, 1907, at 11 A.M.

NEW MEMBERS.

The Hon'ble MR. G. GORDON and the Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI BAHADUR, M.A., B.L., took their seats in Council.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

MAGRAHAT DRAINAGE SCHEME.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked :—

(a) When was the work in connection with the Magrahat Drainage Scheme started in the sub-division of Diamond Harbour? Is there any time specified for the completion of the work?

(b) What progress has been made in the work?

(c) Having regard to the importance of the work, both from agricultural and sanitary point of view, does not the Government think that the work should be expedited and completed as soon as possible and practicable?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"(a) The work in connection with the Magrahat Drainage Scheme was commenced in November, 1904. The answer to the second part of the question is in the negative.

"(b) About one-third of the work has been completed to end of June, 1907.

"(c) The Government recognize the importance of the work, which is being pushed on as quickly as practicable. Pending its completion, satisfactory arrangements have been made to utilize the portion of the work already constructed."

HIGH PRICE OF RICE.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked :—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the alarmingly high price of rice prevailing in the country? How long, in the opinion of the Government, is the present high price likely to continue?

(b) What damage has been done by the last cyclone and consequent flood to the agricultural outturn of the country, both as regards the jute and paddy cultivation, in each district under the Local Government?

If there is a likelihood of a further rise in the price of rice, as is apprehended, does not the Government consider it necessary to take timely steps so that the poor may not die of starvation?

(c) Is the stock of rice and paddy in the province sufficient to meet the demand till the next harvest is reaped? If not, what steps does the Government intend to take to fill up the deficit in the supply?

(d) Having regard to the high price of rice and its tendency to increase, and to the distress it has already entailed upon the salaried Bhadra lok class, will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of raising the rate of grain compensation allowance now paid to the poorly-paid Government servants, and to extend it to all Government servants drawing Rs. 50 or less per mensem?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"(a) The Hon'ble Member's attention is invited to the answer to a question on the same subject given by the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle at the Council Meeting held on the 23rd March, 1907; and to the discussions which took place in connection with the Financial Statement for 1907-08. Further inquiries have since been made regarding the high prices prevailing, and a report has been received from the Director of Agriculture, a copy of which is laid upon the table. It is difficult to say how long the present high prices are likely to continue. There are already some signs of their weakening; and if the season continues to be favourable, it is hoped that a considerable decline will soon occur.

"(b) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the Weekly Weather and Crop Reports which are published in the Calcutta Gazette. Comparatively little damage was caused by the cyclone and consequent flood mentioned in the question. The present agricultural prospects are generally favourable, but somewhat serious floods have just been reported from Cuttack.

"(c) The reports received from District Officers go to show that stocks are sufficient to last till the next harvest.

"(d) It is not considered desirable at present either to raise the rate of the grain compensation allowances or to extend the concession to all Government servants drawing Rs. 50 or less a month."

NOTE ON THE PRESENT HIGH PRICES OF FOOD-GRAINS AND POSSIBLE CAUSES THEREFOR.

THE annexed Statement I shows the average price, in seers per rupee, of common rice, wheat and maize in this Province during the past seven years.

2. Statement II shows the average price of the same food-grains on the 15th of last month as compared with the prices reckoned hitherto as normal for the Province, showing in each case the percentage of increase over the normal price.

3. It will be observed from Statement I that while the average prices varied little from the normal during the six years 1900 to 1905 (inclusive), they suddenly rose in 1906 in a very remarkable manner, this rise becoming accentuated during the current year, till on the 15th of last month the average price of rice (taking this Province as a whole) was 58 per cent. above the previous normal, the price of wheat 26 per cent., and the price of maize 70 per cent. above that normal.

4. This extraordinary rise in the prices of food-grains cannot be ascribed to any single cause. It has not been confined to this Province. Prices have risen all over India; and the rapidity of the rise has attracted attention in other Provinces as well as this. While, then certain reasons may be suggested as having tended to raise prices in this Province, other causes may have operated in other Provinces leading to a similar rise; and with the present facilities of intercommunication between all parts of the country, a general rise of prices in other Provinces must inevitably lead to a corresponding rise in this Province. In this note I propose to discuss the conditions obtaining in this Province that have probably helped towards bringing about this marked increase in the prices of food-grains.

5. The annexed Statement III gives for this Province the normal area cultivated with rice, wheat and maize, the normal rate of yield hitherto adopted, the normal yield, and the area cultivated, percentage of outturn and estimated yield in each of the years 1904-05, 1905-06 and 1906-07. Taking this Province alone, during the three years 1904-05, 1905-06 and 1906-07 there has been a total deficit of 188,148,100 cwts., or 25,60,90,469 maunds in respect of the three crops referred to, or nearly two-thirds of a normal year's produce of the three crops together. It will be observed also from this statement that rice is by far the most important food-crop in this Province. The area under rice, moreover, in the Province forms a large part of the total area under this crop in India. In the case of wheat, the area cultivated in this Province is comparatively small, and the price of wheat over India generally is, therefore, little affected by the conditions in Bengal. Maize also is of very minor importance in this Province. It is chiefly grown in the Bihar districts, where it has during the last two years suffered to an abnormal extent from floods, the produce of the two years 1905-06 and 1906-07 together being estimated as less than the normal produce of a single year. In these districts maize is an important food-staple for several months of the year, and the extraordinary shortage of supply and rise in price would naturally affect the price of rice also. This is evidenced by the large increase in the imports of rice into the Bihar "block." But the great food-staple of this Province is rice, and it may be said to be the only food-staple in respect of which a review of the conditions in this Province alone can be expected to lead to any conclusions of importance. In the case of other food-staples, it would be necessary, before any reliable conclusions could be drawn, to know the conditions that have prevailed in other Provinces, and to collect statistics and information from all parts of India, which it is not possible for me to do. My remarks will necessarily, therefore, be confined chiefly to rice.

6. Statement IV shows the outturn of total rice (autumn, winter and summer) in the two Provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1905 and in 1906, as compared with the normal outturn. This statement shows a deficit for the two years of 27,07,04,040 maunds as compared with the normal outturn. In considering all these figures, however, it must be clearly understood that they were merely estimates: and frequently such estimates are very inaccurate. In order to realize better how very difficult it is to make an accurate estimate of the outturn of crops where the greater portion thereof is consumed by the people themselves locally, and there is no means of checking the estimate by comparison with trade figures (as there is, for instance, in the case of indigo and jute), I would mention that in 1903 a memorandum was drawn up in the Department of Land Records on the subject of the production and consumption of food-grains in Bengal. The result of the elaborate calculations then made was that the total outturn of all food-grains and pulses in the old Province of Bengal amounted to about 21,377,000 tons, or, 58,19,29,444 maunds. The figures for the normal produce of all kinds of rice hitherto accepted show an outturn of 57,57,49,864 maunds for the two Provinces, leaving only 61,79,580 maunds for all other food-grains and pulses. Comparing these figures, it is evident that either the normal outturn of all food-grains and pulses has been under-estimated, or that the normal outturn of rice has been over-estimated. Again, taking the ten years, 1895-96 to 1904-05, I find on adding up the figures for outturn of rice (including paddy converted into rice at the rate of 25 seers of rice to 1 maund of paddy) that the average estimated actual outturn of rice per annum in the two Provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam comes to 44,44,95,314 maunds, as compared with 57,57,49,864 maunds, the figure accepted hitherto as the normal outturn per annum for the two Provinces combined. If the latter figure be adopted as the normal outturn of rice, we would get a gross normal outturn in ten years of 5,75,74,98,640 maunds. Taking the figures of actual outturn as estimated each year, we get a gross actual outturn during the ten years of 4,44,49,53,140 maunds. That is to say, these figures would indicate that during the period of ten years (1895-96 to 1904-05) there was a gross total deficit (as compared with the normal) of 1,31,25,45,500 maunds of rice. This latter figure is more than 2¼ times the estimated normal outturn of all food-grains in the old Province! In the same memorandum referred to above, the total ordinary consumption of food-grains in the old Province of Bengal was estimated to be 54,70,30 555 maunds. Thus the total deficit in the outturn of rice during the ten year period quoted would amount to nearly 2½ times the total ordinary annual consumption of food-grains and pulses in the old Province. I may mention that the estimate of consumption included the consumption for human food, for seed and for cattle food, with a large allowance for wastage. Manifestly these figures are unreliable. However, the figures showing the estimated outturn, year by year, are, at all events, of some comparative value, and it will be seen that they indicate a very large deficiency in the outturn of rice during the past two years.

7. Resorting next to the figures of import and export, so far as they are available, I find that the average total annual imports of rice (and paddy converted into rice) for the ten year period 1895-96 to 1904-05, inclusive, amounted to 13,645,989 cwts.; and that the average annual total exports amounted to 22,888,433 cwts. The excess of exports over the imports of rice thus amounted on the average to 9,242,444 cwts, or 1,25,79,993 maunds per annum. These figures are for the old Province of Bengal before partition and also for the Calcutta port. They include the traffic by rail, by river, coast-wise and foreign.

8. In 1906-07 the imports of rice (including paddy converted into rice) by rail and river into Calcutta amounted to 1,19,28,679 maunds; the imports into the rest of this Province amounted to 41,79,710 maunds. During the same period, the exports from Calcutta by rail and river of rice (including paddy converted into rice) amounted to 79,61,838 maunds, and the exports from the rest of this Province amounted to 1,29,36,967 maunds Thus, so far as rail and river-borne traffic is concerned, the exports slightly exceeded the imports. Primâ facie these figures would seem to indicate that the stock of rice in this Province was more than sufficient for the consumption of the people; but, on the other hand, it must be remembered that the very high prices obtainable for rice may have induced the people to export it and purchase cheaper food-grains.

9. Looking to the Maritime Trade of the Province, I find that during the year 1906-07, 4,040,935 cwts. of rice were exported, as compared with 8,185,155 cwts. in 1905-06 and an average of 6,206,844 cwts. during the five years 1900 to 1905. On the other hand, about 6½ million cwts. of rice were imported in 1906-07, most of which appears to have come from Burma. The total exports of rice (including paddy converted into rice) from this Province to the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam by rail and river during 1906-07, as far as figures can be obtained, seem to have been 70,57,911 maunds; while the total imports of rice into this Province from Eastern Bengal and Assam would seem to have been 15,17, 452 maunds, showing an excess of 55,40,459 maunds in favour of exports. Adding to these the figures for sea-borne trade, the excess of exports of rice from this Province to Eastern Bengal and Assam over imports from Eastern Bengal and Assam into this Province during 1906-07 was 55,54,846 maunds.

10. It has been asked more than once whether the prevailing high prices are due in any way to excessive exports of food-grains. I find from the most recent returns of the Maritime Trade of this Province that while the total exports of food-grains and flour have decreased from an average annual value of 534 lakhs of rupees during the five years 1900 to 1905 to 313 lakhs of rupees in 1906-07, the value of the imports of grain and pulse by coasting trade only rose from 32 lakhs of rupees in 1905-06 to 341 lakhs of rupees in 1906-07. This very remarkable increase in imports in 1906-07 is due almost wholly to imports of rice from Burma.

11. Taking the figures for the whole of India recently published by the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence, it will be seen that the total exports of rice abroad during the year 1906-07 amounted to 38,704,000 cwts. as compared with 43,037,000 cwts. in 1905-06 and an average of 47,324,000 cwts. during the three years 1902-03 to 1904-05. Not only did the exports of rice from the whole of India decrease, but the exports of wheat, of food-grains other than rice and wheat and of provisions also fell considerably in 1906-07. These facts show conclusively that the rise in prices is not due to increased exports.

12. Another set of figures which I have been able to obtain from the office of the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence shows that the total imports of rice and paddy (converted into rice) into the Calcutta block by all routes during the year 1906-07 was 2,01,85,819 maunds as compared with 1,78,07,359 maunds in 1905-06, and 1,53,34,225, maunds in 1904-05, while the exports amounted to 1,50,01,855 maunds in 1906-07 as compared with 1,53,17,323 maunds in 1905-06 and 1,28,91,041 maunds in 1904-05 (vide Statement V appended).

13. Statement VI appended shows the imports of all food-grains into the old Province of Bengal as it stood before partition by all routes during the years 1901-02 to 1905-06 and the imports into the present Province of Bengal during the year 1906-07. Unfortunately the figures in respect of Eastern Bengal and Assam for the latter year are not yet available.

14. The figures showing the imports of rice from Burma into Bengal and into Eastern Bengal and Assam during the year 1906-07 are, however, available. They show that 5,530,816 cwts. were imported during 1906-07 into Bengal, as compared with 273,299 cwts. in 1905-06, and 4,780,119 cwts. were imported into Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1906-07, as compared with 531,097 in 1905 06; or a total of 10,310,935 cwts. were imported into the two Provinces as compared with 804,396 cwts. in the previous year. The trade statistics show that most of the rice imported into this Province from Burma was re-exported to Eastern Bengal and Assam, i.e., merely passed through Calcutta. The increased imports from Burma amounted in quantity to 9,506,539 cwts., and in value to Rs. 4,41,69,858.

15. Statement VIII shows the trade in rice between the different trade-blocks of the Province during the past five years: the figures up to 1905-06 refer to the old Province (before partition); the figures for 1906 07 refer to the present Province of Bengal. It will be observed from this statement that considerable change in the movements of rice has taken place during the past two years, more especially in 1906-07, the most marked feature being the sudden increase in exports from the Western Bengal and Orissa "blocks" and the large increase in imports last year into the Eastern Bengal and Bihar "blocks." The figures corroborate generally the local estimates of the outturn of the paddy crops. It will be noticed that while Chota Nagpur generally imports rice, in 1906-07 it exported much more than it imported. Local enquiries show that where exports exceeded imports, the rice was sent either to Calcutta, or to Eastern Bengal and Assam districts by more direct routes. Owing to a succession of bad harvests, Bihar had to import rice from Bengal as well as other food-grains from the United Provinces and the Panjab.

16. It has also been asserted in certain quarters that the rise in prices is due to the reduction in the area cultivated with rice, in consequence of the increase in the area cultivated with jute. The figures in Statement VII appended will show how little foundation there is for this assertion. Although the total area under jute in the two Provinces has increased during the past six years by more than one million acres, there has been no corresponding decrease in the area under rice. In fact, the tendency during the same six years has on the whole, so far as the returns show, been for the area under rice to increase. The figures for rice for the last year of the period were somewhat exceptional, and were due to an unfavourable season, to want of rain at sowing time and to floods later on. There is moreover, I may mention, evidence to show that the practice of growing winter paddy after jute on the same land is slowly gaining ground.

17. There is one matter, however, in connection with the cultivation of jute that calls for special attention, that is the remarkable rise in the prices paid for the produce of last year's crop as compared with the prices paid in previous years. Statement IX shows for the last three years the estimated area under jute, the estimated outturn, the estimated average wholesale price at Calcutta and the estimated value of the produce according to these rates. The figures of value must of course be regarded as only approximately correct. They would go to show that the total value at Calcutta of the produce of jute cultivation rose from Rs. 20,09,38,412 in 1904-05 to Rs. 26,88,07,770 in 1905-06 and to Rs. 41,31,35,843 in 1906-07. The Director-General of Commercial Intelligence, in his review of the Trade of India in 1906-07, makes the following remarks in this connection:—

"A careful estimate of the sums paid to cultivators for jute in the different districts shows the total farm value to have been some forty crores of rupees, of which about fifteen and-a-half crores were clear profit And a marked rise in the selling price of one form of produce induces a rise in the prices of all crops for which it can be readily substituted. Whereas Bengal, together with Eastern Bengal and Assam, imported rice to a value exceeding that of the previous year by Rs. 441·7 lakhs, they together exported raw jute exceeding the previous year's record by Rs. 968·9 lakhs."

18. These figures alone are, in my opinion, sufficient to account in a very large measure for a general rise in the prices of food-grains so far as this Province and the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam are concerned. The unusual access of ready cash must have enabled all connected with the cultivation of jute to raise their standard of living, to purchase more food and to pay higher prices for it. The area under jute in this Province last year was only about 23 per cent. of the total area under jute in the two Provinces. All the most important jute-growing districts have been transferred to the new Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam. It would be very interesting to see whether the principal jute-growing districts in that Province had taken the largest part of the imports of rice, as might be expected from the ready money at the disposal of the cultivators therein; but the figures of imports and exports for each district of that Province are not available to me. I have drawn up a statement showing the imports and exports of food-grains in respect of the chief jute-growing districts in this Province. No very definite conclusions can be drawn from the figures therein, but it will be noticed that, with the exception of the district of Murshidabad, in all the districts in which more than 20,000 acres were under jute last year, the imports of food-grains were largely in excess of the exports (vide Statement X).

19. The Director of Agriculture, Eastern Bengal and Assam, in a note of which he has sent me a copy, suggests that the principal causes that have affected the price of rice in 1906 and the current year in that Province may be placed in order of importance as follows:—

(1) The partial failure of the winter rice crop of 1905-06 which reduced the total outurn to about two-thirds of the normal, equivalent to a deficiency of $5\frac{1}{2}$ crores of maunds, which was followed by

(2) a similar partial failure of the autumn crop of 1906, equivalent to a further deficiency of $1\frac{1}{4}$th crores of maunds (estimating $9\frac{1}{2}$ maunds of rice as the normal outturn per acre).

(3) The large profits obtained by the cultivators from jute.

(4) The dislike for Burma rice.

20. I have consulted all the District Officers in this Province on the subject. The consensus of opinion thus obtained indicates that the following causes have combined to raise prices in this Province:—

(1) The short outturn of the harvests of the past two years.
(2) Large exports to Eastern Bengal and Assam direct and to Calcutta.
(3) The large profits made by the cultivation of jute.
(4) A general rise in the standard of living among the people.

21. It has been suggested that the result has to some extent been brought about by a spread of combination among the grain dealers all over the country. Of this it is, as will be readily understood, difficult to obtain any direct evidence. But many District Officers suspect that such combination has influenced the market to some extent. In this connection a reference is invited to the figures in Statement V, which show that a much larger quantity of rice has been held up in Calcutta during the past year, as compared with previous years. There can be little doubt, I think, that the greatly increased facilities in communication by rail enable the big dealers and merchants to control a larger proportion of the grain trade of the country. My own experience in the mufassal has been that much of the grain trade that used to be carried on locally between the actual cultivators, middlemen and the grain dealers in the local mufassal bazars, and used not to go beyond these parties, has now come under the control of large capitalists at more important centres. Instances have come to my notice of agents of such capitalists and of Calcutta firms penetrating into rural tracts where they were unheard of ten or twenty years ago, and buying up surplus stocks of grain before even the dealers in the nearest towns could make a bid. The influence, moreover, of large transactions in grain must necessarily now spread further and more rapidly than before. Modern conditions, in fact, tend more and more to form a world-wide market to expose the grain markets of this country to international influences; and this phase of the economic development of this country has no doubt largely contributed to a general rise in the prices of food-grains. These considerations seem to lead to the conclusion that the rise must to some degree be permanent. Other causes may be more or less temporary in their operation.

22. Conclusions.—So far as this Province is concerned, I am of opinion that the following causes have tended, or are tending, to raise the price of food-grains:—

(1) The poor outurn of the harvests of food-grains during the last three years, more especially of the rice harvests; and in particular the very large deficit in the produce of rice in the districts of Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1905-06 and in 1906-07 The result of this deficiency in the staple food-grain of the people, combined with the fact that the buying power of a large proportion of that people had enormously increased for the reason stated under head (2) below, was that an unprecedented demand arose for rice, that prices went up accordingly, and that large quantities of rice were exported from this Province to Eastern Bengal and Assam. The exceptionally high prices, further, induced those who had stores of rice in this Province to sell whatever they could, keeping only the minimum required to carry them on till the next harvest.

(2) The rapid rise in the price of jute of late years, especially the extraordinarily high prices paid for the crop of 1906. It has been estimated that at least 40 crores of rupees were paid for jute into the two Provinces, of which 15½ crores were clear profit. I believe it to be possible that the profits were even larger than this estimate. The consequences of this access of ready cash must have been felt in more directions than one. It must have enabled all who shared it to raise their standard of living, to purchase more of the food they relished most, (e.g. rice and fish), and to pay more for such food. It must also have enabled them to retain stocks of rice that would otherwise have come on to the open market, and this withholding of stocks would also tend to keep up prices. These conclusions are in my opinion strongly corroborated by the fact shown in the note by the Director of Agriculture, Eastern Bengal and Assam, already referred to, that the demand in that Province was chiefly for rice of better quality, and that a "dislike for Burma rice" was manifested. Throughout the price for Burma rice continued to be low, and yet it is believed that a fairly large proportion of the stock imported remained in the hands of the dealers. In fact, Mr. Hart writes:—"Had it not been for the profits from jute cultivation there would have been an overwhelming demand for the cheapest kind of rice, and the country would have been flooded with Burma grain."

(3) A general rise in the standard of living all over the Province, of which there is abundant evidence in many directions, for instance, in dress, in the adoption of what would in the case of the ordinary peasant in former days have been called luxuries, such as smoking, the general use of umbrellas and of shoes, travelling short distances by rail instead of walking, etc., etc. There is also evidence to show that the habit of eating rice instead of coarser grains is also extending. In many rural tracts of Bihar and Chota Nagpur the lowest classes seldom had a meal of rice, but what with migration to the tea districts and the mills in Lower Bengal, and with the advent of railways and the spread of intercommunication between all parts of the Province, even those classes are known to be taking to eating rice. No doubt, the operation of this cause has been more gradual, extending over many years.

(4) The wider influence of the large grain merchants, and the opening up of the rural markets of this country to the world's market, in consequence of rapidly increasing facilities of communication. It is possible that the same cause had led to greater combination among the big grain dealers.

(5) Contemporary conditions in other Provinces that have helped to bring about a general rise in the prices of food-grains all over India.

(6) It is possible, too, that the result may, in the case of the New Province, be due in some degree to the consequence of the so-called Swadeshi movement and the political agitation being carried on. I think, however, that this cause has not operated to any appreciable extent in this Province.

23. Whether over-minting of coinage has in any way contributed to the present state of prices I am not in a position to offer an opinion.

CASE OF GOBIND RUTH.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked:—

Is it a fact that one Gobind Ruth of the Banki Government Estate in Orissa memorialized Government in November last accusing the tahsildar of that estate of bribery, as Judicial and Executive Officer, and various other acts of alleged oppression?

Is it a fact that the said Gobind Ruth submitted a petition to Government in May last in which he makes the following allegations:—

(a) that all documentary evidence bearing on the charges against the tashildar was forcibly seized and removed from his (the petitioner's) house by the Collector's Sheristadar before any inquiry was held;

(b) that the witnesses who deposed against the tahsildar were maltreated by the Police and oppressed by the tahsildar, being made to walk through villages with their faces painted black and white, dunce caps over their heads and tom-tom playing before them;

(c) that the petitioner, when he went to the Collector, was arrested and kept in hajat for three days, although the bail demanded from him was forthwith offered;

(d) that the prosecutions under section 182, Indian Penal Code, were instituted against him at the instance of the Collector, both of which were quashed by the Hon'ble High Court?

Is it a fact that, subsequent to the High Court's order, another prosecution under section 182, Indian Penal Code, has been instituted against him on the same facts?

Has Government made, or does it propose to make, any inquiries into the allegations against the Tahsildar and the conduct of the Collector, as complained of? If inquiries have been made, will the Government kindly state what is the result of the inquiries?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"It will be convenient if I answer together the four questions of the Hon'ble Member, regarding Gobind Ruth's case. Gobind Ruth submitted a memorial accusing the tahsildar of the Banki Government Estate of bribery. The memorial was sent to the Commissioner for investigation. A judicial inquiry was held by the District Magistrate, who found the allegations to be false and directed Gobind Ruth to be prosecuted under section 182, Indian Penal Code. The High Court were moved, with the result that the proceedings were quashed, on the ground that that section was not applicable. The tahsildar has now obtained permission to prosecute Gobind Ruth for libel. A second petition has been received from Gobind Ruth and sent to the Commissioner for inquiry."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked:—

Is the Collector the same officer who was removed from Puri in connection with certain highhanded proceedings against the Raja of Puri?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"The Collector was Mr. Garrett, who was Collector of Puri at the time of the incident referred to."

JUDGMENTS IN CERTAIN MUNICIPAL CASES.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked:—

Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the judgments of the Criminal Revisional Bench of the High Court in—

(a) Chuni Lal Dutt versus Corporation of Calcutta (reported in the Calcutta Weekly Notes, Vol. XI, Nos. 1 and 2), in which the Municipal Magistrate, after having imposed a fine of Rs. 40, passed an order for the demolition of a room in a building for "having slightly altered the position of a wall in the construction of the room" on a mere "arbitrary exercise of discretion," as observed by their Lordships (Mitra and Holmwood, J.J.), who, in setting aside the order, also said:— "There is nothing in the decision of the Magistrate to indicate that he judicially considered any grounds for the exercise of the discretion vested in him by the law," and "we have no hesitation in pronouncing that the order is erroneous."

(b) Abinash Ch. Ganguly versus Corporation of Calcutta, in which the Magistrate inflicted a daily fine upon the owner of the bustee land in 82 and 83, Ripon Street, for failure to make certain bustee improvements in the said premises though the land had ceased to be a bustee land at the time of the conviction, as held by their Lordships (Mitra and Fletcher, J.J.), who set aside the sentence.

Do not the judgments tend to show that for more satisfactory administration of justice in Municipal cases and to secure the confidence of the public in it, the Municipal Magistrate should be appointed on a higher salary from the class of trained lawyers, who are better fitted to discharge the duties of a judicial officer than the members of the Executive Service, much of whose time is spent in Executive work and most of whose experience is confined to the Mufassal; and will the Government be pleased to give this important matter its best consideration?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied:—

"The Government has noticed the two cases referred to in the first question, and they have not produced the impression indicated in the second question of the Hon'ble Member."

SALARIES OF MINISTERIAL OFFICERS.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked:—

In regard to the salaries of ministerial officers, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor was pleased to observe at the last Budget debate that the Government was awaiting the reply of the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court, whom it had consulted on the report of the Committee; will the Government kindly state whether the opinion of the Hon'ble High Court has been received on the subject? If not, when does the Government expect to receive it, and when will the final order on the subject be issued?

The Hon'ble MR. McINTOSH replied:—

"The opinion of the High Court has been received and has been submitted to the Government of India with the recommendations of this Government."

SUPPLY OF FILTERED WATER IN GAYA.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

Considering the frequent recurrence of plague of a virulent type and of other epidemics in the town of Gaya, which is an important centre of Hindu pilgrimage, will the Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken for the supply of pure water to the town? Is any scheme for the supply of filtered or pure water to the town under consideration? If so, when is it likely to be given effect to? Is any sum raised by public subscription for the above purpose now in deposit? If so, what is the amount so held?

Does the Government consider the present system of road-watering and cleaning the town adequate? If not, what steps have the local authorities taken, or are taking, for providing a better drainage and conservancy for the town and for watering its roads?

The Hon'ble MR. McINTOSH replied:—

"(a) A scheme of water-supply has been approved by Government. A copy of the Government order is laid on the table for the information of the Hon'ble Member..

"(b) Government has no special information about the system of road-watering and conservancy. But it is understood that a drainage scheme is about to be prepared."

UNDETECTED MURDER IN PANDOO.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

Is the Government aware that the murder last year of a Kainya in Pandoo, in the district of Palamau, has remained undetected, and that this year also four persons were found dead in the jungles of that place with gunshot wounds on their bodies? Will the Government be pleased to state what has been done by the local authorities to detect the murderers? Has Government any information as to how these four murders this year were caused? Will the Government be pleased to place early on the table all the information it has on the subject?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"The local officers have received no report either of the murder of a Kainya in Pandoo last year or of the four gunshot murders alleged to have occurred there this year. It is almost certain that information would have been received had the murders really occurred, but further inquiries will be made if the Hon'ble Member will give us the source of his information."

MEMORIAL FOR TRANSFERRING CIVIL AND CRIMINAL BUSINESS OF PALAMAU.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

Is the Government aware that since 1902 certain memorialists of Palamau and Gaya districts, headed by Babu Prakash Chandra Sarkar, Zamindar of Gaya and Talukdar of Palamau, have been memorializing the Government and the Lord Chief Justice of Bengal for placing the Civil and Criminal business of the district of Palamau under Gaya district and under the Divisional Commissioner of Patna, on the ground of convenience to the public and saving of expenditure to the Government, as shown in the memorials, which were also noticed by the local papers of Calcutta and Patna? In view of a proposal to constitute two Commissionerships in the Patna Division as it exists at present, will the Government be pleased to take into consideration the recommendations of the Acting Chief Justice of Bengal and of Mr. R. R. Pope, the late Judicial Commissioner of Ranchi, in that respect, as also to consider on general grounds the advisability of placing the Civil and Criminal business of the district of Palamau under the District and Sessions Judge of Gaya?

Will the Government be pleased to state what has been done in the above matter since 1903, when Government was questioned on the subject by the Hon'ble Dr. Ashutosh Mukherjee?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied:—

"The Government has from time to time received memorials from Babu Prakash Chandra Sarkar and others in favour of placing the Civil and Criminal business of the Palamau district under the Judge of Gaya instead of the Judicial Commissioner of Chota Nagpur. The Lieutenant-Governor has considered this proposal in all its bearings, and has come to the conclusion that the change suggested would not on the whole be for the benefit of the people of the Palamau district.

"The circumstances are practically unaltered since Government replied to a question on the subject in 1905 by the Hon'ble Dr. Ashutosh Mukherjee."

SALARY COMMISSION'S REPORT.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked:—

Will the Government be pleased to say whether the opinion of the High Court on the Salary Commission's Report has been received and whether it is now in a position to pass final orders on the matter?

[The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"This question has already been answered."]

PENSION RULES OF PROVINCIAL JUDICIAL SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked:—

Has the Government come to any final decision about the relaxing of the Pension Rules of the Provincial Judicial Service to which its attention was drawn by questions asked in this Council before?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied:—

"The question referred to is still under the consideration of the Government of India."

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked:—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the fact that the great and beneficient measure which will have far-reaching results announced in the Calcutta Gazette of the 28th August last of instituting technical degrees in mechanical engineering, electrical engineering and mining, on the lines of European Universities, is incomplete without degrees in industrial chemistry, including tincturial chemistry, which was included in the scheme framed by the Committee appointed by the Government for the purpose of preparing a scheme for technical education? Will the Government be pleased to mention the reason of the omission?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to say whether it is prepared to confirm what was stated by the Director of Public Instruction in his letter to me, dated the 6th of April, 1907, which was published in the newspapers with his permission that the instruction for the degrees mentioned above in the classes of the Sibpur Engineering College would be, so far as the conditions of this country admit, on a par with instruction imparted in similar classes in Europe?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to say whether it intends to take any measures for the teaching of ceramics?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to say what steps it intends to take about the teaching of the rearing of silk-worms, and reeling, weaving and dyeing of silk?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied:—

"(a) A scheme has been submitted to the Government of India for the opening of classes at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, in technological chemistry and in dyeing and the chemistry of dyeing, and is still under consideration.

"(b) It is proposed that the instruction imparted in these classes shall be on a par with that imparted in Europe as far as local conditions permit.

"(c) On the teaching of ceramics, Government is not yet prepared to make a pronouncement.

"(d) The question of rearing of silk-worms and reeling, weaving and dyeing of silk is under the consideration of the Director of Agriculture."

SILTING UP OF THE RIVER GORAI.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked :—

Has the Government received an application from the inhabitants of the sub-division of Kushtia proposing certain measures about preventing the silting up of the river Gorai, and will the Government be pleased to make an inquiry into their feasibility?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"Applications have been received from the inhabitants of Kushtia sub-division asking that some steps may be taken to improve the channel of the Gorai river at its offtake from the Ganges. The matter has been carefully inquired into, and the petitioners have been informed that it is not practicable to do anything to improve the present conditions."

DREDGING OF THE ATHARABANKA.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked :—

With reference to a question put by me on 12th January last in the Council, the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal informed me, by a letter dated the 4th of April, 1907, that when the channel through the Madaripur bhil had been dredged, it would probably be necessary to do some dredging also in the Atharabanka. Will the Government be pleased to say what has been done in the matter and by what time the work may be taken up?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"The dredger which is to be used for deepening the channel through the Madaripur bil has not yet been completed. It is expected that she will commence dredging in November next. Efforts will be made to preserve the same depth of water in the Atharabanka as in the channel through the bil, and the dredger will be used there when necessary. The Atharabanka does not at present need dredging, as very little silt was deposited last year."

DRAINAGE SCHEME OF JESSORE.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked :—

Will the Government be pleased to say what progress has been made about making the scheme for the drainage of the district of Jessore, which, I was informed in answer to a question put by me on a previous occasion, was in course of preparation by a Committee appointed for the purpose? By what time any decision on the matter may be expected and when it is probable action may be taken?

The Hon'ble MR. MCINTOSH replied :—

"Notifications were issued last May under the Sanitary Drainage Act appointing Drainage Commissioners. The Commissioners have not submitted their preliminary scheme and estimate yet. They will be asked to expedite it."

PROPOSED TRANSFER OF KALIGANJ THANA.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked :—

Has the Government received a representation by some of the inhabitants of thana Kaliganj protesting against the transfer of that thana from the Sadar sub-division of Jessore to the sub-division of Jhenida? Will the Government be pleased to consider the reasons given by the petitioners against the change?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"The representation referred to by the Hon'ble Member has been received. The reasons urged by the petitioners against the change were considered by Government before the orders for the transfer of the thana were passed.

"The orders were passed after consulting the Commissioner and Collector and the Inspector-General of Police as to executive work and the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court as to judicial work, and after considering all the opinions available."

DARJEELING MURDER CASE.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

The Government was pleased in answer to a question put by the Hon'ble Mr. J. Chaudhuri at the meeting of the Council held on the 18th August, 1906, to state that its attention had been drawn to the judgment of the High Court in the Darjeeling murder case and the comments therein on the conduct of the Police in connection with the case, and that full consideration would be given to the matter with a view to the issue of such orders as might appear to be advisable :—

(i) Will the Government be pleased to state what action has been taken by the Government in the matter ?

(ii) Has the Government noticed (a) that the confession of Gumandhoz, wood-cutter, acquitted by the Sessions Judge, was taken at 2 A.M. at the house of the District Superintendent of Police, the man being handcuffed and held by two constables with a rope round his waist ; (b) that Bhim Doyal, the police officer, was described both by the Sessions Judge and the High Court as "unscrupulous ;" (c) that prosecution witnesses were kept either in hajat or in jail?

(iii) Has the Government been able to find out under whose orders the blood-stained articles were destroyed before the investigation was made over to the unscrupulous Bhim Doyal ?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"1. A careful inquiry was made into all the circumstances of the case and a full report was submitted to the Government of India.

"2. (a) After the finding of the kukri in Gumandhoz's house, he and Panche were taken to Darjeeling. A statement made by Panche was recorded by the Deputy Commissioner at the District Superintendent's house at about 1 A.M. on the 20th, and subsequently a statement made by Gumandhoz was recorded. Gumandhoz was held by two constables while he made his statement. He seems to have been handcuffed and to have had a rope round his waist, but the District Superintendent and Inspector Bhim Doyal were not present at the time. Mr. Garrett, in his evidence before the committing Magistrate, said that he considered that the confession of Gumandhoz had been voluntarily made, and that Gumandhoz showed no signs of speaking otherwise than voluntarily. On this point the evidence of Ulfat Hussain, Mr. Garrett's peshkar, may also be referred to. It may be that Mr. Garrett would have been better advised if he had waited till the morning before recording these statements and had dispensed with the presence of the constables in charge of Gumandhoz. On the other hand, any delay would have involved the two men being longer in the custody of the police before their statements were recorded, and as regards Gumandhoz being guarded by constables, it must be remembered he was under suspicion of having committed a violent crime.

"(b) The Sessions Judge used the expression 'injudicious' in regard to certain proceedings of Inspector Bhim Doyal. He did not call him unscrupulous, and nowhere in his judgment did he arrive at the conclusion that the police had in fact been guilty of malpractices. On the other hand, he said he did not believe the allegation that Gumandhoz was maltreated. The High Court described Bhim Doyal as unscrupulous; but it must be remembered that he was not on his trial, and that he had no opportunity of rebutting the accusations made against him by the Counsel for the accused. There is nothing on the record which would justify a positive finding that the police were guilty of discreditable action. The case was a very serious one, and the Inspector acted throughout under the close personal supervision of the Deputy Commissioner and the Superintendent of Police, with whose full knowledge and approval every step in the inquiry which he conducted appears to have been taken. In the opinion of Government, after careful inquiry, the Inspector is free from all blame.

"(c) The detention of one witness (Panche) in custody was due to an order of the Deputy Commissioner. According to his own statement he was almost, if not quite, an accomplice. He made no complaint of ill-usage or of being forced to say anything which he did not wish to say. The arrest of another witness (Manilal) was due to the fact that having been an occupant of Dharam Singh's house on the night of the murder, he was at first regarded as a possible abettor. The Deputy Commissioner himself was responsible for his detention. A third witness (Jangi) says he was detained at the thana for eight days, but this is denied by the police and the statement is uncorroborated.

"3. It was under the Deputy Commissioner's orders that the druggets and other blood-stained articles in Mr. Goss's bed-room were burned. He passed this order on his arrival at the scene of the murder on the 19th February, 1906, because they smelled. This was an unfortunate and ill-advised step, but no suspicion can attach to it."

BLOCK OF PROMOTION IN PROVINCIAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

Is it not the fact that owing to the policy followed since the partition of retaining in the Provincial Executive Service of Bengal a large proportion of European and Eurasian officers, and of native officers of the province, nearly one-third the number of such officers from their relative places in the grades have been transferred from each grade to Eastern Bengal and Assam, and there has consequently been a depreciation in the reasonable expectations of promotion amongst officers remaining in Bengal? If so, will the Government please consider the propriety of bettering their prospects of promotion, similarly as the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam are doing with respect to the Assistant District Superintendents of Police serving in that province?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"The principle followed at the Partition was to transfer to Eastern Bengal and Assam a proportionate number of appointments in each grade of the Provincial Service. In practice, however, it was not found possible in all cases to transfer from each grade a number of officers equal to the number of appointments transferred. Officers preferred to remain in this province even though they lost promotion by so doing. The result, at the separation of the cadres in February, 1906, was a slight temporary dislocation of promotion and a certain inequality in favour of officers in Eastern Bengal and Assam. But, when the increase in the cadre of Deputy Collectors was sanctioned, with effect from April, 1906, a large number of promotions was made which more than compensated for any loss caused by the separation of the cadres."

ADDITIONS TO CADRE OF PROVINCIAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

Was it not the removal of the existing block in promotion one of the objects in making additions to the cadre of the Provincial Executive Service, and will the Government please make a statement showing how far the appointments, since made, have served to remove the block in promotion, especially in the first four grades?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

" The Hon'ble Member's attention is drawn to the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle's reply of 12th January, 1907, to a question by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose. It was not one of the objects of Government in making additions to the cadre of the Provincial Executive Service in 1906 to remove the alleged block in promotion. The extra appointments were distributed amongst the various grades according to the scale adopted in 1901."

PROMOTIONS IN PROVINCIAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

(a) With reference to the Press communiqué made by the Government on the 30th January last relating to promotions in the Provincial Executive Service, notified in the Calcutta Gazette of that date, will the Government be pleased to make public its reasons for selecting officers for promotion to the vacancies caused by the increase in the cadre in the first four grades, " by a more rigorous method of selection than is usually made " ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is aware that this system of promotion differs from that adopted by the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam in filling up such vacancies in these grades of their service ?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"(a) As stated in the Press communiqué, no member of the service had a right to be promoted to vacancies caused by the increase in the cadre. It was thus possible to reward officers of special merit without interfering with the legitimate expectations of promotion entertained by other members of the service.

"(b) The answer is in the negative."

APPOINTMENT OF EUROPEAN AND EURASIAN OFFICERS IN PROVINCIAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle's reply to the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose's question in this Council meeting of the 12th of January last and of his reply to the question put by myself on the same subject in this Council meeting of the 23rd March last, will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the appointments recently made (1) of European and (2) of Eurasian officers in each of the several grades of the Provincial Executive Service, on the grounds respectively of (a) " exceptional merit " and (b) of " special qualifications " required in strengthening the service, first in filling up the existing vacancies and secondly in filling vacancies caused by additions to the cadre ?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

" Excluding probationers, seven Europeans and Eurasians were appointed last year to the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, viz., five European officers to the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, respectively, and two Eurasian officers to the seventh and eighth grades respectively.

" The officers appointed in the fourth to the seventh grades were selected on the ground of special qualifications. They already held appointments carrying a rate of pay which made it necessary to place them in the grades mentioned above. The officers appointed in the eighth grade were promoted from Sub-Deputy Collectorships on the ground of exceptional merit.

" All these appointments were made to fill vacancies caused by the increase of the cadre."

PROMOTION BY SPECIAL SELECTION OF MERIT.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

Is the Government aware that the rules of 1893 (subsequently extended to apply to all branches of the Provincial Civil Service) relative to promotion to grades above Rs. 400 in the Provincial Executive Service, by special selection of merit without regard to seniority alone, were not made to apply retrospectively, and therefore ought not to apply to officers appointed before 1893, especially to such as entered under the existing rules of competition?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"It was the recognized practice even before 1893 to appoint to the higher grades only officers 'of special merit and ability.' The rules of 1893 were intended to apply to all officers then in the service."

APPOINTMENT TO HIGHER GRADES IN PROVINCIAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

Will the Government be pleased to state how the appointment of European and Eurasian officers from outside directly to the higher grades of the Provincial Executive Service is likely to strengthen the service; and will it lay on the table a statement showing the number of such officers employed during the last 20 years in (1) the Judicial branch of the Provincial Service and (2) in the difficult Executive and Revenue branches of the Executive Service, namely, the Excise, the Income-tax, the Batwara, the Treasury, thé Settlements, Land Acquisition, Khas-mahals and Wards ?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"The appointment of several Europeans and Eurasians from outside directly to the higher grades of the Provincial Executive Service strengthened the service because the persons appointed had already shown their capacity for work in other responsible appointments. As explained in reply to another question, it was necessary to offer them a higher salary than that of the lowest grade in order to induce them to join the service. The collection of the information asked for in the second part of the question would require an expenditure of time and trouble for which the results obtained would apparently not compensate; and Government does not consider it necessary to collect it."

RESTRICTIONS TO EMPLOYMENT IN PROVINCIAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

Will the Government, in conformity with its declared policy, take steps to restrict in future the more extended employment in the Provincial Executive Service of Europeans and Eurasians, especially those who are not domiciled in this country ?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"Government has no intention of increasing the proportion of Europeans and Eurasians employed in the Provincial Service. As far as possible, new appointments of Europeans will be made from amongst those who are domiciled in India."

FLOGGING OF SUSIL KUMAR SEN.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

(a) Has the attention of Government been called to the order of Mr. Kingsford, the Chief Presidency Magistrate of Calcutta, sentencing Susil Kumar Sen, a boy of respectable parentage of the age of 15 years, for having assaulted a European policeman ?

(b) Has the attention of Government been called to the circumstance that the Pleader for the accused applied to the Magistrate to direct that the sentence should be carried out in Court in the way of school discipline, and that the Magistrate refused to do so, and ordered the boy to be whipped in jail, where whipping is administered on the bare buttocks by placing the accused on the triangle?

(c) Has the attention of Government been called to the fact that the Pleader for the accused wanted to place the Circular of the High Court before the Magistrate if he would give him a minute's time, and that the Magistrate refused to grant this time, and left the Court.

(d) Has the attention of Government been called to the fact that the Circular was immediately after taken by the Pleader to the Magistrate's chambers and shown to him, but the Magistrate refused to be guided by the Circular or to comply therewith?

(e) Is the Government aware that the order passed by the Chief Presidency Magistrate and the mode of its execution have created a deep and widespread feeling of resentment?

(f) Will the Government be pleased to consider the effect on the public mind of such a sentence inflicted upon a young lad of respectable parentage, having regard to the present state of feeling in the country and to issue instructions as to the mode in which a sentence of whipping is to be administered to young lads of respectable parentage?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied :—

"The attention of Government was called to the newspaper reports of this case on which the Hon'ble Member seems to have based his question. Inquiry has shown that these reports are inaccurate in several important details which are included in the question.

"The order of the Magistrate was passed in his judicial capacity in the exercise of a discretion which he has under the rules, and on his exercise of which in individual cases it is undesirable that the Executive Government should express an opinion.

"There is no necessity for the issue of any general instructions; as the orders of Government included by the High Court in its Rules on the subject, are quite clear and adequate."

THE CALCUTTA PORT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1907.

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKE moved that the Bill to amend the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, be taken into consideration by the Council. He said :—

"It is needless, I think, to make any remarks on the details of the Bill, as they are given fully in the Statement of Objects and Reasons.

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 2.

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKE also moved that after clause 2 of the Bill the following be inserted :—

"3. For sub-section (1) of section 20 of the said Act, the following shall be substituted, namely :—

Form and transferability of debentures.

'20. (1) All debentures which are issued under the authority of this Act shall be in such form as the Commissioners, with the previous consent of the Governor General in Council, shall from time to time determine.

(2) The holder of any debenture in any form duly authorized under this section may obtain in exchange therefor, upon such terms as the Commissioners shall from time to time determine, a debenture in any other form so authorized.

(3) Every debenture issued by the Commissioners shall be transferable in such manner as shall be therein expressed.'

"and the existing sub-section (2) shall be re-numbered sub-section (4)."

He said :—"My reason for asking that this amendment may be inserted in the Bill is that the necessity exists of enabling the Port Trust to demand other markets than the local markets, the present form of Debenture not being suitable for the home market. The provisions of the proposed new sub-section are the same as those contained in the Bombay Port Trust Act of 1879, with this difference that the sanction here to be obtained is that of the Governor General in Council; whereas in the Bombay Port Trust Act it is the Local Government. I trust this proposal may commend itself to Hon'ble Members of this Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 5.

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKE also moved that after the present clause 5 of the Bill, the following clause be inserted :—

"In sub-section (1) of section 91 of the said Act, for the word 'Third' the word 'Second' shall be substituted."

He said :—"This is merely a consequential amendment following what has already been approved by the Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 8.

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKE also moved that for clause 8 of the Bill the following be substituted :—

"The Second Schedule to the said Act is hereby repealed, and the existing 'Third Schedule' shall be re-numbered 'Second Schedule.'"

He said :—"This is also a mere consequential amendment."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKE also moved that the numbering of the clauses of the Bill be altered in accordance with the foregoing changes.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKE also moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1907.

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts of 1866.

The Hon'ble MR GAIT moved that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration. He said:—

"Your Honour—The object of the Bill was explained by me at the time of its introduction, and it is unnecessary to repeat what I then said. As regards the general principle, there has been no dissentient voice. It has been approved of by all sections and classes. The only adverse criticisms which were received regarding the actual provisions of the Bill refer to matters of detail, and chiefly to the powers which it is proposed to confer on the Commissioner of Police and his subordinates. These criticisms were carefully considered by the Select Committee; and several clauses of the Bill have been modified accordingly. I need not take up the time of Council by explaining these modifications, as the reasons for them have been given in the Select Committee's Report.

"Most of our critics, however, take their stand on the ground that the Bill does not go far enough. It has been urged, for instance, that solicitation should be made a cognizable offence. Section 68B of the Calcutta Police Act, and section 41A of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, which were inserted by the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Act, 1895, make the offence punishable on complaint of the person solicited or of two or more inhabitants or passers by. A reference to the Proceedings of the Council held on the 23rd March, 1895, at which those sections were considered and passed, will show that the question whether the offence of solicitation should be made cognizable was most carefully considered; and it was decided that it would not be safe to entrust to the Police the power of making arrests of their own motion. It was pointed out that section 253 of the British Public Health Act, 1878, only allowed arrest on the complaint of the person aggrieved, and that the same principle is the recognized law of other countries also. The Select Committee have adhered to the opinion then expressed that it would be most unwise to give the Police the power to arrest otherwise than on complaint.

"It was proposed by more than one public body that provisions should be inserted in the Act to enable the Commissioner of Police to deal with the White Slave Traffic and the rescue and protection of children. The Select Committee considered, however, that these subjects were foreign to the scope of the Bill. Moreover, they could not be dealt with in it without a fresh reference to the Government of India and the Secretary of State. This would have caused a most undesirable delay in passing the Bill into law.

"Since the Report of the Select Committee was drawn up memorials have been received by the Lieutenant-Governor from the Society for the Protection of Children in India, from the Calcutta Missionary Conference and from the Women's Temperance Union, urging the absolute necessity of taking steps to provide for the rescue of children of tender age from brothels and houses of ill-fame. These memorials will receive the full and sympathetic consideration from this Government which they demand. The memorialists may rest assured that they will not be neglected. The subject with which they deal cannot, however, be taken up in connection with this Bill.

"With regard to the drafting of the Bill, it will be seen that, in clause 2, the new sections to be inserted have no numbers. The reason of this is, that the numbering will be different in the two Acts in which the sections are to be inserted. After this Bill is passed, the new sections will be numbered 43, 43A, 43B, etc., in the edition to be published of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, showing the changes made by the present measure, and 17, 17A, 17B, etc., in the like edition of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

Section 2.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE moved that in section 2, sub-clause A, for the words "that the order should have been passed against some person other than himself" the words "the order should not have been passed against him" be substituted. He said :—

"I am conscious of the fact that the provisions of the Bill are, on the whole, beneficent, and for them we ought to be thankful to the Government. But when strict laws are made, there ought to be some safeguards against oppression. The power of adjudicating houses to be disorderly houses is not vested in the Police in England, but in the Magistrate, for the reason that it would place a bad but poor and weak and helpless class of persons at the mercy of the Police. In Calcutta, we are going to give the Police that power. I would not object to that, though it is going further than England. But what I propose is, that the person against whom the order is made shall have the right of showing that the order of the Police was wrong, taking the burden of proof on himself or herself.

"The Bengal Chamber of Commerce have submitted the following considerations on the matter to the Council. They say:—'The new section 43B vests a Magistrate with power to punish persons who have not complied with the orders passed by the Commissioner of Police under sections 43 and 43A. If this provision be allowed to stand as it is drafted, a person cannot escape punishment by a Magistrate for disobedience of an order passed by the Commissioner of Police unless he can satisfactorily prove that the order in question ought to have been made against some person other than himself. That is to say, he cannot prove himself to be innocent, except he can prove some one else to be guilty. The evils with which the Bill proposes to deal are of such a peculiar character as to call for a drastic and summary remedy. But nevertheless, it seems to be quite possible that the Commissioner of Police might make a mistake in passing a particular order at all, and not merely in passing it against a particular person. The Committee acknowledge that such mistakes are unlikely, having regard to the class of cases in question. But all the same they may occur and the Committee think they should be so provided against that it should be open to a person charged with the breach of an order not only to show that the orders should not have been made against him, but that it should, in effect, never have been made at all either against him or any other person.'

"The Calcutta Trades Association say:—'It is not considered desirable to require a person charged under the law as it will be amended when the Bill is passed to establish the guilt of a third person in order that he may avoid punishment. It is submitted that in this direction the amended law would not afford adequate protection to a perfectly respectable woman living by herself, if she happened to be falsely or by mistake charged with keeping a house for use as a place of assignation. It would be most inequitable to require such a person to prove the guilt of a third party in order to obtain for herself the protection to which the law should entitle her.'

"The British Indian Association oppose it altogether.

"I have quoted the opinion of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Trades Association as embodying the most important of the reasons against the proposed law. The Select Committee have made no substantial alteration. It is practically as it was before. It may be said that when the order has been made you may show that the house is not used in the manner complained of. But the section says that the person proceeded against must show that the order should have been passed against another. I know of no provision of any law in the Indian or the English Statute Book in which such an absurd proposition is laid down that a person must prove the guilt of another before he can establish his innocence. It is against all principles of law, and should, in any case, be omitted.

"I have already mentioned to you why I agree with the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Trades Association, and most of the Public bodies consulted on the matter that the person against whom an order is made by the Police should have at least the right to show before a Magistrate that it was wrongly made. I certainly do not wish to give any opportunities to the class of persons against whom the provisions of the law are directed, to escape punishment. But weak, poor, helpless women should not be placed entirely at the mercy of the Police. It is said that it would be sufficient if the non-user of a house for immoral purposes be established. But what protection is there to a respectable woman living alone as the Trades Association points out, being branded as a public woman or a procuress by an order which can never be shown to be wrong? Protect the morals of the people. But before you cast out helpless women, and allow them to be stoned, you should allow them a judicial trial at least."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"I should like, with Your Honour's permission, to offer a few remarks in connection with this section. I was not a Member of the Select Committee, but I have tried to go through very carefully the wording of this section. It will be for Hon'ble Members to consider whether what was intended by the Select Committee has been carried out by the words used in this section. It was admitted by the Select Committee that the plaintiff or complainant must prove his case, and in order to shorten the procedure, it was laid down that that order should not be questioned. To my mind, I think, without any detriment to public safety or convenience, we may take it to be an Executive order, but when we come to the next question of punishment for disobedience or contempt, then it has been stated in the Report of the Select Committee that the plaintiff or complainant must prove his case, and the ordinary procedure in the trial of a criminal case should be followed; but it seems to me that the use of certain words has confused that idea to some extent.

"If we allow that if any person against whom any order has been passed by the Commissioner of Police, under sub-section (2) of the preceding section uses the house, room, etc., in a manner which contravenes such order after the period stated therein, it implies that two things have to be proved: first, that a certain person has been doing certain things, and in the second place that a house or room or a place has been used in a certain manner which is condemned by the preceding section. If we say that the complainant must prove all these things, what is the use of saying that unless he is able to prove to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the order should have been passed against some person other than himself? That conveys a complete idea that the prosecution has established their case and he or she must be punished. We will introduce a very serious confusion by introducing the words 'unless he is able to prove to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the order should have been passed against some person other than himself.' How it will be interpreted by the Courts trying cases it is difficult for us to foresee, but at any rate we can say that the Reports of Select Committees have been held by the Calcutta High Court not to be considered in interpreting a section. Other High Courts have differently held, but so far as our High Court is concerned, that is the interpretation so far as I know. So that I think it will be best for all concerned, if there is an authoritative decision given by the Council on this point, that is to say, that the ordinary procedure laid down in the Code of Criminal Procedure is to be adopted in such cases.

"As I have said the difficulty has been introduced by the words 'unless he is able to prove to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the order should have been passed against some person other than himself.' For the above reasons, I beg to support my hon'ble friend's amendment, but in a qualified form and for the reason that these words would mitigate the severity of its operation; but I still think it will not go far enough so long as the words are retained at all, and if they are struck out as the second amendment proposes, I think the difficulty might be removed. The two things appear to me to militate against each other: either it means that the prosecution has been relieved of its duty of proving a case, or it means something which is very difficult to understand. Then again it means that he has to prove that the offence was committed by somebody else and not by him. It seems to me that the wording of this section is not clear.

"With Your Honour's permission I would suggest that for the word 'uses' the words 'proved to have used' might remove or mitigate to some extent the difficulty. The difficulty to my mind is intensified by the fact that the whole tenor of this Bill is to shorten the procedure as it has been laid down in the present Police Acts, and Magistrates working under that impression might think it means something extraordinary that the ordinary procedure laid is not to be followed, inasmuch as we find that when the Commissioner of Police receives information that 'any house,' etc., he is entitled to proceed on mere information. A Magistrate may think that the mere statement of the fact that he has used the house in a particular way is quite enough to start proceedings against him, and the best way to exculpate himself is by proving that somebody else is responsible and not he; so that it seems to me to be an altogether undesirable state of things, and of the two amendments standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose, the second amendment appeals to me more strongly than the first amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT said:—"I am prepared to accept the second amendment, except that the omission should start from the words 'unless he is able,' etc., but I cannot accept the hon'ble member's first amendment Before a person can be convicted under sub-clause A, as it stands in the Bill, it will be necessary to prove that he has used the house as a brothel after the isuse of an order that it should not be so used.

"If this is proved, I can see no reason why the accused should be allowed to take shelter behind the plea that, although the house has been used as a brothel since the order was passed, the order ought not to have been passed because it had not been so used previously. I think it is quite sufficient that the house has been used as a brothel after the date of the order."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE also moved that if the above amendment be lost, in section 2, sub-clause A, the words "that the order should have been passed against some person other than himself" be omitted.

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT said he accepted the amendment, if the words "unless he is able to prove to the satisfaction of the Magistrate" were added to the words proposed to be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE agreed.

The motion was put in the form proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Gait and carried.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE also moved that section 2, sub-clause C, be omitted. He said:—

"The power to prohibit music and singing which is proposed to be given to the Police may lead to unnecessary oppression and annoyance. It will do no good to anybody. We have lived so long in comfort with all the disturbances which are proposed to be removed, and the urgency of the necssiety of legislation certainly does not exist Calcutat is less noisy now as regards music and singing than it was 20 years ago. There have, however, arisen another class of noises of which we had no idea before. The noise of the tramcars is certainly a greater disturbance to the residents of a street through which they pass than the sound of any occasional music or singing. Why then legislate against the latter?

"There is another and more serious consideration. During the last 3 or 4 months we have read reports of three cases in three districts of official highhandedness in prohibiting the sound, I believe, of conch shell, sankirtan and gramophone. Only two or three days ago we read that an order, under section 144, was made against the scion of a noble and ancient house because the sound of his gramophone was disagreeable to his neighbour, a Civil Surgeon. I cannot shut my eyes to the fact that there are many Anglo-Indians, some of them very good men too, who do not find it easy to treat with ordinary courtesy and forbearance, Indians however high-born or learned they may be. All Indian music is a nuisance to European ears, even English musical instruments played by Indian neighbours, I find are invariably regarded as nuisances."

"In Calcutta town, in the European quarter of Chowringhee, to my knowledge there have been several cases of disagreement on this score between Europeans and their Indian neighbours. Now I am afraid Indian gentlemen and noblemen if they reside in the neighbourhood of Europeans, may be unnecessarily annoyed and hauled up before the Police, and swell the ranks of the disaffected."

"I cannot support a measure which will be a cause of annoyance to the people, and add to the disaffection in the country for no earthly good. The Police in England do not possess the power which they are going to have in India. In India, all experimental legislation is allowable. But this measure, I am afraid, will lead to very undesirable results. I cannot, therefore, support it."

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT said:—"I cannot accept this amendment on behalf of Government. The matter was fully considered in the Select Committee, and we agreed then that the provision was a desirable one. As a matter of fact, it has been inserted very largely in order to help the people of the northern part of the town, where the inconvenience is the greatest on account of the noise which is made at night by coolies and other low castes who live in that neighbourhood."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT said :—Your Honour :—" Before making the last motion which stands against my name [illegible] the List of Business, with your permission, I beg leave to move a further amendment of the two Acts affected by this Bill.

"The Commissioner of Police has represented that, as the law at present stands, a police-officer is not allowed to arrest a drunk and disorderly person if the latter's name is known to him or can be ascertained. I would refer the hon'ble members to the wording of section 72 of the Calcutta Act and of section 43 of the Suburban Act. The offence of being drunk and disorderly is committed most often by habitual drunkards or bad characters, whose names are well known to the Police. Unless persons of this class can be arrested when they are drunk and disorderly, it is impossible to keep order in the public streets. I regret that my attention was called to this defect in the Acts too late to allow of the amendment I now propose being considered by the Select Committee or circulated in the List of Business ; but I am sure that this Council will agree with me that it is very desirable and will support me."

"I beg with your permission, Sir, to move that in section 72 of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, after the words "in his view" the words "an offence described in section 68; and may so arrest any person committing in his view," be inserted, and that a similar amendment be made in section 43 of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, the figures '41' being substituted for the figures '68.'

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—" I have not had time to consider the effect of the amendment, but reading the letter of the Commissioner of Police, it seems to me that what is wanted is that this Council should legislate that a drunken and disorderly person should be taken into custody under certain circumstances, but section 68 refers to other matters as well, so that if the whole was included, perhaps we might be going beyond what was contemplated by the Commissioner of Police. I would ask hon'ble members to consider whether it would not be better to confine ourselves to what the Commissioner of Police actually wants, and in the drafting introduce only those words, that is to say, which are in the letter itself 'found drunk and incapable of taking care of himself.' If that suggestion commends itself to hon'ble members, I think it would be better than adopting words of which we cannot arrive at any definite conception at the present moment."

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT said :—" I am unable to accept the sugge[illegible]hole the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji. The Commissio[illegible]n in the wished to omit the last clause altogether, but we obj[illegible] impression might think that the thing should not be done without full [illegible]nary procedure laid is not to the proposal was narrowed down to the one now put [illegible] Commissioner of Police offences described under section 68 are offences which the Po[illegible] proceed on able to deal with summarily. The Police in the mufassal have wider [illegible] of the arrest, and the Police here will have the same powers under the amendment now proposed. "

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said :—" We have had very short notice of the amendment, and I think some confusion may arise in interpreting it; but in view of the explanation given by the Hon'ble Mr. Gait, I will not press my objection."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—"I understand from the Secretary that the amendment is intended to apply in the case of persons who are known as old offenders, and whose names and whereabouts are known to the Police. These old offenders, under this section as it at present stands, cannot be arrested, because their whereabouts are known, but in the case of a first offender, he may be arrested; so that the amendment practically removes what at present is an anomaly in the Act and, therefore, I think it may be accepted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned sine die.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PORT OFFICER CALCUTTA, FOR THE YEAR 1906-1907.

No. 2435Marine.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 9th September 1907.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter No. 3473, dated the 31st July 1907, from the Port Officer, Calcutta, submitting the Annual Report of his Department for the year 1906-07.

AT the close of the year there were 50 qualified Pilots on the strength, being one more than the number in the previous year. Two casualties occurred during the year under review—one in the Covenanted and the other in the Licensed Pilot Service. Three qualified Leadsmen Apprentices were promoted to the grade of Mate Pilot. No Leadsman Apprentice was brought out from England, nor was any appointed locally during the year.

The sanctioned strength of the service is 58. This can only be worked up to as the Leadsmen qualify. At the close of the year there were 15 Leadsmen in training as against 18 in the previous year. Arrangements were made for bringing out four Leadsmen Apprentices from England and for the appointment of one locally selected candidate to meet present requirements and also to ensure that the sanctioned number may be attained within a reasonable time.

The number of arrivals at the port during the year was 1,614, and of departures 1,626. The total number of arrivals and departures was 3,240, or 108 more than that of the previous year. These figures represent a gross tonnage of 6,205,092 inwards and 6,256,731 outwards. The average tonnage of steam and sailing vessels inwards and outwards was 3,846, against 3,722 in the previous year.

The pilotage receipts during the year amounted to Rs. 14,21,189, against Rs. 13,62,785 in the previous year.

The number of steamers drawing over 21 feet piloted inwards increased and those piloted outwards decreased. During the year, no sailing ships drawing over 21 feet were piloted inwards and outwards. Althogether 27 vessels—21 inward and 6 outward—were neaped for want of sufficient depth of water over the bars, against 19 vessels in the previous year. The number of vessels detained at the Sandheads for want of Pilots during the year was 13, the shortest detention being 6 hours 25 minutes, the longest 21 hours, the average detention being 15 hours 44 minutes.

There were 9 collisions and 30 groundings during the year, against 7 collisions and 22 groundings in the previous year. In one case of collision the Pilot concerned was held to blame for error of judgment and in another case for negligence. In regard to the groundings the Pilots were in fault only in four instances.

Sixty preliminary enquiries were held by the Port Officer, of which four were referred to Departmental Courts of Enquiry and nine to Special Courts of Enquiry. In seven cases the Pilots were held to blame and they were dealt with by this Government. No Marine Court under Act XII of 1859 was held during the year.

One hundred and three candidates appeared at the examination for Colonial and Home Trade certificates of competency, of whom 57 passed. Three hundred and twenty-six candidates also appeared at the different examinations for certificates of competency as Masters, Serangs, Engineers and Engine-drivers under Act VI of 1884, but only 141 passed.

Mr. G. Robertson was the First Engineer and Shipwright-Surveyor throughout the year. Mr. F. Olford, R.I.M., was the Second Engineer and Shipwright-Surveyor up to the 25th October 1906, when he reverted to the Royal Indian Marine on being relieved by Mr. E. G. Venn, R.I.M.

Commander E. J. Beaumont, R.I.M., presided over the Department up to the 22nd May 1906, when he reverted to the Royal Indian Marine, making over charge of the Port and Shipping Offices to Lieutenant A. S. Balfour, R.I.M., who held charge till 7th July 1906, when Commander St. L. S. Warden, R.I.M., relieved him, and Lieutenant Balfour reverted to his position as Assistant Port Officer and Deputy Shipping Master.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE SHIPPING OFFICES AT CALCUTTA AND AT THE PORTS OF ORISSA FOR THE YEAR 1906-1907.

Dated Calcutta, the 9th September 1907.

RESOLUTION.

Annual Report on the working of the Shipping Offices at Calcutta and at the Ports of Orissa for the year 1906-1907.

READ—

Letter from the Shipping Master, Calcutta, No. S.—295, dated the 15th May 1907.

Letter from the Commissioner of the Orissa Division, No. 124 P.T./C., dated the 15th June 1907.

The receipts of the Calcutta Shipping Office during the year 1906-1907 amounted to Rs. 84,380, against Rs. 83,617 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs. 763, which is mainly due to a larger amount of overtime fees being realised during the year.

2. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 42,214 as compared with Rs. 41,180 in the past year. The increase in expenditure is due to larger sums of money drawn during the year by officers performing overtime work afloat, and to the grant of grain compensation allowance to clerks and menials.

3. Four Trust Funds are administered by the Calcutta Shipping Office. The total receipts under the Funds during the year under report amounted to Rs. 82,705. This together with the closing balance at the credit of the Funds for 1905-1906 made an aggregate of Rs. 96,124, against Rs. 90,887 in the previous year. Payments made during the year amounted to Rs. 83,794, a sum of Rs. 2,472 lapsing to the State. The balance at the credit of the Funds at the close of the year stood at Rs. 9,858.

4. The number of seamen shipped and discharged were :—

|---|---|
| Shipped ... ... ... ... ... | 41,533 |
| Discharged ... ... ... ... ... | 37,653 |

Contrary to the tendency displayed in recent years, there was an increase in shipments and discharges under European articles, while those under Indian articles show a decrease. The actual figures are as follow :—

| | Shipments. | | Increase. | Decrease. | Discharges. | | Increase. | Descrease. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1905-1906. | 1906-1907. | | | 1905-1906. | 1906-1907. | | |
| European Articles ... | 899 | 946 | 47 | Nil. | 933 | 1,132 | 199 | Nil. |
| Indian Articles ... | 40,630 | 40,587 | Nil. | 43 | 36,871 | 36,521 | Nil. | 350 |

The decrease under Indian articles is attributed partly to a greater number of vessels of the British India Steam Navigation Company being placed on the coasting trade, and partly to the recent amendment of the law relating to foreign running agreements effected by Act VI of 1906, under which the agreements are to remain in force for six months from the date of execution instead of expiring on the last day of June and December, irrespective of the date on which they were entered into, as was previously the case, thereby making the occasions for shipment less frequent and consequently lowering the number of seamen shipped

5. Besides the above, 73 seamen were shipped and 101 discharged by foreign Consuls.

6. Thirty-five distressed seamen were assisted with passages to the United Kingdom during the year, against 71 in the previous year. Of these, 21 were invalids, one insane, and 13 were released prisoners who were absolutely destitute.

7. Remittances by money-orders by European seamen amounted to Rs. 7,305-5, compared with Rs. 9,497 in the preceding year.

8. A complaint was received from the Harbour Master, Georgetown, that certain unqualified persons were shipped as able-bodied seamen on board the sailing ship Elbe when carrying Government emigrants from this port. Care is now taken to ascertain that, as far as possible, competent seamen are shipped before the certificate required to be given by the Shipping Master of Calcutta under the rules issued under the Indian Emigration Act, 1883, is granted. Owing, however, to the paucity of sailing ships now afloat, qualified able-bodied seamen have become very few in the Port, and consequently irregularities of the nature are not likely to be altogether avoided. As a remedial measure, the Shipping Master suggests that native emigrants might, in future, be carried in steam-vessels only. The matter will receive the consideration of the Government. A fireman bhandary of the S.S. Barmfels complained that a serang of the vessel habitually ill-treated him during the voyage with a view to obtain money and ship's provisions from him. The Shipping Master was satisfied of the general truth of the complaint; so the serang was dismissed, and particulars of his misconduct circulated among the principal Indian ports, and his name posted in the defaulter's list. The deck serangs of the Clan Macfarlane, Clan Macdonald and City of Calcutta were found to have extorted various sums of money from their crews. The amounts were recovered from their wages, and the offenders dealt with in the same way as in the case of the fireman bhandary. A ghat serang was accused of taking a bribe from a butler for having secured him a berth on board the S.S. Shirley. Action in the matter had to be abandonod for the insufficiency of evidence against him. A charge of assault brought by an invalid coal-trimmer of the S.S. Purley against the Chief Engineer of the vessel was proved to be absolutely groundless.

9. No seamen were shipped and discharged at False Point during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

T. BUTLER,

NOTIFICATION.

No. 584R.P.—The 9th September 1907.—The following extracts from the Report of the Board of Revenue on the Road and Public Works Cess Operations in Bengal for the year 1906-1907 are published for general information.

H. J. McIntosh,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 3585A., dated Calcutta, the 27th August 1907.

From—S. L. Maddox, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

The Hon'ble Mr. F. A. Slacke, I.C.S.

I am directed to submit the Board's Report on the Administration of the Road and Public Works Cesses for the year 1906-1907.

* * * * * * *

Rate, land-revenue demand and gross rental

3. Both cesses were levied at the maximum rate of one anna in the rupee in the 30 districts in which the Act is in force. The Act is being gradually introduced into the Sonthal Parganas, and is not in force in Angul and the Khondmals or in Sambalpur. The current demand of land revenue of the 30 districts was Rs. 2,83.70,062 and the valuation, or gross rental, amounted to Rs. 12,67,31,262.

Demands, collections, balances, and remissions.

4. * * In the following table the demand, collections, balances, and remissions of the year are compared with the two preceding years:—

| Year. | Demand. | | | Collections. | Percentage of total collections on current demand. | Balance. | Percentage of the balance on the total demand. | Remissions. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Current. | Arrear. | Total. | | | | | |
| | Rs. | Rs. | Rs. | Rs. | | Rs. | | Rs. |
| 1904-1905 ... | 69,49,811 | 14,12,573 | 83,62,384 | 70,06,476 | 100·8 | 13,54,083 | 16·1 | 57,183 |
| 1905-1906 ... | 69,55,856 | 13,50,895 | 83,06,751 | 70,59,858 | 101·4 | 12,66,104 | 15·2 | 69,916 |
| 1906-1907 ... | 70,11,936 | 12,70,766 | 82,82,702 | 69,56,766 | 99·2 | 13,48,585 | 16·2 | 1,12,743 |

The increase of Rs. 56,080 in the current demand, as compared with the previous year, was mainly due to revaluation in various districts, of which Hooghly contributed Rs. 15,256, Manbhum Rs. 13,364, Champaran Rs. 12,158, Midnapore Rs. 8,547, and Burdwan Rs. 6,360. The percentage of collections on the current demand was 99·2 as against 101·4 in 1905-1906. The balances were less than in 1904-1905, but more than in 1905-1906. The percentage of balance on the total demand was 16·2 as against 15·2 in the previous year. The remissions and reductions, which amounted to Rs. 1,12,743, as against Rs. 69,916 in 1905-1906, chiefly occurred in the districts of Burdwan, Hooghly, Muzaffarpur, Gaya, Hazaribagh, Khulna, Bhagalpur, and Bankura, and were due to revaluations under section 13 of the Cess Act, revision of annual assessment of coal-mines, reduction of demand on objections in appeals, erroneous and double assessment and diluvion.

Working of the certificate procedure.

7. The total number of certificates filed for the realisation of cess arrears was 78,609 as against 85,919 in the previous year. The decrease was shared by the Burdwan, Bhagalpur, and Orissa Divisions. The increase (632) in Birbhum was chiefly due to the filing of a large number of certificates for the realization of three years' arrear cesses imposed on rent-free holders for the first time under section 70 of the Cess Act at the recent revaluation. It was also partly due to certificates filed to avoid limitation in the case of petty arrears, and the same cause accounts for the increase in Khulna, Puri, and Manbhum. The increase in Saran (2,420), Muzaffarpur (2,337), and Darbhanga (590) is attributed to the prompter issue of certificates at the end of each kist, and in Purnea (144) to the filing of certificates for arrears due from rent-free lands recently assessed. The disposals exceeded the institutions in the Burdwan, Presidency, and Orissa Divisions, and, on the whole, the total disposals were in excess of institutions by 1,681. The total number of certificates for the whole province pending at the close of the year was less than in the previous year, the percentage on the total number for disposal being 21·7 as against 22·9.

Objections against certificates.

8. The total number of objections filed and disposed of was 6,096 and 5,998 as against 6,052 and 5,890, respectively, in the previous year. The largest number of objections disposed of was in the districts of Shahabad (1,121), Saran (1,103), Burdwan (801), and Gaya (571). In 770 cases, as against 532 in the preceding year, the certificates were cancelled on account of the death or desertion of judgment-debtors, the exemption of lands lying within Municipal limits, double assessments, non-registration of names of holders of rent-free lands, errors in the Land Registration registers, and wrong entries in the ledgers. The number of cases in which reductions were made in the claim was 175 as against 144 in 1905-1906.

Stage of procedure at which demands were satisfied.

9. In 19,306 cases as against 22,110 in 1905-1906 arrears were recovered on the mere issue of notices in 34,169 as against 33,930 on the issue of notices for sale of defaulters' moveable properties, and in 15,185 as against 14,122 on the issue of notices for the sale of the defaulters' immovable properties. Of the total number of sales (2,169 as against 2,535 in 1905-1906), 1,160 as against 927 in 1905-1906 were set aside under sections 20 and 21 of the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, I of 1895, as amended by Bengal Act I of 1897. The largest number of sales set aside was in the districts of Patna (209), Darbhanga (208), Monghyr (130), Muzaffarpur (123), Saran (109), Shahabad (89) and Gaya (78).

Valuations and revaluations.

10. * * * Valuations or revaluations, partial or complete, are going on in 17 out of the 30 districts to which the Act applies.

11. During the year the revaluation of the district of Birbhum was completed. The operations have resulted in an increase of Rs. 8,090 over the former cess demand. The general revaluations of Bankura and Palamau are approaching completion.

* * * * * * *

Gross rental.

14. * * * The present gross rental shows a net increase of Rs. 3,76,94,619 over the original valuation, and of Rs. 2,74,133 over that of the preceding year, the latter increase being due entirely to valuations and revaluations.

* * * * * * *

Amendment of the Cess Act.

16. The Cess Act has been found defective in certain respects. The most serious are the absence of any provision enabling Collectors to reject or revise incorrect Cess returns filed by proprietors of estates under Part II, except under section 22 after a conviction obtained on prosecution under section 94 of the Act, and the absence of any provisions for carrying out revaluation for cess purposes simultaneously with settlement work. To remedy these and other defects the Board have, since the close of the year, submitted to Government a report on the subject of the amendment of the Cess Act, together with a draft Bill.

PROSPECTUS.

INTRODUCTORY.

1. The Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore having sanctioned the holding annually in the Mysore City, during Dasara season, of an Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, and a Cattle and Sheep Show, and having appointed a Committee of the aforesaid gentlemen for giving effect to the orders of Government, the Committee have authorised the issue of the following prospectus.

2. Object of the Exhibition.—The primary object of the Committee is to impart to the Exhibition a purely educative character and to bring together articles, machinery and processes, the use of which it is desirable to bring to the notice of the ryait, the artisan and the manufacturer, by actual demonstration. Consequently the Committee's main aim is not a mere promotion of sales of commodities and they are not therefore in favour of admitting in large numbers articles of merchandise intended purely for sale. They have no objection to the sale of samples exhibited and to their removal by purchasers after the Exhibition is over.

3. Gradual Development of the Exhibition.—As the Exhibition is to be a permanent institution and to be held every year it is proposed to develop it from small beginnings.

4. Scope of the Exhibition.—The scope of the Exhibition and the number of articles admitted may vary from year to year in the light of actual experience, and will, in future, be announced before the end of May, though during the present year, owing to the time taken in the settlement of preliminaries, the interval between the issue of the prospectus and the actual date of opening the Exhibition is very short.

5. Lectures and Demonstrations.—Arrangements will also be made for lectures being delivered by competent persons in English and Kanarese on subjects connected with Industry and Agriculture, the value of agricultural and industrial machines and implements, their cost, construction and repair. If possible, arrangements will be made for holding a competition on the Exhibition grounds in ploughing and weaving.

6. Donations.—The Committee would thankfully accept donations for awarding prizes or medals from individuals or Associations desiring to give an impetus to any special branch of Agriculture or Industry.

7. Classification of Exhibits.—The Exhibition of 1907 will be confined to the main group and sub-heads indicated in the prize list subjoined to this prospectus.

8. Open to all India.—The Committee invite exhibits from all the districts in the State as well as from outside. They also appeal to the various Agricultural Departments and Associations in other parts of India, Burma and Ceylon to help them with exhibits and suggestions.

9. Opening of the Exhibition.—As a rule every year the Exhibition will be opened a few days before the commencement of Dasara and it will last for about four weeks. This year it is resolved to open the Exhibition on Saturday, 5th October, at 8 A.M., and to close it on Thursday, 31st October, at 5 P.M. The Cattle and Sheep Show will be usually commenced soon after the Vijaya Dasami (i.e., 10th day of the Moon) and be kept open for four days. This year the show will begin on Thursday, 17th October, and close on Monday, 21st October.

10. Date of lecture, etc.—Lectures and demonstrations will be arranged this year between Monday, 14th October, and Thursday, 24th October, and the exact time and place will be announced later on by hand-bills and notices.

11. Judges.—The Committee invite the co-operation of leading raiyats and non-official gentlemen in judging the exhibits and awarding prizes.

12. Place of Exhibition.—The Exhibition will be held in the Mysore City in the buildings known as the Police Reserve Lines which will be adapted for the purpose. A shed of galvanized corrugated-iron sheets, 150 – 30, will also be put up outside the lines for the exhibition of implements and machinery.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. Noxious Articles.—Explosives or any substance noxious or dangerous will not be admitted by the Committee.

2. Particulars re Exhibits.—Intending exhibitors are requested to send to the Secretary to the Exhibition Committee particulars of exhibits they intend to forward and the amount of space which their exhibits may take up in Form A, appended to this prospectus. Printed forms may be obtained from the District, Divisional and Taluk Officers or from the Secretary to the Committee; plain paper of foolscap size may also be used, provided all the headings in the Form are properly copied and filled up.

3. Applications from Exhibitors.—Applications in Form A should reach the Secretary to the Committee not later than the 5th September 1907. Each application should contain a post-card, on which the address and post town of the exhibitor are legibly written.

4. Lists from Taluks.—Deputy Commissioners of Districts, Subdivisional Officers and Amildars of Taluks are requested to convene as early as possible a meeting of the leading artizans, raiyats and merchants, residing within their respective charges, to explain to them fully the object and scope of the Exhibition and to distribute to them forms of application, to have them filled up by intending exhibitors and to forward them to the Secretary to the Committee. This will give the Committee an idea of the total space required by each Taluk and enable the exhibitors to make a good choice of the exhibits by preventing a number of them from sending exhibits of the same quality and description.

5. Articles not enumerated.—The classified list of prizes will show the nature of articles which will be accepted by the Committee. Articles not specifically enumerated in the prize lists may, however, be admitted by the Committee at their discretion.

6. No fees to be charged for Exhibits.—No fees will be charged for the admission or registration of exhibits or for the space allowed for them.

7. Acceptance of Exhibits.—The Committee, however, reserve to themselves absolute discretion as regards the acceptance and rejection of exhibits and the allotment of space, covered or uncovered.

8. Delivery of Exhibits.—Articles intended for the Exhibition may be brought by the exhibitor or his agent or servant and delivered at the Exhibition grounds or sent by post or railway.

9. Payment of Freight and Transport Charges.—No exhibits, in respect of which the necessary freight or transport charges have not been paid by the exhibitor, will be accepted by the Committee.

10. List of Particulars.—All packages received or delivered and all implements and machinery intended for the Exhibition must bear a label specifying the name and number of exhibits and must be addressed to the Secretary. They must contain a list in duplicate showing the name or description of the article, its price, the place and date of its production or manufacture, name of the manufacturer or exhibitor, and in the case of articles purchased from others, the place and date of purchase.

11. Exhibits which have already won prizes.—Exhibits which have won prizes or medals in the Mysore Exhibition of 1906 are precluded from competing for prizes, though, if they are of educative value, there is no objection to their being accepted as exhibits.

12. Date of delivery of Exhibits.—All exhibits should be sent to the address of the Secretary so as to reach the Mysore City between 10th and 25th September 1907.

13. Belated Exhibits.—Articles that are not delivered at the Exhibition Hall in the time fixed in the preceding rule may be admitted at the discretion of the Committee subsequent to 25th September, but they shall not be eligible to compete for prizes.

14. Perishable Articles.—Vegetables, fruits, dairy produce, and other perishable articles may, however, be delivered at the Exhibition Hall till 7 P.M. on 4th October 1907.

15. Admission of Exhibits.—No exhibits will be admitted without a pass signed by the Secretary or Members of the Committee on duty at the Exhibition Hall.

16. Responsibility of Exhibitors.—Exhibitors will have to pay every expense of transit, delivery, fixing and removing their exhibits, and they must either personally or by their agents or servants superintend their reception and removal, in default of which the Committee reserve to themselves the right of doing whatever may be considered necessary at the expense of the exhibitor.

17. Committee accepts no responsibility.—Free passes will be given to men in charge of the exhibits, and every care will be taken of them while in the Show-room; but no responsibility will be accepted by the Committee as to any damage or loss howsoever occurring.

18. Special Facilities.—Exhibitors are requested to mention in their applications whether they wish to illustrate practically any processes of manufacture or the working of any implements or machinery, and if so to describe briefly the nature of the demonstration and any special facilities they require.

19. Special arrangement to be made at Exhibitor's expense.—If the Exhibitors require any special arrangements to be made (or have to mount their machinery) they must carry them out at their own expense, but the Committee will be glad to give such aid as may be possible in the shape of getting skilled or unskilled manual labour at the Exhibitor's expense.

20. Valuable Exhibits.—All valuable exhibits must be forwarded under the charge of an attendant.

21. Exhibits unaccompanied by men in charge.—Exhibitors who are unable to attend personally or to send their agents in charge of exhibits may make special arrangement with the Committee for the exhibition of their goods on payment in advance in full of the estimated expense.

22. Articles on sale.—Articles on sale or articles sold should in every case have cards attached to them notifying the same.

23. Removal of Exhibits.—All exhibits must be removed within a week after the close of the Exhibition. Exhibits remaining after that time will be disposed of as the Committee deem fit.

24. No exhibit will be allowed to be removed before the termination of the Show.

25. Perishable articles will be allowed to be removed at the option of the owners or purchasers twenty-four hours after the opening of the Exhibition.

26. Exhibits on loan.—Works of art and articles of special merit including those of antiquarian interest will be thankfully received from gentlemen willing to lend them, and all arrangements for the display of such exhibits, for their safe custody and return will be made by the Committee at their own expense.

27. Gentlemen desirous of sending exhibits on loan are requested to place themselves in communication with the Secretary or Members of the Committee who will inform them of the acceptance of the offer and will make necessary arrangements in connection with the Exhibition of the offered articles.

28. Exhibits belonging to any Department of Government.—Articles or cattle exhibited by any department of Government will not be eligible for money prizes or medals, but may be awarded certificates of merit.

29. Admission of Live Stock.—All cattle and sheep brought for the Show will be located in a convenient place before the first selection, and only such of the animals as are selected will be permitted to be picketted in the sheds provided at the Show yard according to breed, age, size, etc.

30. Accommodation for Cattle.—Accommodation will be provided by the Committee free of cost for about 150 head of cattle.

31. Provision for Fodder.—Arrangements will have to be made by the owners themselves for providing the animals with fodder.

32. Admission to the Show grounds.—Only pass or ticket-holders will be allowed to enter the Show grounds while the cattle are judged.

33. Animals which have won prizes.—No animal which has won a prize in previous years within the Mysore State will be eligible for a prize.

34. Practical Test.—Working cattle may, at the owner's option, be subjected to a practical test as to their powers of draught. They must be the bonâ fide property of the exhibitor.

35. Single bullocks will also be tested both for riding and draught purposes at the owner's option.

36. Care-taker.—Each animal or lot competing separately must be in charge of a care-taker who will remain in charge of the exhibit and must be ready to lead it out at any time as required by the Committee.

37. Distribution of Prizes and Medals.—Prizes and medals will be distributed at the close of the Exhibition. Certificates of merit and of "hon. mention" will also be awarded at the discretion of the Judges.

38. Number of Judges.—The Judges in each class or group will not be less than three, but no prizes will be awarded unless in the opinion of the Judges the exhibits merit the reward. Judges cannot compete for prizes in classes or sections in which they are Judges.

39. Photograph of Articles Exhibited.—No article exhibited may be copied, photographed, drawn or reproduced in any manner without the special permission of the exhibitor and the Committee. General photographs of the stalls may, however, be taken with the permission of the Committee.

40. Committee's Decision Final.—The Committee have full power to make rules for the conduct of the Exhibition under these Regulations and their decision is final in all cases.

41. Acceptance of Rules.—All persons who become exhibitors shall be held to signify their assent to and acceptance of the foregoing Rules and Regulations and also of such other Rules as the Committee may hereafter issue, not inconsistent with these Regulations.

42. Communication regarding the Exhibition.—All communications regarding the Exhibition should be addressed to the Secretary to the Mysore Dasara Exhibition Committee and directed to Bangalore till 10th September 1907 and to Mysore after the 10th September 1907.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, dark gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder.

11. No Court shall try any suit or issue in which the matter directly and substantially in issue has been directly and substantially in issue in another suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, litigating under the same title, in a Court of jurisdiction competent to try such subsequent suit or the suit in which such issue has been subsequently raised, and has been heard and finally decided by such Court.

Explanation I.—For the purposes of this section, the competence of the jurisdiction of a Court shall be determined irrespective of any question as to the right of appeal from such Court.

Explanation II.—The matter above referred to must in the former suit have been alleged by one party and either denied or admitted, expressly or impliedly, by the other.

Explanation III.—Any matter which might and ought to have been made ground of defence or attack in such former suit shall be deemed to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in such suit and to have been heard and finally decided so far as the subject-matter of the former suit was concerned and no further.

Explanation IV.—Any relief claimed in the plaint, which is not expressly granted by the decree, shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have been refused.

Explanation V.—A decision liable to appeal may be final within the meaning of this section until the appeal is made.

Explanation VI.— Where persons litigate bonâ fide in respect of a public right or of a private right claimed in common for themselves and others, all persons interested in such right shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to claim under the persons so litigating.

[New.] Bar to further suit.

12. Where a plaintiff is precluded by any rule from instituting a further suit in respect of any particular cause of action, he shall not be entitled to institute a suit in respect of such cause of action in any Court to which this Code applies.

[S. 14.] When foreign judgment no bar to suit in British India.

13. A foreign judgment shall be conclusive as to any matter thereby directly adjudicated upon between the same parties or between parties under whom they or any of them claim litigating under the same title except—

(a) where it has not been pronounced by a Court of competent jurisdiction ;

(b) where it has not been given on the merits of the case ;

(c) where it appears on the face of the proceedings to be founded on an incorrect view of international law or a refusal to recognise the law of British India in cases in which such law is applicable ;

(d) where the proceedings in which the judgment was obtained are opposed to natural justice ;

(e) where it has been obtained by fraud ;

(f) where it sustains a claim founded on a breach of any law in force in British India.

[S. 13, Expl. VI.] Presumption as to foreign judgments.

14. The Court shall presume, upon the production of any document purporting to be a certified copy of a foreign judgment, that such judgment was pronounced by a Court of competent jurisdiction, unless the contrary appears on the record ; but such presumption may be displaced by proving want of jurisdiction.

PLACE OF SUING.

[S. 15.] Court in which suits to be instituted.

(e) for compensation for wrong to immoveable property,

(f) for the recovery of moveable property actually under distraint or attachment, shall be instituted in the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property is situate :

Provided that a suit to obtain relief respecting, or compensation for wrong to, immoveable property held by or on behalf of the defendant may, where the relief sought can be entirely obtained through his personal obedience, be instituted either in the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property is situate, or in the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the defendant actually and voluntarily resides, or carries on business, or personally works for gain.

Explanation.—In this section "property" means property situate in British India.

Who may be joined as plaintiffs.

1. All persons may be joined in one suit as plaintiffs in whom any right to relief in respect of or arising out of the same transaction or series of transactions is alleged to exist, whether jointly, severally or in the alternative, where, if such persons brought separate suits, any common question of law or fact would arise.

[New.]

Who may be joined as defendants.

[O. 16, r. 5.]

Defendant need not be interested in all the relief claimed.

Court may strike out or add parties.

(2) The Court may at any stage of the proceedings, either upon or without the application of either party, and on such terms as may appear to the Court to be just, order that the name of any party improperly joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, be struck out, and that the name of any person who ought to have been joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, or whose presence before the Court may be necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the suit, be added.

Dates, sums and numbers shall be expressed in figures.*

[O. 19, r. 7.] Further and better statement, or particulars. 5. A further and better statement of the nature of the claim or defence, or further and better particulars of any matter stated in any pleading, may in all cases be ordered, upon such terms, as to costs and otherwise, as may be just.

Denial of contract. 8. Where a contract is alleged in any pleading, a bare denial of the same by the opposite party shall be construed only as a denial in fact of the express contract alleged or of the matters of fact from which the same may be implied, and not as a denial of the legality or sufficiency in law of such contract.

[O. 19, r. 23.] Effects of document to be stated. 9. Wherever the contents of any document are material, it shall be sufficient in any pleading to state the effect thereof as briefly as possible, without setting out the whole or any part thereof, unless the precise words of the document or any part thereof are material.

[O. 28, r. 1.] Presumptions of law. 13. Neither party need in any pleading allege any matter of fact which the law presumes in his favour or as to which the burden of proof lies upon the other side unless the same has first been specifically denied (e.g., consideration for a bill of exchange where the plaintiff sues only on the bill, and not for the consideration as a substantive ground of claim).

[O. 28, r. 7.] Pleading to be signed. 14. Every pleading shall be signed by the party and his pleader (if any): Provided that where a party pleading is, by reason of absence or for other good cause, unable to sign the pleading, it may be signed by any person duly authorized by him to sign the same or to sue or defend in his behalf.

[S. 51.] Amendment of pleadings. 17. The Court may at any stage of the proceedings allow either party to alter or amend his pleadings in such manner and on such terms as may be just, and all such amendments shall be made as may be necessary for the purpose of determining the real questions in controversy between the parties.

[Ss. 51, 52.] Failure to amend after order. 18. If a party who has obtained an order for leave to amend does not amend accordingly within the time limited for that purpose by the order or if no time is thereby limited then within fourteen days from the date of the order, such order to amend shall on the expiration of such limited time as aforesaid or of such fourteen days, as the case may be, become void unless the time is extended by the Court.

Documents relied on in plaint.

[S. 59.] Production of document on which plaintiff sues. Delivery of document or copy.

14. (1) Where a plaintiff sues upon a document in his possession or power, he shall produce it in Court when the plaint is presented, and shall at the same time deliver the document or a copy thereof to be filed with the plaint.

List of other documents.

(2) Where he relies on any other documents (whether in his possession or power or not) as evidence in support of his claim, he shall enter such documents in a list to be added or annexed to the plaint.

[S. 60.] Statement in case of documents not in his possession or power.

15. Where any such document is not in the possession or power of the plaintiff, he shall, if possible, state in whose possession or power it is.

[S. 61.] Suits on lost negotiable instruments.

16. Where the suit is founded upon a negotiable instrument, and it is proved that the instrument is lost, and an indemnity is given by the plaintiff, to the satisfaction of the Court, against the claims of any other person upon such instrument, the Court may pass such decree as it would have passed if the plaintiff had produced the instrument in Court when the plaint was presented, and had at the same time delivered a copy of the instrument to be filed with the plaint.

(Orders VII, VIII.)

[S. 62.] VIII of 1891.

Production of shop-book.

17. (1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891, where the document on which the plaintiff sues is an entry in a shop-book or other book in his possession or power, the plaintiff shall produce the book at the time of filing the plaint, together with a copy of the entry on which he relies.

Original entry to be marked and returned.

(2) The Court, or such officer as it appoints in this behalf, shall forthwith mark the document for the purpose of identification; and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall, if it is found correct, certify it to be so and return the book to the plaintiff and cause the copy to be filed.

[S. 63.]

Inadmissibility of document not produced when plaint filed.

18. (1) A document which ought to be produced in Court by the plaintiff when the plaint is presented, or to be entered in the list to be added or annexed to the plaint, and which is not produced or entered accordingly, shall not, without the leave of the Court, be received in evidence on his behalf at the hearing of the suit.

(2) Nothing in this rule applies to documents produced for cross-examination of the defendant's witnesses, or in answer to any case set up by the defendant or handed to a witness merely to refresh his memory.

ORDER VIII.

Written Statement and Set-off.

[S. 110.]

Written statement.

1. The defendant may, or, if so required, by the Court, shall at or before the first hearing or within such time as the Court may permit, present a written statement of his defence.

[. 19, r. 15.]

New facts must be specially pleaded.

2. The defendant must raise by his pleading all matters which show the suit not to be maintainable, or that the transaction is either void or voidable in point of law, and all such grounds of defence, as if not raised would be likely to take the opposite party by surprise, or would raise issues of fact not arising out of the plaint, as, for instance, fraud, limitation, release, payment, performance, or facts showing illegality.

[. 19, r. 17.]

Denial to be specific.

3. It shall not be sufficient for a defendant in his written statement to deny generally the grounds alleged by the plaintiff, but the defendant must deal specifically with each allegation of fact of which he does not admit the truth, except damages.

[19, r. 19.]

Evasive denial.

4. Where a defendant denies an allegation of fact in the plaint, he must not do so evasively, but answer the point of substance. Thus, if it is alleged that he received a certain sum of money, it shall not be sufficient to deny that he received that particular amount, but he must deny that he received that sum or any part thereof, or else set out how much he received. And if an allegation is made with divers circumstances, it shall not be sufficient to deny it along with those circumstances.

[19, r. 13.]

Specific denial.

5. Every allegation of fact in the plaint, if not denied specifically or by necessary implication, or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the defendant, shall be taken to be admitted, except as against a person under disability:

[of 1872, s.]

Provided that the Court may in its discretion require any facts so admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admission.

[S. 111.]

Particulars of set-off to be given in written statement.

6. (1) Where in a suit for the recovery of money the defendant claims to set-off against the plaintiff's demand any ascertained sum of money legally recoverable by him from the plaintiff, not exceeding the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, and both parties fill the same character as they fill in the plaintiff's suit, the defendant may, at the first hearing of the suit, but not afterwards unless permitted by the Court, present a written statement containing the particulars of the debt sought to be set off.

Effect of set-off.

(2) The written statement shall have the same effect as a plaint in a cross-suit so as to enable the Court to pronounce a final judgment in respect both of the original claim and of the set-off: but this shall not affect the lien, upon the amount decreed, of any pleader in respect of the costs payable to him under the decree.

(3) The rules relating to a written statement by a defendant apply to a written statement in answer to a claim of set-off.

Illustrations.

(a) A bequeaths Rs. 2,000 to B and appoints C his executor and residuary legatee. B dies and D takes out administration to B's effects. C pays Rs. 1,000 as surety for D; then D sues C for the legacy. C cannot set-off the debt of Rs 1,000 against the legacy, for neither C nor D fills the same character with respect to the legacy as they fill with respect to the payment of the Rs. 1,000.

(b) A dies intestate and in debt to B. C takes out administration to A's effects and B buys part of the effects from C In a suit for the purchase-money by C against B, the latter cannot set-off the debt against the price, for C fills two different characters, one as the vendor to B, in which he sues B, and the other as representative to A.

(c) A sues B on a bill of exchange. B alleges that A has wrongfully neglected to insure B's goods and is liable to him in compensation which he claims to set off. The amount not being ascertained can not be set off.

(d) A sues B on a bill of exchange for Rs. 500. B holds a judgment against A for Rs. 1,000. The two claims being both definite pecuniary demands may be set off.

(e) A sues B for compensation on account of trespass. B holds a promissory note for Rs. 1,000 from A and claims to set off that amount against any sum that A may recover in the suit. B may do so, for, as soon as A recovers, both sums are definite pecuniary demands.

(f) A and B sue C for Rs. 1,000. C cannot set off a debt due to him by A alone.

(g) A sues B and C for Rs. 1,000. B cannot set off a debt due to him alone by A.

(h) A owes the partnership firm of B and C Rs. 1,000. B dies, leaving C surviving. A sues C for a debt of Rs 1,500 due in his separate character. C may set off the debt of Rs. 1,000.

Subsequent pleadings.

7. No pleading subsequent to the written statement of a defendant other than by way of defence to a set-off shall be presented except by the leave of the Court and upon such terms as the Court thinks fit, but the Court may at any time require a written statement or additional written statement from any of the parties and fix a time for presenting the same.

[New.]

Written statement not to be received after first hearing.

8. Any ground of defence which has arisen after the institution of the suit or the presentation of a written statement claiming a set-off may be raised by the defendant or plaintiff, as the case may be, in his written statement.

[S. 113.]

Procedure when party fails to present written statement called for by Court.

9. Where any party from whom a written statement is so required fails to present the same within the time fixed by the Court, the Court may pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

ORDER IX.

Appearance of Parties and Consequence of Non-appearance.

[S. 96.] 1. On the day fixed in the summons for the defendant to appear and answer, the parties shall be in attendance at the Court-house in person or by their respective pleaders, and the suit shall then be heard unless the hearing is adjourned to a future day fixed by the Court.

Parties to appear at time fixed in summons for defendant to appear and answer.

[S. 97.] 2. If on the day so fixed it is found that the summons has not been served upon the defendant in consequence of the failure of the plaintiff to pay the court-fee or postal charges (if any) chargeable or payable for such service, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed:

Dismissal of suit where summons not served in consequence of plaintiff's failure to pay fee for issuing.

Provided that no such order shall be made although the summons has not been served upon the defendant, if on the day fixed for him to appear and answer he attends in person or by agent when he is allowed to appear by agent.

[S. 98.] 3. Where neither party appears when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed.

Where neither party appears, suit to be dismissed.

[S. 99.] 4. Where a suit is dismissed under rule 2 or rule 3, the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit; or if, within the period of thirty days from the date of the order dismissing the suit, he satisfies the Court that there was sufficient excuse for his not paying the court-fee and postal charges (if any) chargeable or payable within the time fixed by the Court before the issue of the summons, or for his non-appearance, as the case may be, the Court shall make an order setting aside the dismissal and appointing a day for proceeding with the suit.

In such case plaintiff may bring fresh suit or Court may restore suit to its file.

[S. 99A.] 5. (1) Where, after a summons has been issued to the defendant, or to one of several defendants, and returned unserved, the plaintiff fails for a period of one year from the date of the return made to the Court by the officer ordinarily certifying to the Court returns made by the serving officers, to apply for the issue of a fresh summons and to satisfy the Court that he has used his best endeavours to discover the residence of the defendant who has not been served, or that such defendant is avoiding service of process, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed as against such defendant.

Dismissal of suit where plaintiff, after summons returned unserved, fails for a year to apply for fresh summons.

(2) In such case the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit.

[S. 100.] 6. (1) Where the plaintiff appears and the defendant does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, then—

Procedure when only plaintiff appears.

(a) if it is proved that the summons was duly served, the Court may proceed ex parte;

When summons duly served.

(b) if it is not proved that the summons was duly served, the Court shall direct a second summons to be issued and served on the defendant;

When summons not duly served.

(c) if it is proved that the summons was served on the defendant, but not in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer on the day fixed in the summons, the Court shall postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day to be fixed by the Court, and shall direct notice of such day to be given to the defendant.

When summons served, but not in due time.

(2) Where it is owing to the plaintiff's default that the summons was not duly served or was not served in sufficient time, the Court shall order the plaintiff to pay the costs occasioned by the postponement.

[S. 101.] 7. Where the Court has adjourned the hearing of the suit ex parte, and the defendant, at or before such hearing, appears and assigns good cause for his previous non-appearance, he may, upon such terms as the Court directs as to costs or otherwise, be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his appearance.

Procedure where defendant appears on day of adjourned hearing and assigns good cause for previous non-appearance.

[S. 102.] 8. Where the defendant appears and the plaintiff does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order that the suit be dismiss*ed*, unless the defendant admits the claim, or part thereof, in which case the Court shall pass a decree against the defendant upon such admission, and, where part only of the claim has been admitted, shall dismiss the suit so far as it relates to the remainder.

Procedure where defendant only appears.

[S. 103.] 9. (1) Where a suit is wholly or partly dismissed under rule 8, the plaintiff shall be precluded from bringing a fresh suit in respect of the same cause of action. But he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and if in the opinion of the Court there was reasonable cause for his non-appearance when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall set aside the dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

Decree against plaintiff by default bars fresh suit.

(2) No order shall be made under this rule unless notice in writing of the application has been served on the opposite party.

[S. 105.] 10. Where there are more plaintiffs than one, and one or more of them appear, and the others do not appear, the Court may, at the instance of the plaintiff or plaintiffs appearing, permit the suit to proceed in the same way as if all the plaintiffs had appeared, or make such order as it thinks fit.

Procedure in case of non-attendance of one or more of several plaintiffs.

[S. 106.] 11. Where there are more defendants than one, and one or more of them appear and the others do not appear, the suit shall proceed, and the Court shall, at the time of pronouncing judgment, make such order as it thinks fit with respect to the defendants who do not appear.

Procedure in case of non-attendance of one or more of several defendants.

[S. 107.] 12. Where a plaintiff or defendant, who has been ordered to appear in person, does not appear in person, or show sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the Court for failing so to appear, he shall be subject to all the provisions of the foregoing rules applicable to plaintiffs and defendants, respectively, who do not appear.

Consequence of non-attendance, without sufficient cause shown, of party ordered to appear in person.

Setting aside Decrees ex parte.

[S. 108.] 13. In any case in which a decree is passed ex parte against a defendant, he may apply to the Court by which the decree was passed for an order to set it aside; and if he satisfies the Court that the summons was not duly served, or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order setting aside the decree as against him upon such terms as to costs, payment into Court or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

Setting aside decree ex parte against defendant.

[S. 109.] 14. No decree shall be set aside on any such application as aforesaid unless notice thereof in writing has been served on the opposite party.

No decree to be set aside without notice to opposite party.

ORDER X.

Examination of Parties by the Court.

[S. 117.]

Ascertainment whether allegations in plaint and written statements admitted or denied.

1. At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall ascertain from each party or his pleader whether he admits or denies such allegations of fact as are made in the plaint or written statement (if any) of the opposite party, and as are not expressly or by necessary implication admitted or denied by the party against whom they are made. The Court shall record such admissions and denials.

[S. 118.]

Oral examination of party, or companion of himself or his pleader.

2. At the first hearing of the suit, or at any subsequent hearing, any party appearing in person or present in Court, or any person able to answer any material questions relating to the suit by whom such party or his pleader is accompanied, may be examined orally by the Court: and the Court may, if it thinks fit, put in the course of such examination questions suggested by either party.

[S. 119.]

Substance of examination to be written.

3. The substance of the examination shall be reduced to writing by the Judge, and shall form part of the record.

[S. 120.]

Consequence of refusal or inability of pleader to answer.

4. (1) Where the pleader of any party who appears by a pleader or any such person accompanying a pleader as is referred to in rule 2, refuses or is unable to answer any material question relating to the suit which the Court is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Court may postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day and direct that such party shall appear in person on such day.

(2) If such party fails without lawful excuse to appear in person on the day so appointed, the Court may pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

ORDER XI.

Discovery and Inspection.

1. In any suit the plaintiff or defendant by leave of the Court may deliver interrogatories in writing for the examination of the opposite parties or any one or more of such parties, and such interrogatories when delivered shall have a note at the foot thereof stating which of such interrogatories each of such persons is required to answer: Provided that no party shall deliver more than one set of interrogatories to the same party without an order for that purpose: Provided also that interrogatories which do not relate to any matters in question in the suit shall be deemed irrelevant, notwithstanding that they might be admissible on the oral cross-examination of a witness.

Particular interrogatories to be submitted.

Costs of interrogatories.

3. In adjusting the costs of the suit inquiry shall at the instance of any party be made into the propriety of exhibiting such interrogatories, and if it is the opinion of the taxing officer or of the Court, either with or without an application for inquiry, that such interrogatories have been exhibited unreasonably, vexatiously, or at improper length, the costs occasioned by the said interrogatories and the answers thereto shall be paid in any event by the party in fault.

4. Interrogatories shall be in the Form No. 2 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

Corporations.

[O. 31, r. 6.]

Objections to interrogatories by answer.

[O. 31, r. 8.]

Affidavit in answer, filing.

[O. 31, r. 11]

Order to answer or answer further.

10. Where any person interrogated omits to answer, or answers insufficiently, the party interrogating may apply to the Court for an order requiring him to answer, or to answer further, as the case may be. And an order may be made requiring him to answer or answer further, either by affidavit or by vivâ voce examination, as the Court may direct

[O. 31, r. 12 S. 129.]

Application for discovery of documents

[O. 31, r. 13]

Affidavit of documents.

12. The affidavit to be made by a party against whom such order as is mentioned in the last preceding rule has been made, shall specify which (if any) of the documents therein mentioned he objects to produce, and it shall be in the Form No 7 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XI.)

[O. 31, r. 14; S. 130.]

13. It shall be lawful for the Court, at any time during the pendency of any suit, to order the production by any party thereto, upon oath, of such of the documents in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question in such suit, as the Court shall think right; and the Court may deal with such documents, when produced, in such manner as shall appear just.

[O. 31, r. 15; S. 131.]

Inspection of documents referred to in pleadings or affidavits.

14. Every party to a suit shall be entitled, at any time, by notice in writing, to give notice to any other party, in whose pleadings or affidavits reference is made to any document, to produce such document for the inspection of the party giving such notice, or of his pleader, and to permit him or them to take copies thereof; and any party not complying with such notice shall not afterwards be at liberty to put any such document in evidence on his behalf in such suit unless he shall satisfy the Court that such document relates only to his own title, he being a defendant to the suit, or that he had some other cause or excuse which the Court shall deem sufficient for not complying with such notice, in which case the Court may allow the same to be put in evidence on such terms as to costs and otherwise as the Court shall think fit.

[O. 31, r. 16.]

Notice to produce.

15. Notice to any party to produce any documents referred to in his pleadings or affidavits shall be in the Form No. 5 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

[O. 31, r. 17; S. 132.]

16. The party to whom such notice is given shall, within ten days from the receipt of such notice, deliver to the party giving the same a notice stating a time within three days from the delivery thereof at which the documents, or such of them as he does not object to produce, may be inspected at the office of his pleader, or in the case of bankers' books or other books of account or books in constant use for the purposes of any trade or business, at their usual place of custody, and stating which (if any) of the documents he objects to produce, and on what ground. Such notice shall be in the Form No. in Appendix with such variations as circumstances may require.

[O. 31, r. 18]

Order for inspection.

17. (1) Where the party served with notice under rule 16 omits to give such notice of a time for inspection or objects to give inspection, or offers inspection elsewhere than at the office of his pleader, the Court may, on the application of the party desiring it, make an order for inspection in such place and in such manner as it may think fit: Provided that the order shall not be made when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

(2) Any application to inspect documents, except such as are referred to in the pleadings, particulars or affidavits of the party against whom the application is made or disclosed in his affidavit of documents shall be founded upon an affidavit showing of what documents inspection is sought, that the party applying is entitled to inspect them, and that they are in the possession or power of the other party. The Court shall not make such order for inspection of such documents when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

Verified copies.

18. (1) Where inspection of any business books is applied for, the Court may, if it thinks fit, instead of ordering inspection of the original books, order a copy of any entries therein to be furnished and verified by the affidavit of some person who has examined the copy with the original entries, and such affidavit shall state whether or not there are in the original book any and what erasures, interlineations or alterations: Provided that, notwithstanding that such copy has been supplied, the Court may order inspection of the book from which the copy was made.

(2) Where on an application for an order for inspection privilege is claimed for any document, it shall be lawful for the Court to inspect the document for the purpose of deciding as to the validity of the claim of privilege.

Premature discovery.

[O. 31, r. 21; S. 136.]

Non-compliance with order for discovery.

Using answers to interrogatories at trial.

21. Any party may, at the trial of a suit, use in evidence any one or more of the answers or any part of an answer of the opposite party to interrogatories without putting in the others or the whole of such answer: Provided always that in such case the Court may look at the whole of the answers, and if it shall be of opinion that any others of them are so connected with those put in that the last-mentioned answers ought not to be used without them, it may direct them to be put in.

[O. 31, r. 29.]

Order to apply to infants.

22. This Order shall apply to infant plaintiffs and defendants, and to the next friends and guardians for the suit of persons under disability.

2. Either party may call upon the other party to admit any document, saving all just exceptions; and in case of refusal or neglect to admit, after such notice, the costs of proving any such document shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs; and no costs of proving any document shall be allowed unless such notice is given, except where the omission to give the notice is, in the opinion of the Court, a saving of expense.

[O. 32, r. 3.] Form of notice.

3. A notice to admit documents shall be in the Form No. 6 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

[O. 32, r. 4.] Notice to admit facts.

4. Any party may, by notice in writing, at any time not later than nine days before the day fixed for the hearing, call on any other party to admit, for the purposes of the suit only, any specific fact or facts mentioned in such notice. And in case of refusal or neglect to admit the same within six days after service of such notice, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court, the costs of proving such fact or facts shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs: Provided that any admission made in pursuance of such notice is to be deemed to be made only for the purposes of the particular suit, and not as an admission to be used against the party on any other occasion or in favour of any person other than the party giving the notice: Provided also that the Court may at any time allow any party to amend or withdraw any admission so made on such terms as may be just.

[O. 32, r. 5.] Forms of admissions.

ORDER XIV.

Settlement of Issues and Determination of Points of Law.

[S. 146.] 1. (1) Issues arise when a material proposition of fact or law is affirmed by the one party and denied by the other.

Framing of issues.

(2) Material propositions are those propositions of law or fact which a plaintiff must allege in order to show a right to sue or a defendant must allege in order to constitute his defence.

(3) Each material proposition affirmed by one party and denied by the other shall form the subject of a distinct issue.

(4) Issues are of two kinds: (a) issues of fact, (b) issues of law.

(5) At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall, after reading the plaint and the written statements, if any, and after such examination of the parties as may appear necessary, ascertain upon what material propositions of fact or of law the parties are at variance, and shall thereupon proceed to frame and record the issues on which the right decision of the case appears to the Court to depend.

(6) Nothing in this rule requires the Court to frame and record issues where the defendant at the first hearing of the suit makes no defence.

2. Where issues both of law and of fact arise in the same suit, and the Court is of opinion that the case may be disposed of on the issues of law only, it shall try those issues first, and for that purpose may, if it thinks fit, postpone the settlement of the issues of fact until after the issues of law have been determined. [S. 146, sixth para.]

Issues of law and of fact.

3. The Court may frame the issues from all or any of the following materials:— [S. 147.]

Allegations from which issues may be framed.

(b) allegations made in the pleadings or in answers to interrogatories delivered in the suit;

(c) the contents of documents produced by either party.

4. Where the Court is of opinion that the issues cannot be correctly framed without the examination of some person not before the Court or without the inspection of some document not produced in the suit, it may adjourn the framing of the issues to a future day, and may (subject to any law for the time being in force) compel the attendance of any person or the production of any document by the person in whose possession or power it is by summons or other process. [S. 148.]

Court may examine witnesses or documents before framing issues.

5. (1) The Court may at any time before passing a decree amend the issues or frame additional issues on such terms as it thinks fit, and all such amendments or additional issues as may be necessary for determining the matters in controversy between the parties shall be so made or framed. [S. 149.]

Power to amend, and strike out, issues.

(2) The Court may also, at any time before passing a decree, strike out any issues that appear to it to be wrongly framed or introduced.

6. Where the parties to a suit are agreed as to the question of fact or of law to be decided between them, they may state the same in the form of an issue, and enter into an agreement in writing that, upon the finding of the Court in the affirmative or the negative of such issue,— [S. 150.]

Questions of fact or law may by agreement be stated in form of issues.

(a) a sum of money specified in the agreement or to be ascertained by the Court, or in such manner as the Court may direct, shall be paid by one of the parties to the other of them, or that one of them be declared entitled to some right or subject to some liability specified in the agreement;

(b) some property specified in the agreement and in dispute in the suit shall be delivered by one of the parties to the other of them, or as that other may direct; or

(c) one or more of the parties shall do or abstain from doing some particular act specified in the agreement and relating to the matter in dispute.

7. Where the Court is satisfied, after making such inquiry as it deems proper,— [S. 151.]

Court, if satisfied that agreement was executed in good faith, may pronounce judgment.

(a) that the agreement was duly executed by the parties,

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.
(The First Schedule.)—(Orders XIV—XVI.)

(b) that they have a substantial interest in the decision of such question as aforesaid, and

(c) that the same is fit to be tried and decided.

it shall proceed to record and try the issue and state its finding or decision thereon in the same manner as if the issue had been framed by the Court; and shall, upon the finding or decision on such issue, pronounce judgment according to the terms of the agreement; and, upon the judgment so pronounced, a decree shall follow.

ORDER XV.

Disposal of the Suit at the first Hearing.

Parties not at issue.

[S. 153.] 2. Where there are more defendants than one, and any one of the defendants is not at issue with the plaintiff on any question of law or of fact, the Court may at once pronounce judgment for or against such defendant and the suit shall proceed only against the other defendants.

One of several defendants not at issue.

[S. 154.] 3. (1) Where the parties are at issue on some question of law or of fact, and issues have been framed by the Court as hereinbefore provided, if the Court is satisfied that no further argument or evidence than the parties can at once adduce is required upon such of the issues as may be sufficient for the decision of the suit, and that no injustice will result from proceeding with the suit forthwith, the Court may proceed to determine such issues, and, if the finding thereon is sufficient for the decision, may pronounce judgment accordingly, whether the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only or for the final disposal of the suit:

Parties at issue.

Provided that, where the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only, the parties or their pleaders are present and none of them object.

(2) Where the finding is not sufficient for the decision, the Court shall postpone the further hearing of the suit, and shall fix a day for the production of such further evidence, or for such further argument as the case requires.

[S. 155.] 4. Where the summons has been issued for the final disposal of the suit and either party fails without sufficient cause to produce the evidence on which he relies, the Court may at once pronounce judgment, or may, if it thinks fit, after framing and recording issues, adjourn the suit for the production of such evidence as may be necessary for its decision upon such issues.

Failure to produce evidence.

[S. 241.]

Liability of judgment-debtor discharged to be retaken.

Mode of execution.

[S. 254.]

Decree for payment of money.

30. Every decree for the payment of money, including a decree for the payment of money as the alternative to some other relief, may be executed by the detention in the civil prison of the judgment-debtor or by the attachment and sale of his property, or by both.

31. (1) Where the decree is for any specific moveable, or for any share in a specific moveable, it may be executed by the seizure, if practicable, of the moveable or share, and by the delivery thereof to the party to whom it has been adjudged, or to such person as he appoints to receive delivery on his behalf, or by the detention in the civil prison of the judgment-debtor, or by the attach*ment of* his property, or by both.

(2) Where any attachment under sub-rule (1) has remained in force for six months, if the judgment-debtor has not obeyed the decree and the decree-holder has applied to have the attached property sold, such property may be sold, and out of the proceeds the Court may award to the decree-holder, in cases where any amount has been fixed by the decree to be paid as an alternative to delivery of moveable property, such amount, and, in other cases, such compensation as it thinks fit, and shall pay the balance (if any) to the judgment-debtor on his application.

(3) Where the judgment-debtor has obeyed the decree and paid all costs of executing the same which he is bound to pay, or where, at the end of six months from the date of the attachment, no application to have the property sold has been made, or, if made, has been refused, the attachment shall cease.

Illustration.

A, a person of little substance, erects a building which renders unhabitable a family mansion belonging to B. A, in spite of his detention in prison and the attachment of his property, declines to obey a decree obtained against him by B and directing him to remove the building. The Court is of opinion that no sum realizable by the sale of A's property would adequately compensate B for the depreciation in the value of his mansion. B may apply to the Court to remove the building and may recover the cost of such removal from A in the execution-proceedings.

(3) The Court may from time to time vary or modify any order made under sub-rule (2) for the periodical payment of money, either by altering the times of payment or by increasing or diminishing the amount, or may temporarily suspend the same as to the whole or any part of the money so ordered to be paid, and again revive the same, either wholly or in part as it may think just.

[S. 245B.]

37. (1) Notwithstanding anything in these rules, where an application is for the execution of a decree for the payment of money by the arrest and detention in the civil prison of a judgment-debtor who is liable to be arrested in pursuance of the application, the Court may, instead of issuing a warrant for his arrest, issue a notice calling upon him to appear before the Court on a day to be specified in the notice and show cause why he should not be committed to the civil prison.

[S. 373.] 1. (1) At any time after the institution of a suit the plaintiff may, as against all or any of the defendants, withdraw his suit or abandon part of his claim.

Withdrawal of suit or abandonment of part of claim.

(2) Where the Court is satisfied—

(a) that a suit must fail by reason of some formal defect, or

(b) that there are other sufficient grounds for allowing the plaintiff to institute a fresh suit for the subject-matter of a suit or part of a claim, it may, on such terms as it thinks fit, grant the plaintiff permission to withdraw from such suit or abandon such part of a claim with liberty to institute a fresh suit in respect of such subject-matter of such suit or such part of a claim.

(3) Where the plaintiff withdraws from a suit, or abandons a part of a claim, without the permission referred to in sub-rule (2), he shall be liable for such costs as the Court may award and shall be precluded from instituting any fresh suit in respect of such subject-matter or such part of the claim.

ORDER XXIV.

Payment into Court.

[S. 376.] 1. The defendant in any suit to recover a debt or damages may, at any stage of the suit, deposit in Court such sum of money as he considers a satisfaction in full of the claim.

Deposit by defendant of amount in satisfaction of claim.

[S. 377.] 2. Notice in writing of the deposit shall be given through the Court by the defendant to the plaintiff, and the amount of the deposit shall (unless the Court otherwise directs) be paid to the plaintiff on his application.

[S. 378.] 3. No interest shall be allowed to the plaintiff on any sum deposited by the defendant from the date of the receipt of such notice, whether the sum deposited is in full of the claim or falls short thereof.

Interest on deposit not allowed to plaintiff after notice.

[S. 379.] 4. (1) Where the plaintiff accepts such amount as satisfaction in part only of his claim, he may prosecute his suit for the balance; and, if the Court decides that the deposit by the defendant was a full satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim, the plaintiff shall pay the costs of the suit incurred after the deposit and the costs incurred previous thereto, so far as they were caused by excess in the plaintiff's claim.

Procedure where plaintiff accepts deposit as satisfaction in part.

(2) Where the plaintiff accepts such amount as satisfaction in full of his claim, he shall present to the Court a statement to that effect, and such statement shall be filed and the Court shall pronounce judgment accordingly; and, in directing by whom the costs of each party are to be paid, the Court shall consider which of the parties is most to blame for the litigation.

Procedure where he accepts it as satisfaction in full.

Illustrations.

(a) A owes B Rs. 100. B sues A for the amount, having made no demand for payment and having no reason to believe that the delay caused by making a demand would place him at a disadvantage. On the plaint being filed, A pays the money into Court. B accepts it in full satisfaction of his claim, but the Court should not allow him any costs, the litigation being presumably groundless on his part.

(b) B sues A under the circumstances mentioned in illustration (a). On the plaint being filed, A disputes the claim. Afterwards A pays the money into Court. B accepts it in full satisfaction of his claim. The Court should also give B his costs of suit, A's conduct having shown that the litigation was necessa y.

(c) A owes B Rs. 100, and is willing to pay him that sum without suit. B claims Rs. 150 and sues A for that amount. On the plaint being filed A pays Rs. 100 into Court and disputes only his liability to pay the remaining Rs. 50. B accepts the Rs. 100 in full satisfaction of his claim. The Court should order him to pay A's costs.

(3) On the application of any defendant in a suit for the payment of money, in which the plaintiff is a woman, the Court may at any stage of the suit make a like order if it is satisfied that such plaintiff does not possess any sufficient immoveable property within British India.

Effect of failure to furnish security.

2. (1) In the event of such security not being furnished within the time fixed under rule 1, the Court shall make an order dismissing the suit unless the plaintiff or plaintiffs be permitted to withdraw therefrom under the provisions of rule 1 of Order XXIII.

(2) Where a suit is dismissed under this rule, the plaintiff may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and, if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from furnishing the security within the time allowed, the Court shall set aside the dismissal upon such terms as to security costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

S. 462.] Agreement or compromise by next friend or guardian for the suit.

7. (1) No next friend or guardian for the suit shall, without the leave of the Court, expressly recorded in the proceedings, enter into any agreement or compromise on behalf of a minor with reference to the suit in which he acts as next friend or guardian.

S. 446.] Removal of next friend.

9. (1) Where the interest of the next friend of a minor is adverse to that of the minor or where he is so connected with a defendant whose interest is adverse to that of the minor as to make it unlikely that the minor's interest will be properly protected by him, or where he does not do his duty, or, during the pendency of the suit, ceases to reside within British India, or for any other sufficient cause, application may be made on behalf of the minor or by a defendant for his removal; and the Court, if satisfied of the sufficiency of the cause assigned may order the next friend to be removed accordingly, and make such other order as to costs as it thinks fit.

(2) Where the next friend is not a guardian appointed or declared by an authority competent in this behalf, and an application is made by a guardian so appointed or declared, who desires to be himself appointed in the place of the next friend, the Court shall remove the next friend unless it considers, for reasons to be recorded by it, that the guardian ought not to be appointed the next friend of the minor, and shall thereupon appoint the applicant to be next friend in his place upon such terms as to the costs already incurred in the suit as it thinks fit.

S. 448.] Stay of proceedings on removal, etc., of next friend.

10. (1) On the retirement, removal or death of the next friend of a minor, further proceedings shall be stayed until the appointment of a next friend in his place.

(2) Notice of the application shall be served on the next friend, on any co-plaintiff and on the defendant.

(3) The costs of all parties of such application, and of all or any proceedings theretofore had in the suit, shall be paid by such persons as the Court directs.

[S. 455.] Unreasonable or improper suit.

14. (1) A minor on attaining majority may, if a sole plaintiff, apply that a suit instituted in his name by a next friend be dismissed on the ground that it was unreasonable or improper.

(2) Notice of the application shall be served on all the parties concerned; and the Court, upon being satisfied of such unreasonableness or impropriety, may grant the application and order the next friend to pay the costs of all parties in respect of the application and of anything done in the suit, or make such other order as it thinks fit.

[Ss. 460, 463.] Application of rules to persons of unsound mind.

15. The provisions contained in rules 1 to 14, so far as they are applicable, shall extend to persons adjudged to be of unsound mind and to persons who though not so adjudged are found by the Court on inquiry, by reason of unsoundness of mind or mental infirmity, to be incapable of protecting their interests when suing or being sued.

[S. 507.] Appointment of arbitrator.

2. The arbitrator shall be appointed in such manner as may be agreed upon between the parties.

[S. 508.] Order of reference.

3. (1) The Court shall, by order, refer to the arbitrator the matter in difference which he is required to determine, and shall fix such time as it thinks reasonable for the making of the award, and shall specify such time in the order.

(b) by declaring that, if the majority of the arbitrators agree, the decision of the majority shall prevail; or

(c) by empowering the arbitrators to appoint an umpire; or

(d) otherwise as may be agreed between the parties, or, if they cannot agree, as the Court may determine.

(2) Where an umpire is appointed, the Court shall fix such time as it thinks reasonable for the making of his award in case he is required to act.

Power of Court to appoint arbitrator in certain cases.

5. (1) In any of the following cases, namely:—

(a) where the parties cannot agree within a reasonable time with respect to the appointment of an arbitrator, or the person appointed refuses to accept the office of arbitrator, or any party may serve the other party or the arbitrators, as the case may be, with a written notice to appoint an arbitrator or umpire.

(2) If, within seven clear days after such notice has been served or such further time as the Court may in each case allow, no arbitrator or no umpire is appointed, as the case may be, the Court may, on application by the party who gave the notice, and after giving the other party an opportunity of being heard, appoint an arbitrator or umpire or make an order superseding the arbitration, and in such case shall proceed with the suit.

7. (1) The Court shall issue the same processes to the parties and witness whom the arbitrator or umpire desires to examine, as the Court may issue in suits tried before it.

(2) Persons not attending in accordance with such process, or making any other default, or refusing to give their evidence, or guilty of any contempt to the arbitrator or umpire during the investigation of the matters referred, shall be subject to the like disadvantages, penalties and punishments, by order of the Court on the representation of the arbitrator or umpire, as they would incur for the like offences in suits tried before the Court.

[S. 514.] Extension of time for making award.

8. Where the arbitrators or the umpire cannot complete the award within the period specified in the order, the Court may, if it thinks fit, either allow further time, and from time to time, either before or after the expiration of the period fixed for the making of the award, enlarge such period; or may make an order superseding the arbitration, and in such case shall proceed with the suit.

[S. 515.] Where umpire may arbitrate in lieu of arbitrators.

9. Where an umpire has been appointed, he may enter on the reference in the place of the arbitrators,—

[S. 516.] Award to be signed and filed.

10. Where an award in a suit has been made, the persons who made it shall sign it and cause it to be filed in Court, together with any depositions and documents which have been taken and proved before them; and notice of the filing shall be given to the parties.

[S. 517. Statement of special case by arbitrators or umpire.

the Court, and the Court shall deliver its opinion thereon, and such opinion shall be added to and form part of the award.

Power to modify or correct award.

12. The Court may, by order, modify or correct an award,— [S. 518.]

(a) where it appears that a part of the award is upon a matter not referred to arbitration and such part can be separated from the other part and does not affect the decision on the matter referred; or

(b) where the award is imperfect in form, or contains any obvious error which can be amended without affecting such decision; or

(c) where the award contains a clerical mistake or an error arising from an accidental slip or omission.

Order as to costs of arbitration.

13. The Court may also make such order as it thinks fit respecting the costs of the arbitration where any question arises respecting such costs and the award contains no sufficient provision concerning them. [S. 519.]

Where award or matter referred to arbitration may be remitted.

14. The Court may remit the award or any matter referred to arbitration to the re-consideration of the same arbitrator or umpire, upon such terms as it thinks fit,— [S. 520.]

(4) Where no sufficient cause is shown, the Court shall order the agreement to be filed, and shall make an order of reference to the arbitrator appointed in accordance with the provisions of the agreement or, if there is no such provision and the parties cannot agree, the Court may appoint an arbitrator.

THE THIRD SCHEDULE.

EXECUTION OF DECREES BY COLLECTORS.

[S. 321.] Powers of Collector.

1. Where the execution of a decree has been transferred to the Collector under section 68, he may—

(a) proceed as the Court would proceed when the sale of immoveable property is postponed in order to enable the judgment-debtor to raise the amount of the decree ; or

(b) raise the amount of the decree by letting in perpetuity, or for a term, on payment of a premium, or by mortgaging, the whole or any part of the property ordered to be sold ; or

(c) sell the property ordered to be sold or so much thereof as may be necessary.

[S. 322.] Procedure of Collector in special cases.

2. Where the execution of a decree, not being a decree ordering the sale of immoveable property in pursuance of a contract specifically affecting the same, but being a decree for the payment of money in satisfaction of which the Court has ordered the sale of immoveable property, has been so transferred, the Collector, if, after such inquiry as he thinks necessary, he has reason to believe that all the liabilities of the judgment-debtor can be discharged without a sale of the whole of his available immoveable property, may proceed as hereinafter provided.

[S. 322A.] Notice to be given to decree-holders and to persons having claims on property.

3. (1) In any such case as is referred to in paragraph 2, the Collector shall publish a notice, allowing a period of sixty days from the date of its publication for compliance and calling upon—

(a) every person holding a decree for the payment of money against the judgment-debtor capable of execution by sale of his immoveable property and which such decree-holder desires to have so executed, and every holder of a decree for the payment of money in execution of which proceedings for the sale of such property are pending, to produce before the Collector a copy of the decree, and a certificate from the Court which passed or is executing the same, declaring the amount recoverable thereunder ;

(b) every person having any claim on the said property to submit to the Collector a statement of such claim, and to produce the documents (if any) by which it is evidenced.

(2) Such notice shall be published by being affixed on a conspicuous part of the court-house of the Court which made the original order for sale, and in such other places (if any) as the Collector thinks fit ; and where the address of any such decree-holder or claimant is known, a copy of the notice shall be sent to him by post or otherwise.

[S. 322B.] Amount of decrees for payment of money to be ascertained, and immoveable property available for their satisfaction.

4. (1) Upon the expiration of the said period, the Collector shall appoint a day for hearing any representations which the judgment-debtor and the decree-holders or claimants (if any) may desire to make, and for holding such inquiry as he may deem necessary for informing himself as to the nature and extent of such decrees and claims and of the judgment-debtor's immoveable property, and may, from time to time, adjourn such hearing and inquiry.

(2) Where there is no dispute as to the fact or extent of the liability of the judgment-debtor to any of the decrees or claims of which the Collector is informed, or as to the relative priorities of such decrees or claims, or as to the liability of any such property for the satisfaction of such decrees or claims, the Collector shall draw up a statement, specifying the amount to be recovered for the discharge of such decrees the order in which such decrees and claims are to be satisfied, and the immoveable property available for that purpose.

(3) Where any such dispute arises, the Collector shall refer the same, with a statement thereof and his own opinion thereon, to the Court which made the original order for sale, and shall, pending the reference, stay proceedings relating to the subject thereof. The Court shall dispose of the dispute if the matter thereof is within its jurisdiction, or transmit the case to a competent Court for disposal, and the final decision shall be communicated to the Collector, who shall then draw up a statement as above provided in accordance with such decision.

S. 322 C.] Where District Court may issue notices and hold inquiry.

5. The Collector may, instead of himself issuing the notices and holding the inquiry required by paragraphs 3 and 4, draw up a statement specifying the circumstances of the judgment-debtor and of his immoveable property so far as they are known to the Collector or appear in the records of his office, and forward such statement to the District Court ; and such Court shall thereupon issue the notices, hold the inquiry and draw up the statement required by paragraphs 3 and 4 and transmit such statement to the Collector.

S. 322 D.] Effect of decision of Court as to dispute.

6. The decision by the Court of any dispute arising under paragraph 4 or paragraph 5 shall, as between the parties thereto, have the force of and be appealable as a decree.

[S. 323. Scheme for liquidation of decrees for payment of money.

7. Where the amount to be recovered and the property available have been determined as provided in paragraph 4 or paragraph 5, the Collector may,—

(1) if it appears that the amount cannot be recovered without the sale of the whole of the property available, proceed to sell such property ; or, if it appears that the amount with interest (if any) in accordance with the decree, and, when not decreed, with interest (if any) at such rate as he thinks reasonable, may be recovered without such sale ;

(2) raise such amount and interest (notwithstanding the original order for sale) —

(a) by letting in perpetuity or for a term, on payment of a premium, the whole or any part of the said property ; or

(b) by mortgaging the whole or any part of such property ; or

(c) by selling part of such property ; or

(d) by letting on farm, or managing by himself or another, the whole or any part of such property for any term not exceeding twenty years from the date of the order of sale ; or

(e) partly by one of such modes, and partly by another or others of such modes.

(3) For the purpose of managing the whole or any part of such property, the Collector may exercise all the powers of its owner.

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.

(The Third Schedule—Execution of Decrees by Collectors.)

(4) For the purpose of improving the saleable value of the property available or any part thereof, or rendering it more suitable for letting or managing, or for preserving the property from sale in satisfaction of an incumbrance, the Collector may discharge the claim of any incumbrancer which has become payable or compound the claim of any incumbrancer whether it has become payable or not, and, for the purpose of providing funds to effect such discharge or composition, may mortgage, let or sell any portion of the property which he deems sufficient. If any dispute arises as to the amount due on any incumbrance with which the Collector proposes to deal under this clause, he may institute a suit in the proper Court, either in his own name or the name of the judgment-debtor, to have an account taken, or he may agree to refer such dispute to the decision of two arbitrators, one to be chosen by each party, or of an umpire to be named by such arbitrators.

(5) In proceeding under clauses (2), (3) and (4 of this paragraph the Collector shall be subject to such rules consistent with this Act as may, from time to time, be made in this behalf by the Local Government.

Recovery of balance (if any) after letting or management.

[S. 324]

8. Where, on the expiration of the letting or management under paragraph 7 the amount to be recovered has not been realized, the Collector shall notify the fact in writing to the judgment-debtor or his representative in interest, stating at the same time that, if the balance necessary to make up the said amount is not paid to the Collector within six weeks from the date of such notice, he will proceed to sell the whole or a sufficient part of the said property; and, if on the expiration of the said six weeks the said balance is not so paid, the Collector shall sell such property or part accordingly.

Collector to render accounts to Court.

[S. 324A.]

9. (1) The Collector shall, from time to time, render to the Court which made the original order for sale an account of all monies which come to his hands and of all charges incurred by him in the exercise and performance of the powers and duties conferred and imposed on him under the provisions of this Schedule, and shall hold the balance at the disposal of the Court.

(2) Such charges shall include all debts and liabilities from time to time due to the Government in respect of the property or any part thereof, the rent (if any) from time to time due to a superior holder in respect of such property or part, and, if the Collector so directs, the expenses of any witnesses summoned by him.

(3) The balance shall be applied by the Court—

(a) in providing for the maintenance of such members of the judgment-debtor's family (if any) as are entitled to be maintained out of the income of the property, to such amount in the case of each member as the Court thinks fit; and

(b) where the Collector has proceeded under paragraph 1, in satisfaction of the original decree in execution of which the Court ordered the sale of immoveable property, or otherwise as the Court may under section 73 direct; or

(c) where the Collector has proceeded under paragraph 2,—

(i) in keeping down the interest on incumbrances on the property;

(ii) where the judgment-debtor has no other sufficient means of subsistence, in providing for his subsistence to such amount as the Court thinks fit; and

(iii) in discharging rateably the claims of the original decree-holders and any other decree-holders who have complied with the said notice, and whose claims were included in the amount ordered to be recovered.

(4) No other holder of a decree for the payment of money shall be entitled to be paid out of such property or balance until the decree-holders who have obtained such order have been satisfied, and the residue (if any) shall be paid to the judgment-debtor or such other person as the Court directs.

Sales how to be conducted.

[S. 325.]

10. Where the Collector sells any property under this Schedule, he shall put it up to public auction in one or more lots, as he thinks fit, and may—

(a) fix a reasonable reserved price for each lot;

(b) adjourn the sale for a reasonable time whenever, for reasons to be recorded, he deems the adjournment necessary for the purpose of obtaining a fair price for the property;

(c) buy in the property offered for sale, and re-sell the same by public auction or private contract, as he thinks fit.

Restrictions as to alienation by judgment-debtor or his representative, and prosecution of remedies by decree-holders.

11. (1) So long as the Collector can exercise or perform in respect of the judgment-debtor's immoveable property, or any part thereof, any of the powers or duties conferred or imposed on him by paragraphs 1 to 10, the judgment-debtor or his representative in interest shall be incompetent to mortgage, charge, lease or alienate such property or part except with the written permission of the Collector, nor shall any Civil Court issue any process against such property or part in execution of a decree for the payment of money.

(2) During the same period no Civil Court shall issue any process of execution either against the judgment-debtor or his property in respect of any decree for the satisfaction whereof provision has been made by the Collector under paragraph 7.

(3) The same period shall be excluded in calculating the period of limitation applicable to the execution of any decree affected by the provisions of this paragraph in respect of any remedy of which the decree-holder has been temporarily deprived.

Provision where property is in several districts.

[S. 325B.]

12. Where the property of which the sale has been ordered is situate in more districts than one, the powers and duties conferred and imposed on the Collector by paragraphs 1 to 10 shall be exercised and performed by such one of the Collectors of the said districts as the Local Government may by general rule or special order direct.

Powers of Collector to compel attendance and production.

[S. 332C.]

13. In exercising the powers conferred on him by paragraphs 1 to 10 the Collector shall have the powers of a Civil Court to compel the attendance of parties and witnesses and the production of documents.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bill is sufficiently explained in the Report of the Special Committee printed below.

H. ERLE RICHARDS.

Report of the Special Committee appointed to consider the amendment of the Civil Procedure Code.

We have the honour to present this report on the proposals to amend the Code of Civil Procedure which have been submitted for our consideration by the Government of India and, annexed to it, a draft Bill amended by us. A detailed account of the alterations introduced in the Bill will be found in the Notes on Clauses which form the second part of this Report, but we desire by way of preface to make some observations of a general character on the defects in the existing law which appear to us to call for reform and on the more important of those alterations.

1. The Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 has been in force for 25 years and the experience of those years has shown that the general lines on which it proceeds are sound. The matters in which it has proved defective are for the most part matters of detail, and they arise, as it seems to us, mainly from the fact that it is impossible to frame a fixed and rigid Code in such a manner as to sufficiently meet the varying needs of an area so diversified as that to which the Code applies. In our opinion it is essential that there should be some machinery to enable variations to be introduced in procedure to meet the different requirements of different localities as well as to enable defects to be remedied as they are discovered without resort to the tardy process of legislation. We propose to make provision for these purposes by a re-arrangement of the Code. We recommend that matters of mere machinery should be relegated to rules capable of alteration by each High Court, subject to certain checks, and that those provisions only should be retained in the body of the Code in which some degree of permanence and uniformity is desirable. This re-arrangement is in accordance with precedent and possesses advantages so obvious that it is needless to enlarge upon them.

2. The objection—and as it appears to us the only objection of substance—that can be urged against this proposal is that until the scheme of distribution has become familiar to those who have to administer the Act the change may cause some confusion and the familiar numerical references to the present sections will no longer apply. We are sensible that some inconvenience must arise from this cause in the first instance, but this is but a small disadvantage in comparison with the advantages to be obtained by the change, and we cannot think that anyone will seriously contend that such a slight and temporary drawback should stand in the way of a reform which appears to us in other respects to be wholly beneficial.

3. The adoption of this principle has necessarily involved a departure from the arrangement of the present Code, but in other respects we have advisedly adhered as closely as possible to the existing language, the meaning of which is now well understood by Courts and by practitioners. Speaking generally, it may be said that we have only departed from the phraseology of the Code where experience has suggested improvements or competent authority has called for some change. We have refrained from altering the wording merely because it might be capable of improvement: for in any change, even of a verbal character, there is a risk of opening a door to fresh litigation. In the amendments that we have introduced we have endeavoured to state general rules of procedure rather than to provide in detail for every possible contingency; for we hold it to be a sound view that excessive elaboration of details of procedure tends to cramp the actions of the Court and in consequence to encourage technicalities. For this reason we have made no attempt to embody in the Code a digest of the very numerous decisions on the existing sections: we have made amendments to meet case law only on points on which there is a conflict of authority. And in this connection we desire to point out that at the present time there is even less justification for the enactment of elaborate provisions in regard to procedure than at the time when the Code of 1882 was passed. Since then the standard of legal efficiency in the mofussil has been materially raised, and the principles of procedure are now so well understood that the Courts may be trusted to apply them intelligently in cases for which no provision may be made in terms.

But although we have made the present Code the basis of our draft, we have carefully examined the Bill settled by the Select Committee in 1903, and we desire to express our acknowledgments to that Committee for the store of information it contains, and for the materials collected in their Report.

Apart from the re-arrangement to which reference has been made we have not introduced many changes of a radical character into the Code.

4. The general nature of some of the amendments we recommend may be conveniently illustrated by a brief examination of the extent to which the various stages of a suit will be affected by them.

A. To begin with it is hoped that the multiplicity of suits will be further curtailed by the new provisions we have inserted to remove limitations which we regard as needless on the comprehensiveness of a suit, and by the wider powers of amendment vested in the Courts under the Bill. An adequate check is provided by the power of a Court to interfere where embarrassment is likely to result.

B. Increased facilities have been given for the service of process to which further reference is made in the Notes on Clauses. It is hoped that in the gradual introduction of service by post may be found a solution of one of the principal defects in our legal system.

C. In our opinion it is most necessary that litigants in this country should come to trial with all issues clearly defined, and that cases should not be expanded or grounds shifted without reference to the true facts. For this purpose we think that the present system of pleadings in the mofussil, which is notoriously lax, should be improved, and we have incorporated in the rules an Order on pleadings, which it is hoped will lead to sounder and fairer methods of arriving at the real points in dispute. The forms have been revised and we hope that they will be brought into more general use in the mofussil.

We have not been able within the time at our disposal to make these forms, or the other forms in the Appendix to Schedule I, complete: but this is a matter of detail which can be further considered before the Bill is passed into law.

D. It is not possible to secure expedition in the disposal of suits, unless the questions of fact on which there is a real contest are narrowed down as far as possible. As a step towards this, we have incorporated in the rules an Order in which provision is made for the admission not only of documents, but also of facts. It must be left to litigants and their advisers to make adequate use of this order: but it is hoped that the Courts will encourage the use of it, since it certainly affords a means whereby the two principal evils of litigation, delay and expense, can be materially diminished.

E. We attach much importance to a proper use being made by Courts in the mofussil of the procedure prescribed for the first hearing. The Code as it stands makes provision for the examination of parties by the Court, and we have altered the language so as to compel the production of documents at the first hearing. In our opinion this will act as a substantial check on the fabrication of documentary evidence.

F. The provisions relating to the hearing of suits do not call for material alteration, but we have thought it well to provide expressly for the cases where a party dies between conclusion of the hearing and delivery of judgment. It would obviously be wrong that such an accident should in any way interfere with the disposal of the case, and we have therefore inserted a provision to enable judgment to be pronounced notwithstanding the death.

G. A change of importance has been made in regard to decrees. In the first place, we have inserted an express provision recognizing the distinction between preliminary and final decrees. We hope in this way to afford facilities for checking the delay that now results from the objectionable practice of leaving for determination in execution questions which should be decided by the decree. This change should ensure the more expeditious disposal of a class of suits which at present are conspicuous for the delay to which they give rise. Another amendment of importance which we have introduced is in regard to mortgage-suits. These are very numerous and involve complicated questions of law. Hitherto some confusion has been occasioned by the co-existence of the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act and of the Code in regard to execution in mortgage-suits. We think that the provisions regulating this matter should be dealt with in their entirety in the Code, and we have therefore introduced rules in Order XXXIV to give effect to our view. We propose that the sections of the Transfer of Property Act affected by this change should be repealed. We desire to call the attention of those Provinces to which that Act does not apply to the effect of these changes.

In our opinion it is expedient to give greater assistance to the Courts in the framing of decrees. The importance of this branch of procedure cannot be overrated; it is surrounded by difficulties which are a fruitful source of error and consequently of litigation. We have amplified the provisions of the Code to meet this defect, and have introduced some forms which can be adapted to meet the requirements of individual cases. We think that further forms might be added with advantage before the Bill becomes law.

H. Amongst other matters we have removed limitations which at present exist on the power of appointing Receivers, and have conferred a power to appoint Receivers on Subordinate Courts.

5. Execution.—The subject of execution is, perhaps, one of the most difficult with which we have had to deal. The present system, in the mofussil at any rate, tends to excessive delay and affords facilities for defeating the claims of creditors. At the same time the creditor often has only himself to blame, owing to his own laches in prosecuting his rights. In the Presidency Towns the same objections cannot be fairly raised; the system works well; whilst, in the mofussil, the difficulties arise not so much from the machinery itself, as from the defective manner in which it is worked. One of the most fruitful sources of litigation is the setting aside of execution sales, on the ground of irregularity in the publication of the sale proclamation. It is notorious that in many of these cases the Court's officer, either through negligence or dishonesty, has not duly published the proclamation, but it is impossible to deal with such cases by any provision in a Code. After a most careful consideration of the subject, we have not seen our way to any very drastic changes in the present system. We have found ourselves unable to accept the somewhat far reaching proposal of the Committee of 1902 in relation to the execution of decrees by precept: but we are so far in accord with the view expressed by that Committee as to have been able to insert in the Bill a clause which enables the Court which passed the decree to issue a precept to any other Court to attach property of the judgment-debtor, pending execution in the ordinary course. Beyond this we have felt we could not safely go.

We anticipate that there will be a substantial saving of time, and consequent expense, from the provision requiring that mesne profits shall be ascertained by the Court under the decree itself, and not as now in execution proceedings.

Clause 53 has been introduced to settle a long mooted point upon which there is much diversity of judicial opinion, as to whether or not questions as to the liability of ancestral property in the hands of a son or other descendant to whom it has come otherwise than by descent for the payment of the debt for which the decree was passed, can be determined under clause 47 of the present Bill, corresponding with section 244 of the existing Code. We think they should be.

Other amendments deserving notice relate to (1) the power to break open the outer door of the judgment-debtor's dwelling house; (2) the date from which the purchaser's title accrues; (3) oral application for immediate execution; (4) the discretion of the Court in the execution of decrees for the restitution of conjugal rights; (5) execution against partnership property; (6) extended facilities for attaching salaries; and (7) powers to decree-holders to carry decrees into effect at the expense of the judgment-debtor.

We regard the changes made in relation to execution as calculated to materially assist the judgment-creditor in recovering the fruits of his judgment.

6. Arbitration.—Two questions of importance have arisen in connection with this subject : (1) should any of the sections of the Arbitration Act of 1899 be incorporated into the Code ; (2) should the right of appeal, as now existing, be altered, and if so, in what direction ? We are of opinion that the best course would undoubtedly be to eliminate from the Code all the clauses as to arbitration, and insert them in a new and comprehensive Arbitration Act. There are, perhaps, difficulties as to this at present. We have determined therefore to leave the arbitration clauses much as they are in the present Code : but we have placed them in a Schedule in the hope that at no distant date they may be transferred into a comprehensive Arbitration Act.

In regard to appeals, some change has been made. Upon this question, adopting the view of the Judicial Committee as expressed in Ghulam's case (I. L. R., 29 Cal., 167) we are strongly in favour of finality in cases of arbitration. If rights of appeal be given, the disappointed party will take advantage of every such right. To meet the difficulty expressed in the case reported in I. L. R., 25 Cal., 141 (which followed many other cases in the Calcutta High Court), we have inserted the words " or being otherwise invalid " in sub-section (c) of section 521 of the present Code. If, therefore, either party considers the award is invalid on any ground, he can apply to have it set aside. We have thought it right to give one appeal from the opinion expressed by the Court on a special case under section 517, and to allow one appeal as from order under sections 521, 523 and 526. And having regard to the rather wide language of the Judicial Committee in Ghulam's case, we have further thought it advisable to make it clear that an order granting an application either under section 523 or 526 is not to be deemed a decree within the meaning of the Code; otherwise there would be a wider right of appeal from orders under these sections than from a decree under section 522. The other alterations deal with the text, rather than with any question of policy or principle.

7. Suits relating to public matters.—We have inserted a clause to enable actions for public nuisances to be brought, with the consent of the Advocate General, irrespective of special damage. It has been represented to us that such a power is needed and we concur in that view.

8. Public charities.—The suggestion has been made on high authority that some express reference should be made in the Code to the power of the Court to apply the Cy-près doctrine in the settling of schemes. But this power would appear to exist already within its proper limits (Mayor of Lyons' case, L. R., 3 I. A., 32) and we do not think it necessary to make express reference to it.

It has been represented to us by more than one gentleman whose opinion is entitled to weight, that the power to enquire into the affairs of public charities should be made more extensive. The clause, as it stands, gives sufficient powers to the Courts to direct accounts and to frame schemes when once a suit has been instituted, but it is said that members of the public interested in any public charity ought to have the means of calling for and inspecting accounts without undertaking the burden of a suit, at least in the first instance. We are told that revenues derived from charitable trusts are in some cases very large in amount : that no accounts of their expenditure are ordinarily rendered, and that there is good ground for believing that a considerable portion is misspent or squandered on useless objects.

The Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehary Ghose supports these views and has submitted a clause to give effect to them. It is in the following terms:—

"93-A. (1) The Court may also, upon an application by any two or more persons having the like interest and having obtained the like consent, direct any trustee of such charity to cause to be prepared and filed in the Court, within such time as may be specified in the order, a detailed account of the receipts and disbursements in connection with the trust property for a period not exceeding three years next preceding the date of the application.

(2) Such accounts, when filed in Court, shall be open to inspection by the public.

(3) A trustee who fails to comply with any such direction shall be removed if a suit for that purpose be instituted, unless he can show good cause for such failure."

We have given to the subject our best consideration and desire to record our sympathy with the motives of the proposers. But we have not inserted the clause in the Bill because we think that the question is one of policy on which the public opinion of the communities interested should first be obtained. It affects primarily, as we understand, the Hindu and, to a less extent, the Muhammadan community. And we should not feel justified in recommending an amendment of the law on such a subject as this, unless the leaders of those communities were to express their support of the proposal in unequivocal terms. If it is eventually decided to adopt the amendment, then we think that the clause proposed by Dr. Ghose may be accepted.

9. Suits by or against firms.—Attention is directed to the new provision in regard to suits by or against firms (Order XXX), which will, we hope, prove acceptable to the commercial community.

10. New procedure.—We have given power to provide by Rules for Counter-claims, Third Party Procedure, Summary Procedure in suits for debt or liquidated demands, as, for instance, rent, or any other definite sum payable under a contract and Originating summons. We are of opinion that these forms of proceeding may usefully be adopted in some, areas but that this is a matter which should be left for each High Court to decide.

11. Appeals.—As regards appeals from original decrees we have departed but slightly from the existing Code. We have thought it advisable to give legislative sanction to the view that no appeal shall lie from a consent decree, or as to costs, except by leave of the Court: but the most important change is that incorporated in clause 97, which renders it obligatory upon a party, who considers himself aggrieved by a preliminary decree, to appeal from that decree, at the risk of being precluded from disputing its correctness on an appeal from the final decree. We feel strongly that this is a most useful provision, as tending to that which is so desirable, viz., finality in litigation.

As regards appeals from appellate decrees the only substantial departure from the existing Code is the insertion of clause 103. Experience has shown the desirability of this clause, the effect of which will be to avoid remands, with their consequent delay and expense.

As regards appeals from orders a comparison of clause 104 of the Bill with section 588 of the existing Code would support a primâ facie inference that the right of appeal from Orders had been materially curtailed. But this inference is dispelled on looking at sub-clause (h) of clause 104 which allows an appeal from any Order made under Rules from which an appeal is expressly allowed by Rules. We have gone carefully into the question of the cases in which an appeal should be allowed from these Orders and our conclusion is expressed in the Rules themselves.

12. Rules.—The distribution of the provisions of the Code between the body of the Bill and the Rules is a matter on which opinions may well differ. The general principle on which we have proceeded has been to keep in the body of the Bill those provisions which appear to us to be fundamental and those provisions which confer powers operating outside the Province in which the Court is situated. In some cases we have adopted the plan of inserting leading provisions in the Bill, stating in general terms the powers of the Court, and of leaving the details to Rules; in matters of less importance the provisions have been relegated altogether to Rules. The result of this re-arrangement is to reduce the Act, as distinct from Schedules, to 155 clauses. The existing order of sequence has, speaking generally, been maintained, but the reduced bulk of the Bill has rendered it no longer necessary to reproduce the division into Chapters.

It is proposed to vest the power of making Rules in High Courts, subject to the control of Local Governments (or, in the case of the Calcutta High Court, of the Government of India), but we think it most desirable that in exercising this power the Courts should have the advice of representatives of the various branches of the legal profession, and we have accordingly provided that, in the case of Chartered High Courts and of Chief Courts, Rules shall only be made after those Courts have taken the opinion of a Rule Committee on which there will be representatives of the Bar, of Vakeels or Pleaders and, in Presidency-towns, of Attorneys. In the case of other High Courts power has been given to establish such Rule Committees as the Governor General in Council may determine. It is believed that Standing Committees of this kind will be of great value. We have thought it better to require the same sanction as is required by the Indian High Courts Act of 1861, in order that the rule-making power should correspond with the power conferred under that Act; but we are of opinion that, in the interest of uniformity, it is expedient that all amendments of Rules should be communicated to the Government of India and to other High Courts before sanction is given to them. This, we understand, can be effected by executiv order.

If our proposal is adopted, it will probably be useful to publish annually in every Province some manual corresponding to the English "Annual Practice" containing :—

(1) the Act;

(2) all rules of procedure made under it or under other Acts in the Province;

(3) notes of decisions on the Act and Rules.

13. We are sensible that there may be defects and flaws in the Bill which we append to this Report. The subject is complicated and technical and the time at our disposal has been limited. We do not doubt therefore that much improvement may be made in the Bill before it is finally passed into law. But in our opinion it is framed on the right lines. We believe for the reasons we have stated that in any reform of Civil Procedure it is essential to introduce some elasticity, to give wider powers of control to the High Courts, and to invest them with a larger discretion in regard to the conduct of cases which come before them. Mr. Dikshit, Subordinate Judge from Bombay, has been present throughout our deliberations, and we take this opportunity of acknowledging the help we have derived from his experience of the working of the Code in the mofussil. We desire also to record our acknowledgments of the services of Mr. Law, of the Legislative Department, who has attended to the clerical and press work to our entire satisfaction.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

A.—CLAUSES OF BILL.

PRELIMINARY.

Clause 2.—The definitions have been re-arranged in alphabetical order.

Decree.—The importance of the definition of the word "decree" rests on the fact that by reference to it the right of appeal is determined. The Committee have in the main adhered to the existing definition; but they have modified it in two respects, and this has involved a slight recasting of the language. The principal modification aims at permitting an appeal from an adjudication which purports to settle the rights of the parties, though it does not completely dispose of the suit. Such an adjudication the Committee describe as a preliminary decree.

The explanation is intended to make it clear that a decree may be partly final and partly preliminary. Thus a decree for the recovery of possession of immoveable property and for mesne profits would be of this mixed character.

The word "within" has been substituted for "mentioned or referred to in" with a view to bringing within the definition of decree orders against sureties (see clause 142) and orders as to court-fees in pauper suits (see Order XXXIII, rule 13) and thus providing for appeals therefrom.

The only other modification is for the purpose of excluding a right of appeal from an order of dismissal for default.

Legal representative.—We have inserted a definition of "legal representative"—an expression which has been variously interpreted by the High Courts as would appear from the reported cases which are not easily reconciliable with one another. See 8 C. W. N., 843, in which almost all the earlier cases are reviewed.

The Committee trust that the definition which has been added by them will set at rest what owing to the absence of any such definition from the present Code is a somewhat debatable point.

Mesne profits.—The Committee have altered the definition of "mesne profits" so as to exclude from the calculation any increased rents and profits due to improvements made by the person in wrongful possession for which he cannot at present claim compensation from the rightful owner either by way of mitigation of damages or otherwise.

Clause 4.—The clause as drafted will, it is believed, effect all the savings covered by section 4 of the Code. The concluding paragraph of that section is believed to be obsolete and has accordingly not been reproduced. On this point the opinions of Local Governments are invited.

Clause 6.—In view of the extended scope of clause 4 the reproduction of sections 6 and 7 (except as to the final paragraph of section 6) does not appear to be necessary.

The words "or proceedings in suits" have been introduced in this clause to negative the view that a Court to which a decree is sent for execution has jurisdiction to execute the decree though the amount exceeds the limits of the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court, a point on which there is a conflict of opinion (I. L. R., 17 Mad., 309; I. L. R., 16 Cal., 465, 457).

Clause 7.—The provisions as to Provincial Small Cause Courts have been re-arranged in what is hoped is a more convenient form.

PART I.

Suits in General.

The provisions contained in section 10 of the Code were first enacted by Act XI of 1836 and were reproduced in the Code of 1859 and in subsequent Codes. In the opinion of the Committee their retention is no longer necessary and they have been omitted.

Clause 11.—Res judicata.—It is not possible to make a complete exposition of a subject so complex as that of res judicata within the limits of a section of an Act and the Committee think it better to re-enact section 13 as it stands in the Code with such modifications only as experience has shown to be necessary.

The Committee recognize that a proceeding does not come within the language of that section; but they think it better not to deal with this point in express terms for the reason that the applicability of the doctrine of res judicata to certain proceedings is not open to doubt, and they foresee that any express reference to proceedings in a crystallised definition might only lead to difficulties (L. R., 11 I. A., 37, and I. L. R., 29 Cal., 707).

The word "another" has been substituted for "former" as being more in conformity with Indian decisions.

Explanation I is new and is intended to affirm the view that the competence of the jurisdiction of a Court does not depend on the right of appeal from its decision.

Explanation VI.—The inclusion of public rights is to give due effect to suits relating to public nuisances (clause 91).

Clause 12.—This clause is new and is necessitated by the transfer of certain of the provisions of the existing Code to Rules.

Clause 13.—The provisions as to foreign judgment have been re-arranged and as it is hoped stated more clearly.

Section 14.—The last paragraph has been omitted. It appears to the Committee that it is not possible to maintain this distinction in the case of all Asiatic Courts. The Courts of Japan for instance are entitled to be treated on the same footing as European Courts. They know of no satisfactory distinction which could be drawn so to give effect to the intention of the existing provisions; and they recommend that the paragraph should be omitted and that Courts should rely on the powers given by clause 13.

Place of Suing.—The provisions under this heading have been collected and re-arranged.

Clause 16 (a).—The insertion of the words "with or without rent or profits" is intended to remove any difficulty there may be where the defendant does not reside within the local limits of the Court within whose jurisdiction the property is situate.

Clause 18.—The Committee have added words to this clause in order still further to restrict the taking of technical objections as to jurisdiction.

Clause 20.—The Committee have omitted Explanation III of section 17, which has become unnecessary owing to the addition made to sub-clause (c) of the words "wholly or in part" in reference to the cause of action.

Clause 24.—The words "at any stage" have been added to remove the difficulty created by the view that a suit cannot be transferred after the hearing has once commenced, as to which there is a conflict of decision.

Clauses 26-35.—The provisions in Chapters III to XVIII of the present Code have been in the main relegated to Rules, but such general provisions as are believed to be essential have been preserved in clauses 26 to 35.

Clause 32.—The Committee have omitted the last paragraph of section 136 of the Code as they think unnecessary to impose penal consequences for a default of the class indicated.

PART II.

Execution.

Clauses 36-74.—The bulk of the provisions as to execution will be found in the Rules, but the main provisions as to the Courts by which decrees may be executed, the questions to be determined by Courts executing decrees, the limit of time for execution, transferees and legal representatives, procedure in execution, arrest and attachment, the delegation to Collectors of power to execute certain decrees, the distribution of assets and resistance to execution have been retained in the body of the Bill.

Clause 46.—Precept.—Though a system of execution based on precepts is in the opinion of the Committee open to grave objection, they think the idea may be utilized for the purpose of enabling a decree-holder to obtain an interim attachment where there is ground to apprehend that he may otherwise be deprived of the fruits of his decree. They have for this purpose introduced clause 46 into the Bill. They think it expedient to fix a time limit for the continuance of this interim attachment, but at the same time they have empowered the Court to extend the period to meet the exigencies of particular cases.

After careful consideration they have come to the conclusion that notwithstanding attachment under a precept, re-attachment on the ordinary application for execution will still be necessary. Though at first sight it may appear a better course to provide that re-attachment shall not be necessary when the issue of a precept is followed by the ordinary application for execution, after careful consideration they have come to the conclusion that it will be safer to require re-attachment, having regard to the agency by which execution is carried into effect.

Clause 47.—The Committee have omitted sub-clauses (a) and (b) of section 244 of the existing Code because they are strongly of opinion that questions regarding the amount of any mesne profits or interest should be determined by the decree and not in execution. If this view is accepted it will be possible to exercise an effective control over the action taken by Subordinate Courts in dealing with such matters.

The Committee have redrafted sub-clause (3) and made it compulsory on the Court to determine questions arising as to representatives of parties. In their opinion it is inexpedient that separate suits should be instituted for the decision of such questions. The delay and expense involved are often very great and result in the needless protraction of litigation.

The explanation is intended to put an end to a conflict of judicial decisions.

Section 257A.—The Committee think that section 257A may be omitted with advantage. It was first enacted by Act XII of 1879 with a view to protect the interests of judgment-debtors against the exercise of undue pressure by decree-holders. The section has given rise to conflicting decisions, and as interpreted by the majority of the High Courts is found in practice to be of little service to judgment-debtors. Moreover, section 16 of the Indian Contract Act as amended appears to the Committee to afford adequate protection where it is required.

Clause 51.—This clause states generally the powers of the Court in regard to execution leaving the details to be determined by rules. It will be observed that the power to direct immediate execution is no longer restricted to one class of suits but that it is now general in terms. Any limitation that may be found necessary will be imposed by rules.

Clause 53 has been added by the Committee in order to set at rest a question on which the High Courts are divided in opinion. It is true that where a son or grandson takes any ancestral property by survivorship he is bound to pay out of such property all debts of his ancestor not incurred for immoral or illegal purposes; but whether the creditor can follow the property in the hand of the son or grandson in execution is a debatable point under the Code. The question is merely one of procedure, and the Committee have come to the conclusion that any controversy between the parties with regard to the liability of the son or grandson to pay the debts of his ancestor should be determined in execution, it being open to them to raise any objection or defence in such proceedings which they might have raised in a separate suit instituted by the creditor, the clause in question not imposing upon them a greater liability than that imposed by the Hindu law.

Clause 55 (1), second proviso.—The object of this proviso is to prevent vexatious forms of resistance to execution which constantly obstruct decree-holders in the execution of their decrees.

Clause 55 (2).—This sub-clause is intended to cover the cases of certain persons or classes of persons whose summary arrest might, as in the case of railway servants, be attended with danger or inconvenience to the public.

Clause 61.—The Committee have reproduced this clause from the former Bill (clause 269B) in accordance with what they understand to be the wishes of the Government. But the conditions should in their opinion be so modified as to relieve the Courts from fixing the portion to be released from attachment.

To impose this duty on the Courts would materially increase their work in a matter in regard to which they are not in a position to form the best opinion and would probably result in an undesirable lack of uniformity.

Clause 62.—The Committee have inserted a new provision to authorize the breaking open of the outer door of a judgment-debtor's house. They do not think that it would be safe to extend the operation of this provision to the house of a stranger.

Section 288.—This section of the present Code first appears in the Code of 1877. It was not suggested by any decided case and the only explanation offered by the Select Committee, by whom it was introduced, is as follows :—

"We think that the proclamation of execution sales should state the incumbrances (if any) to which the interest about to be sold is liable, and we have provided that no judge, etc., shall be answerable for error in the proclamation, unless it has been committed dishonestly."

The Committee are of opinion that, having regard to the provisions of Act XVIII of 1850, the section may safely be omitted.

Clause 64.—An explanation has been added to make it clear that claims within the protection of this clause include claims for rateable distribution of assets.

Clause 69.—The provisions as to Collectors have been placed in a separate schedule. They deal with a special matter and are not of general application.

Clause 73.—The Committee have slightly altered the wording of this clause in order to bring it into line with the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, section 96.

PART III.

Incidental proceedings.

The general powers of Courts in regard to commissions have been summarised in clause 75 and the detailed provision will be found in the First Schedule.

PART IV.

Suits in particular cases.

The bulk of the corresponding part of the present Code will be found in the Rules. The provisions as to suits by aliens, etc., have been retained in the Bill and a few only of the provisions relating to suits by or against the Government. There is a general clause defining the nature of interpleader suits.

Clause 81.—The Committee think that the same measure of protection should be afforded to the defendant where Government undertakes the defence as where the Government makes no application for the purpose, and it appears to the Committee that the proper protection should be that the defendant should be exempt from mesne arrest and his property from mesne attachment. They therefore propose to strike out the proviso from clause 269 and to alter sub-clause (a) of clause 270 so as to give effect to this.

Clause 86 (2).—The Committee have inserted words in this sub-clause to make it clear that the decision of the Government is final and not open to question by the Court. A doubt had been raised on the point.

PART V.

Special Proceedings.

Arbitration and suits relating to public matters have been discussed in the former part of this Report.

Clause 92 (Public Charities).—As a doubt has been expressed in at least one reported decision whether section 539 is or is not mandatory, the Committee have thought it desirable, in order to settle this question, to introduce sub-clause (2).

PART VI.

Supplemental Proceedings.

Here again a leading provision has been retained in the Bill, and the details of procedure have been relegated to Rules.

PART VII.

Appeals.

Clause 97.—The Committee have inserted an express provision to compel litigants to appeal from preliminary decrees, and have estopped them, on their failure to do so, from raising objections to such decrees in appeals from final decrees. On this point they accept the unanimous opinion of the Calcutta High Court. They think it unreasonable that parties should allow proceedings to be carried on to their final stage and large costs to be incurred if they intend to rely upon objections which could be taken at an earlier stage.

Clause 99.—The Committee have extended this clause in order to give the Courts a larger discretion in dealing with irregularities in proceedings, and they have inserted express words to meet the point decided in I. L. R., 26 Bom., 259, and I. L. R., 27 Mad., 80, and in a recent decision of the Calcutta High Court.

Clause 100.—The Committee have struck out the word "specified" in the expression "specified law or usage", as being in their opinion redundant.

Clause 105.—Though the remarks of the Privy Council in Moheshur Sing v. The Bengal Government (7 Moo. I. A., 283) are wide enough to embrace an appeal from an order of remand, the Committee think those orders were probably not in their Lordships' contemplation when they condemned the view that a failure to appeal from an interlocutory order should deprive the person aggrieved of his right to object to such order when subsequently appealing from the decree. And the Committee think there are good reasons on the score of delay and expense for treating an appeal from an order of remand as a special case and precluding an appellant from taking, on an appeal from decree, any objection that might have been urged by way of appeal from an order of remand.

The Committee have deleted the word "such" to remove a difficulty it creates (10 Moo. I. A., 340, 413; 12 Moo. I. A., 157).

PART VIII.

Reference, Review and Revision.

These provisions are not substantially altered. They are summarised in this Part and the details are in Rules.

PART IX.

Chartered High Courts.

Is not materially altered.

PART X.

Rules.

See observations in the former Part of this Report.

PART XI.

Miscellaneous.

The Committee have omitted section 646 as they see no reason specially to differentiate the case of a Registrar, and it is believed that in practice no use is made of the section.

Clause 137.—The Committee have inserted the words "or other person" after the word "officer" in sub-clause (b) in order to give the High Court power to relieve the officers of the Courts of the work of administering affidavits in cases in which it may be necessary to do so. It has been represented to them by the Calcutta High Court that this relief is much required.

Clause 140.—The terms of section 583 of the Code do not justify the practice founded on it, and the Committee have therefore recast the section so as to bring it into closer conformity with that practice.

Clauses 145 and 148 to 150 are new. They are intended to enlarge the discretion of Courts.

B.—RULES.

The Committee think that the division of the Rules into Orders will be found convenient for purposes of citation and reference.

Under clause 35 the Court has full power to apportion costs. The Committee understand that in practice the provision of section 26 is not operative in the mufassil, and that part of the section which related to costs has not therefore been reproduced.

O. I, r. 3 (s. 28).—The Committee realize that the words "in respect of the same matter" in rule 3 have given rise to great difficulty, and they think it advisable to follow the wording of the English rule and to omit them.

O. I, rr. 5 and 7.—The Committee thought that it was desirable to add O. XVI, rr. 5 and 7, of the English Rules.

O. III, r. 2 (s. 37).—The provisions of existing Code which are represented by this clause are in somewhat different terms and are limited to persons holding general powers-of-attorney within certain local limits. The Committee think it unnecessary to preserve these limitations and have made the sub-clause general. It follows that the present clause 37 (b) becomes unnecessary. It is included in sub-clause (a).

The last paragraph of section 37 has been omitted as no longer necessary.

O. III. r. 4 (s. 39).—The Committee are uncertain whether it is necessary to make a reference to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Sindh. The point is one for the Government of Bombay.

They also suggest in the alternative that the privilege now enjoyed by all Advocates enrolled in Chartered High Courts shall be extended to those Advocates enrolled in non-Chartered High Courts who are members of the English or Irish bar or of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland.

O. IV.—Institution of suits.—The greater part of the existing provision on this subject will be found in the Order on Pleadings.

O. VI.—The Committee have added a few rules relating to pleadings based upon the system of pleading introduced by the Judicature Acts in England which is generally admitted to be the best form of pleading in civil suits. In this country outside the Presidency-town the pleadings are seldom artistically drawn. They are neither concise nor precise but contain vague and general statements from which it is difficult to ascertain definitely the real question in controversy between the parties. The sole object of pleadings is thus frequently defeated, the issue is enlarged, the trial is delayed and much unnecessary expense is incurred by the parties who are also liable to be taken by surprise. They have further provided that the forms in the Schedule shall when applicable be used for all pleadings, and when they are not applicable, forms of the like character shall be used. The rules prescribed by us will not prevent the pleader from exercising his discretion; for the amount of detail must necessarily vary with the nature of each suit. It is, however, made clear that there must be particularity sufficient to apprise the Court and the other party of the exact nature of the questions to be tried.

The Committee have also given a party who considers that his opponent's pleading does not give him the information to which he is entitled, the right to apply for further particulars so as to enable him to know what case he has to meet at the trial.

They have, however, endeavoured to modify the rigour of the rules by providing in accordance with section 55 of the Indian Evidence Act that the Court may, notwithstanding the absence of any specific denial, require any fact to be proved by the party who relies upon it.

O. IX.—Section 104 originally formed part of section 60 of Act VIII of 1859, and in combination with the rest of that section it was appropriate. As a separate section, however, it is misleading, and it certainly is not now required in view of the provisions for service on a defendant residing out of British India and for proceeding with a suit ex-parte when a defendant does not appear. Its retention would involve a diversity of procedure which the Committee think undesirable (see I. L. R., 23 All., 99).

O. IX, r. 13.—The Committee have inserted words to make it clear that a decree can only be set aside in favour of a defendant against whom the decree has been passed ex-parte. There is some conflict of judicial authority upon this point, and the Committee think that the matter should be set at rest in this sense.

O. XI.—Interrogatories.—The provisions in the Code as to discovery are based on the rules of English procedure in force at the time when it was passed. Since then the English procedure has been amended and is now contained in Order 31. This Order has in effect been adopted in the rules regulating the procedure on the original side of the High Courts of Calcutta and Bombay and has, it is believed, been found to work satisfactorily in practice.

On the other hand, in Mufassil Courts little use has yet been made of the machinery of discovery, and the Committee therefore think the rules of the Calcutta and Bombay High Courts on their original sides may be safely adopted without risk of disturbing a procedure with which the Mufassil Courts have become familiarized.

This will secure uniformity of practice and also the advantage of the commentary on the rules prescribed by the English decisions.

O. XII.—Admissions.—The Committee think the practice of admissions may with advantage be extended to facts as well as to documents.

The procedure is not compulsory, but its adoption would result in cheapening and expediting litigation, and it is hoped that its use will be encouraged by the Courts.

O. XIV, r. 6 (s. 150).—There does not seem to be any real conflict as to whether an appeal lies, though at first sight it might appear otherwise. It has therefore been considered unnecessary to provide expressly for an appeal.

O. XX, r. 11 (s. 210).—The Committee have added words to sub-rule (1) of this rule in order to override the ruling of the Bombay High Court in the case of Raghu Govind Paranjpe v. Dipchand (I. L. R., 4 Bom., 96), as the practice inculcated by that ruling seems to prevail only in the Presidency of Bombay and not in the rest of India.

O. XX, r. 14 (s. 214).—These amendments are based on the rulings contained in the decisions of the High Court of Allahabad at I. L. R., 6 All., 370, 455, and I. L. R., 11 All., 164.

Having regard to the opinion expressed in I. L. R., 24 Mad., at page 463, we have thought it right to make it clear that title vests without an instrument of transfer. To require a transfer now might throw a cloud over numberless title which rest on the assumption sanctioned by long practice that no instrument of transfer was necessary.

O. XX, r. 18 (s. 216).—The Committee have introduced an amendment to give effect to the view that appeals from decrees relating to set-off should lie to the Courts to which appeals in respect of the original claim would lie.

O. XXI, r. 2.—The Committee have omitted certain words from the last paragraph of section 258 of the Code in order to make it clear that the Court cannot recognize a payment or adjustment which has not been certified for any purpose whatsoever. It follows that an uncertified payment or adjustment cannot operate to prolong the period of limitation for applying for execution under the Limitation Act.

O. XXI, r. 3.—The Committee have inserted this rule to provide for cases, which they are told are not uncommon, of an estate being situated within the jurisdiction of two or more Courts. There are decisions on this point, but they are not harmonious, and the Committee think it well to determine the law definitely.

O. XXI, r. 11 (s. 256).—The Committee have omitted the limitation imposed under the existing Code on oral applications for immediate execution. They see no reason why this limitation should be preserved.

O. XXI, r. 11 (e).—The Committee have not given effect to the suggestion that this should be limited to payments and adjustments which the creditor executing the decree is bound by law to recognize, as this would remove a valuable incentive to state truly what payments have been made (see I. L. R., 10 Bom., 288).

O. XXI, r. 20.—The Committee have omitted the words "or his or their representatives." This will be covered by the general clause.

O. XXI, r. 23 (4), explanation and illustration (d), (s. 246).—This addendum has been introduced in accordance with the views of the Calcutta and Allahabad High Courts as expressed in the cases of Hury Doyal Guho v. Din Doyal Guho (I. L. R., 9 Cal., 479) and Ram Sukh Dass v. Tota Ram (I. L. R., 14 All., 339).

O. XXI, r. 26 (s. 248).—The Committee have omitted the reference to a decree passed on appeal, for that is ordinarily the decree to be executed. [ Kristo Kinkur Roy v. Rajah Burrodacaunt Roy (14 Moo. I. A., 465) and Muhammad Sulaiman Khan v. Muhammad Yar Khan (I. L. R., 11 All., 267).]

O. XXI, r. 32 (s. 260).—The Committee have omitted in this rule all reference to a decree for the recovery of a wife, for there can be no such decree under the law, as a wife cannot be treated as a chattel to be delivered over to the husband. Where any third person prevents the wife from returning to her husband, the latter may obtain an injunction against him which may be enforced in case of disobedience either by the imprisonment of the defendant, or by the attachment of his property, or by both.

O. XXI, r. 34.—Section 261 has been recast so as to bring it into conformity with the chronological order of events, and a provision has been added to meet the requirements of the Indian Registration Act.

O. XXI, rr. 44 and 45.—These provisions were inserted in Bill No. II with the approval of the Government of India, and the Committee have therefore reproduced them in the present edition of the Bill.

O. XXI, r. 56.—The purpose of this rule is to put an end to doubts which from time to time have arisen as to the continuance of an attachment by reason of the practice of "striking off proceedings" or "removing proceedings from the file" for which there is no justification in the Code.

O. XXI, r. 57 (s. 278).—Though the execution of mortgage decree is expressly incorporated in the Code, the Committee still think that claims and objections arising out of the execution of such decrees should not be the subject of summary procedure under this and the following rules, but should be determined in the ordinary course.

This does not imply that the procedure under the later rules as to resistance to possession or dispossession does not apply.

O. XXI, r. 76.—In rules 76 and 83 express reference has been made to a resale so as to make it clear that the default mentioned in those rules will attract the consequence indicated in rule 70. In this connection reference may be made to I. L. R., 7 Cal., 337.

O. XXI, r. 85.—The Committee have altered this rule in order to prevent its being obligatory on the Court to forfeit the deposit in every case. The rule as it stands at present has caused hardship in certain circumstances, vide the case of Sambasiva Ayyar v. Vydinada Sami (I. L. R., 25 Mad., 535).

O. XXI, r. 88 (s. 310A).—Words have been added so as to make it clear that a purchaser acquiring a title before the sale in execution can claim the benefit of the rule. In other respects the Committee consider it advisable to adhere to the wording of the section.

The proposal that the sale should be set aside on payment of the purchase money instead of the amount specified in the proclamation is, in their opinion, fraught with danger : it would be obviously useless unless subsequent protection were given to the property, and such protection might lead to collusion, which would be most prejudicial to the decree-holder.

O. XXI, r. 89.—The Committee have struck out the provision as to irregularity in attaching the property, as such irregularity obviously cannot affect the price.

They have introduced the words "rateable distribution of assets" to clear up a doubt which has been the subject of discussion in several cases.

They have altered the language of the proviso in order to meet the doubts which have been raised as to the evidence upon which the Court can act. [Tasadduk Rasul Khan v. Ahmad Husain (I. L. R., 21 Cal., 66).]

O. XXI, r. 91.—The Committee think it proper to retain the provisions of the Code, which make it necessary for the Court to confirm the sale in each case.

O. XXI, r. 92 (s. 315).—The Committee have added words at the commencement of the clause in substitution of the last paragraph of the section which thus becomes unnecessary.

O. XXI, r. 95 (s. 316).—The Committee have preserved the limitation of three years from the date of the certificate as suggested by the Select Committee in Bill No. II. This clears up a doubt as to the time from which limitation begins to run, which has been discussed on more than one occasion.

O. XXII, r. 1.—The Select Committee struck out two of the four illustrations to section 361 and the Committee think the remaining illustrations may also be deleted as they are too obvious to serve any useful purpose.

O. XXII, r. 3.—The Committee have introduced words in order to conform to the language of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, as amended.

O. XXII, r. 5 (s. 366).—Though or is the word used in the Code of 1882 and the Code of 1877, in the Bill of 1877 the word and is used, and it appears to the Committee clear that and is required by the context. If and is not used, then the contrast with the preceding section is lost.

The explanation can be omitted having regard to the definition of "legal representative" inserted by the Committee.

O. XXIII, r. 3.—The Committee have considered it expedient to alter the language of section 375 so as to recognize the power of a Court to inquire into and to record a disputed compromise.

O. XXV, r. 1 (3) (s. 380).—The Committee have deleted the last words of this sub-rule, because the nature of the suit excludes the possibility of the property in suit being immoveable.

O. XXIX, r. 2.—The Committee have enlarged the language of the Code so as to allow of service by post on corporations having a registered office, and by this means the rule is brought into line with the provisions of the Indian Companies Act. Companies authorized to sue and be sued in the name of an officer or of a trustee must be very few, if, indeed, any exist, and they do not appear to the Committee to call for special treatment.

O. XXX, r. 1.—The Committee have adopted with the necessary alterations the English procedure in relation to suits against firms. This new procedure has been in force for some time in the Presidency-towns of Calcutta and Bombay and has worked satisfactorily.

It is hoped that its general application will be found useful by the mercantile community, for the rules remove technical obstacles which under the present procedure may seriously impede this class of litigation, as where a partner has died.

O. XXXII, r. 3 (4).—This is based on section 443. The Committee think it necessary to ensure that notice should reach one interested in the minor's welfare, and this rule aims at securing this result. The form of application and of notice in conformity with this sub-rule will be inserted in the schedule of forms.

O. XXXII, r. 9.—The Committee think it expedient that where a guardian insists on his right to be appointed next friend in the place of another there should be power to require him to become liable or give security for costs in the suit previously incurred.

O. XXXII, r. 15.—The Committee have extended this rule so as to cover the case of a person incapacitated from protecting his interests by reason of his mental weakness or of his being a deaf mute.

O. XXXIII, r. 1 (s. 401).—The Committee have not preserved section 402. In the light of the case-law it is misleading, so far as it suggests that a suit will lie for loss of caste or abusive language, and they can see no sufficient reason for withholding from a pauper a right to sue as such in respect of defamation or assault.

O. XXXIV, r. 1.—The proviso to section 85 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, has given rise to certain doubts which the Committee have sought to remove by substituting for it the words now added with a view to making it clear that a person not a party is not bound by a decree [Ram Nath Rai v. Lachman Ram (L. R., 2 I. A., 193).]

The explanation has been inserted in order to remove doubts which have arisen from the conflict of authorities on the point.

O. XXXIV, r. 2 (b).—The Committee have inserted the words "if necessary" before "retransfer" as according to mufassil practice a retransfer is not ordinarily required and they think this practice should not be altered.

O. XXXIV, r. 3.—The Committee have omitted the provision as to the defendant paying money to the plaintiff. They think it better that in every case he should pay it into Court.

O. XXXIV, r. 9.—This rule is new. It is a recognition of existing practice and remedies an obvious omission in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.

O. XXXIV, r. 11.—The Committee have inserted this rule in compliance with the suggestion of the Privy Council in Gupi Narain Khanna v. Bansidhar (L. R., 32 I. A., 123). This clause was in the Transfer of Property Bill, but was omitted by the Select Committee on that Bill on the ground that it ought to find a place in the Civil Procedure Code.

O. XXXV, r. 3.—The Committee think that the institution of the interpleader suit affords a sufficient reason for the stay of other litigation in reference to the same subject-matter and they have modified section 476 so as to give effect to this view.

O. XXXVII, r. 1.—As Chapter XXXIX of the Code is transferred into rules, the Committee have not reproduced paragraph (c) of section 538 as its appropriate place will be in rules under the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882.

O. XXXVII, r. 2.—The explanation to section 532 was inserted to negative the effect of the decision in I. L. R., 1 Cal., 130, but its meaning, as it stands is obscure. The Committee have therefore deleted the explanation, and added words in the body of the rule which will remove the doubts at which the explanation was aimed.

O. XXXVIII, r. 6 (s. 483).—The Committee have omitted the words "property within the jurisdiction of the Court," as they have caused a conflict of decision; and they think, as a matter of policy, there should not be the restriction these words suggest.

O. XXXVIII, r. 13.—This rule represents the views of the Government of India as expressed in the former Bill.

O. XXXIX, r. 6.—Words have been added to section 498 so as to empower the Court to order a sale of securities where the state of the market requires such a course.

O. XL.—Having regard to their standard of efficiency, the Committee see no reason to withhold from Subordinate Judges the power to appoint Receivers. They therefore propose that section 505 of the Code should no longer be retained, for its effect in practice is often to defeat the purpose for which an application is made.

O. XLI.—Section 554 of the Code has been omitted as unnecessary.

O. XLI, r. 5 (s. 545).—The Committee have added words to section 545 in order to make it clear that proceedings under a decree as well as execution can be stayed by an Appellate Court; the recognition of preliminary decrees makes it the more necessary to have an express power to this effect instead of resting on an inherent power [Balkishen Sahu v. Khugnu (I. L. R., 31 Cal., 722)]. The Committee have introduced express words authorizing an ex-parte stay, as the need for such an order constantly arises in practice.

O. XLI, r. 6 (s. 546).—The Committee have modified this rule in order to make it clear that security may be required though the property has previously been taken in execution [see Hukum Chand Boid v. Kamalanand Singh (I. L. R., 33 Cal., 927)].

O. XLI, r. 7.—The Committee have added this clause to meet particularly the case where the litigant does not quarrel with the decree but appeals from an order passed in execution of that decree (I. L. R., 28 Cal., 734).

O. XLI, r. 23.—After due consideration the Committee have thought it safer not to give legislative sanction to the views enunciated in Habib Bakhsh v. Baldeo Prasad (I. L. R., 23 All., 167). The power of reversal and remand is liable to be abused, while the procedure under section 566 is free from this liability and at the same time furnishes an effectual remedy.

The words at the end of the rule have been added to clear up a doubt which is stated by the Select Committee to exist as to whether evidence recorded at the original trial can be used on the trial after demand.

O. XLI, r. 34.—The Committee consider it most important that an Appellate Court should have the fullest power to do complete justice between the parties.

The illustration indicates a type of case for which provision is intended to be made.

O. XLII, r. 1 (l).—The extension of time for the payment of mortgage-money is obviously of much greater moment to the mortgagor than to the mortgagee. Therefore the Committee have provided for an appeal from an order refusing, but not from an order granting, an extension of time.

O. XLIII, r. 1 (s. 592).—Words have been added to avoid the conclusion at which the Madras High Court has recently arrived (I. L. R., 26 Mad., 369).

O. XLV, r. 1.—The words "or the construction of a document, which construction may affect the merits," have been omitted, as they appear to be sufficiently covered by the power to refer any question of law.

NOTES ON SCHEDULES.

SCHEDULE IV.

The Committee have amended section 22 of the Limitation Act to supply an omission which has been noticed by the High Courts; namely, the absence of any provision with regard to a devolution of interest pendente lite where it takes place otherwise than by reason of death. The section as amended will include not only cases in which a devolution of interest takes place pendente lite owing to death but also to other cases in which such devolution occurs.

The Code [s. 312] contemplates the confirmation of a sale of immoveable property immediately on the expiration of the thirty days allowed by article 166 of the Limitation Schedule. But the period allowed for an application to set aside a sale on the ground that the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest therein is sixty days [article 172]. The result is that in some Provinces the confirmation of a sale is delayed for sixty days; whilst, in other Provinces, sales which have been already confirmed are liable to be set aside. The Committee think that in the matter of limitation an application under section 313 should be brought into line with an application under section 311 and they therefore propose to repeal article 172 and to amend article 166 so as to include applications under section 313.

APPENDIX A.

SUMMARY OF RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1907.

During the month of August, the rainfall distribution was characterized by great irregularity. The precipitation was very heavy in the following districts of Orissa and Chota Nagpur:—

Cuttack received an average rainfall of 32·44 (normal 12·77), Sambalpur 27·36 (normal 15·18), Balasore 24·54 (normal 11·85), Angul 21·21 (normal 10·45), Puri 17·95 (normal 12·05), Palamau 24·47 (normal 13·42), and Ranchi 25·01 (normal 13·31).

The departure from the normal in Cuttack is +19·67, at Sambalpur +12·18, at Balasore +12·69, at Angul +10·76, at Puri +5·90, at Palamau +11·05, and at Ranchi +11·70 inches. Expressed in percentage figures, the above districts received 254, 180, 207, 203, 149, 182 and 188 per cent. respectively. Except the districts of Midnapore and Howrah, where there was a very slight excess, the whole of South-West Bengal received less than the average fall. There was also a deficiency in all the districts of Bihar, except Gaya, Shahabad, and Monghyr, where the rainfall was in excess of the normal.

From the condensed percentage table it will be seen that South-West Bengal received 72 per cent., Bihar 72 per cent., Orissa 249 per cent., and Chota Nagpur 126 per cent.

The total rainfall from January to August was 94 per cent. of the normal in South-West Bengal, 84 per cent. in Bihar, 140 per cent. in Orissa, and 103 per cent. in Chota Nagpur.

The following table compares the rainfall in the four Divisions during the month of August with the normal fall, the actual being given as a percentage of the normal. The table also shows the actual falls for each of the previous months of the year, expressed in the same way, and the last column of the table shows the total rainfall of the past eight months of the year:—

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

to 6,000. If this maximum is exceeded by a Candidate's selection, he will be required to indicate one of his subjects, the marks for which should, in his case, be reduced so as to bring his maximum marks within the prescribed limit. The marks so reduced will be subject to a correspondingly reduced deduction under Clause 6.

5. The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks (a); and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

6. The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary (b) in order to secure that no credit be allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

7. The Examination will be conducted on paper and vivâ voce, as may be deemed necessary.

8. The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the branches in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the several Candidates who shall have obtained, after the deduction above mentioned, a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be Selected Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the Selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a Selected Candidate.

9. Selected Candidates before proceeding to India will be on probation for one year, at the end of which time they will be examined, with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects (c):—

* The principal Vernacular Language prescribed for each Province to which Candidates are assigned is as follows:—

In Hindustani the Candidate will be required to be acquainted with both the Persian and the Nagari character; and in the case of the last two Provinces mentioned above, a Candidate whose Vernacular Language is either of the languages shown against his province, must offer the other for examination.

† These subjects may not be offered by any Candidate who has offered them at the Open Competition.

In this Examination, as in the Open Competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks (which will be subject to deductions in the same way as the marks assigned at the Open Competition), and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it. The Examination will be conducted on paper and vivâ voce, as may be deemed necessary. This Examination will be held at the close of the year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination."

If any Candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending such Examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special Examination.

(a) Considerable deductions will be made for bad handwriting.
(b) No deductions will be made under Clause 6 from the marks assigned to Candidates in Mathematics or English Composition.
(c) Instructions, showing the extent of the Examination, will be issued to Selected Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the Open Competition is declared.

10. The Selected Candidates will also be tested during their probation as to their proficiency in Riding.

The examinations in Riding will be held as follows:

(1) Shortly after the result of the Open Competitive Examination has been declared, or at such time or times as the Commissioners may appoint during the course of the probationary year.

(2) Again, at the time of the Final Examination. Candidates who may then fully satisfy the Commissioners of their ability to ride well and to perform journeys on horseback will be awarded from 100 to 200 marks, according to the degree of proficiency displayed, to be added to their marks in the Final Examination. Candidates who fail to obtain 100 marks, but are reported by the Civil Service Commissioners to have reached a minimum standard of proficiency in riding, and are certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, will, on their arrival in India, be subjected to such further tests in riding as may be prescribed by their Government, and shall receive no increase to their initial salary until they have passed such tests to the satisfaction of that Government.

A Candidate who fails at the end of the year of probation to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners that he has reached the minimum standard of proficiency in Riding will be liable to have his name removed from the list of Selected Candidates.

11. The Selected Candidates who, on examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, conduct during the period of probation, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force at the time for that Service.

12. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, London," at any time after the 1st December, in the year previous to that in which the Examination is to be held. No person will be admitted to the Examination from whom the Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners has not received on or before the 1st July (or, if that date should fall upon a Sunday or public holiday, then on or before the 1st day thereafter on which their office is open) in the year in which the Examination is to be held, an application, in the handwriting of the Candidate, on the prescribed form.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorised by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements:—

(i) Selected Candidates will be allotted to the various provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.

(ii) An allowance amounting to £150 will be given to any Candidate who passes his probation at one of the Universities or Colleges which have been approved by the Secretary of State, viz., the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, St. Andrews, Aberdeen and London (University College or King's College); Victoria University, Manchester.

This allowance will be paid to the Selected Candidate in four instalments on the following dates respectively:—December 24th, after his selection, March 25th, June 24th, and the date of his signing his covenant on being finally appointed to the Service.

With the final instalment an allowance on account of passage to India will be paid to each newly-appointed civilian to the amount of £37 10s. 0d. for passage to Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, and £43 for passage to Rangoon, the Officer then making his own arrangements for his passage.

The payment of each of the first three instalments will be conditional on the receipt, by the Secretary of State, through the Civil Service Commissioners, of a certificate that the Candidate has fulfilled up to date the requirements of the Authorities, and shown satisfactory conduct at the Authorized University or College; the fourth and final instalment will be paid as soon as the Selected Candidate has signed his covenant, and for its payment no certificate from College Authorities will be required.

The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same Institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

(iii) Each Candidate will be required before receiving the first instalment of his allowance to execute an agreement binding himself to refund all monies he may have received from the Secretary of State for India in the event of—

(1) his failure to pass the Final Examination within the time prescribed by the Regulations, and to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his fitness for admission to the Civil Service of India, or

(2) his subsequent failure to execute the usual covenant, and to proceed to India, as and when he shall be directed by the Secretary of State for India.

(iv) All Candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants, by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force, they may be required to make towards their own pensions or for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £ 1.

(v) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Candidates obtaining Certificates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations.

(vi) Candidates obtaining Certificates will be required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their Certificates of Qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct.

(vii) Candidates who fail to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners at the Final Examination held in any year will be definitely rejected, and will not be allowed to present themselves for re-examination, unless it shall appear to the Secretary of State in Council, after reference to the Civil Service Commissioners, that such failure is due to circumstances wholly exceptional and beyond the control of the Candidate.

CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA ;

CLERKSHIPS (CLASS I) IN THE HOME CIVIL SERVICE ; AND EASTERN CADETSHIPS.

SYLLABUS SHOWING THE EXTENT OF THE EXAMINATION IN CERTAIN SUBJECTS FOR 1908.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several subjects specified by the Civil Service Commissioners on their Examination Paper.

English Language and Literature.—The Examination will be in two parts. In one the Candidates will be expected to show a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature as represented (mainly) by the following writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III and the accession of Queen Victoria :

Verse—Chaucer, Langland, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Collins, Johnson, Goldsmith, Crabbe, Cowper, Campbell, Wordsworth, Scott, Byron, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats.

Prose—Bacon, Sir Thomas Browne, Milton, Cowley, Bunyan, Dryden, Swift, Defoe, Addison, Johnson, Burke, Scott, Macaulay (Essays and Biographies).

A minute knowledge of the works of these authors will not be looked for in this part of the Examination, which will, however, test how far the Candidates have studied the chief productions of the greatest English writers in themselves, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English Literature. Candidates will also be expected to show that they have studied in these authors the history of the English Language in respect of its vocabulary, syntax and prosody.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the periods named below, which will follow each other year by year in the order indicated—

1. (1908) A.D. 1360 to A.D. 1600. [Chaucer to Spenser.]
2. (1909) A.D. 1600 to A.D. 1700. [Shakespeare to Dryden.]
3. (1910) A.D. 1700 to A.D. 1800. [Pope to Cowper ]
4. (1911) A.D. 1800 to A.D. 1832. [ Nineteenth Century writers to the death of Scott. ]

The Examination in this part will require from Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English Language and Literature as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners.* The names placed under the dates are intended to suggest the general character of the literary development of the period, and, consequently, the natural limits of the Examination. All the works of Shakespeare, for example, will be regarded as falling within the period 1600 to 1700 ; all the works of Swift within the period 1700 to 1800; all the works of Scott and Wordsworth, and all the works of Macaulay within the period 1800 to 1832.
